Resumé of the Lawn Tennis Season of 1915

BY F. B. ALEXANDER.

Though suffering from the want of international interest, owing to the European war and consequently the lack of competition for the Davis Cup, the tennis season of 1915 was undoubtedly the greatest of the game in the United States. The wonderful tennis played the year before in the ties for the Davis Cup, the fact that the name of McLoughlin was on the tip of every tongue, and the final wresting of his laurels by R. N. Williams, 2nd, in the National Championships at Newport, all combined to give tennis the greatest boost, in the way of publicity, that its admirers could wish for.

The result in the early spring was very apparent. Public grounds, new clubs and private courts sprung up like the proverbial mushrooms, from California to Maine, and many scoffers who had heretofore considered tennis child's play were fairly driven to the courts, when aching muscles soon proved to them the tremendous exercise to be derived from it.

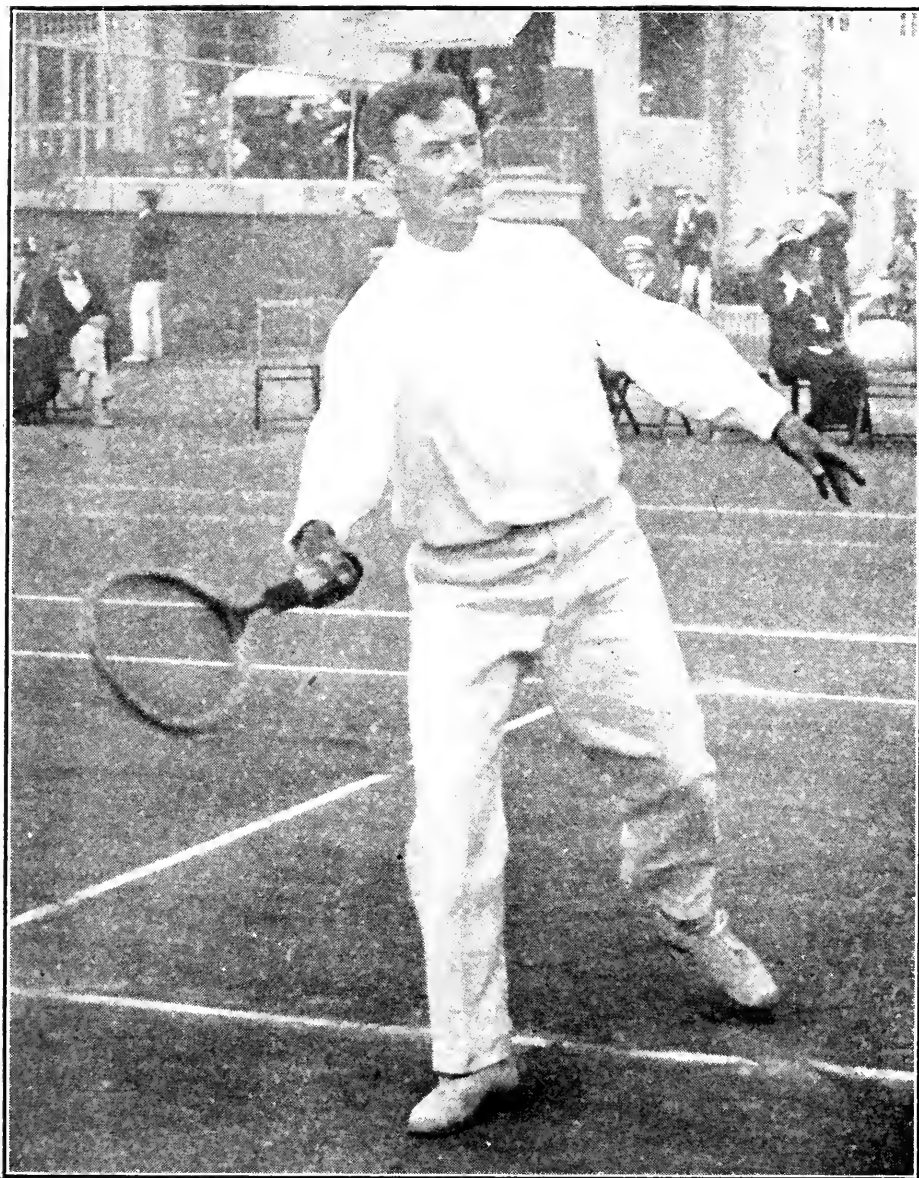

Early negotiations between the Pacific Coast Tennis Association and the United States National Lawn Tennis Association resulted in the arrangement of an Eastern team being sent to the Panama-Pacific Exposition to take part in the tournament held in conjunction with the fair. A special match between the East and West was arranged at the same place. This, and the return match held at the West Side Tennis Club, after the National Championships were over, did much to take the place of the Davis Cup competitions the year before, though, of course, the international flavor was not in evidence.

In the first East-West match at the fair, the Easterners proved conclusively that they were not to be compared to their Western brothers when playing on asphalt courts. The team, composed of R. N. Williams, 2nd, captain; G. M. Church, W. M. Washburn and Dean Mathey, lost three out of four singles and two out of two doubles against M. E. McLoughlin, J. R. Strachan, W. M. Johnston and T. C. Bundy, Mathey accounting for one singles against Bundy.

In the return match in the East, the Eastern team, composed of R. N. Williams, 2nd, captain; K. H. Behr, N. W. Niles, T. R. Pell and W. M. Washburn, took three out of four singles and one out of two doubles from M. E. McLoughlin, W. M. Johnston, C. J. Griffin, T. C. Bundy and Ward Dawson, the series thus becoming a tie, with the edge in favor of the West by a score of 7-5. The lesson to be drawn from these contests is that tennis on turf and on asphalt are two entirely different games, from an expert standpoint.

California won back the national honors in the person of William M. Johnston, who finally, after two years of competition in the East, fulfilled the prophecies of his admirers by not only winning the title but during the tournament defeating the big three, namely, R. N. Williams, 2nd, M. E. McLoughlin and K. H. Behr, to say nothing of C. J. Griffin, his teammate. His tennis was of sound but brilliant variety, and his court generalship, knowledge of the game and sizing up of his opponents worthy of special mention. This does not in any sense of the word mean that he actually outclassed the other three, but simply that in the National Championships he was the better player and deserved his title.

R. N. Williams, 2d, who was the logical choice before the tournament started, performed in his usual brilliant and careless manner until he met Johnston, where he went down to defeat in five sets. It is just possible that Williams went into this match with a little over-confidence, as he seemed for the past two years to have had Johnston's "number," and only a short time previously had defeated him at Newport. Be that as it may, he played great tennis in that match, and only greater tennis defeated him.

McLoughlin, throughout the season in the East, did not begin to show his form of the year before. He seemed actually sluggish on the court. While not desiring to detract one whit from Behr's excellent performance at Seabright, when he defeated McLoughlin, it would be hard to imagine a man last season entering a tournament with but little practice and taking the measure of the great "Comet."

The invitation tournament at Newport was a repetition of Seabright, with Williams in the role of conqueror, and N. W. Niles, in one of the earlier rounds, playing the "Comet" to a standstill.

At Forest Hills, in the National Championships, McLoughlin found himself on the easy side of the draw and forged his way to the finals without much to worry him. There, against W. M. Johnston, the new champion, he at times gave flashes of his former speed and, particularly, at critical times did he show some of the brilliancy and determination of his international play of the previous season. His relapses were too frequent, however, to regain the title.

To the people who are debating the cause of this seeming slump, two explanations have been put forward. The first, that the tremendous energy McLoughlin has put into his game since he was a small boy has used him up to that extent that it has taken away from him that consistent superlative speed, if it may be called so, which made him a terror to his opponents and made his net game, in conjunction with his service, next to impossible to handle. The other, that throughout the summer of 1915 he played more in the back of the court than ever before and seemed to be continuously practising his ground strokes in order to be prepared against the time when age and stiffening muscles would prevent those speedy rushes to the net and conservation of energy become a necessity. To my mind the latter reason is untenable, for as he might do this in minor events, he certainly would put forward all his energy to the capture of the trophy on which he needed only one more win to have it become his property for all time. The first I can hardly hold tenable. It would be difficult to apply to a man only twenty-seven years of age. One must look further for the seeming explanation of a lessening of power in a man who keeps in the best of training and takes the best care of himself.

Karl Behr's annual comeback is worthy of mention, he having played some excellent tennis, and, for one who has but little time to devote to the game, his showing was much beyond the ordinary. Johnston had to play some of his best tennis to defeat him in the National Championships, and Behr seemed still endowed with that unwonted energy and "bulldog" determination which has always been his piece de résistance in the past.

It was regrettable that John R. Strachan of California was unable, on account of business, to play in the East. From all accounts he would undoubtedly have taken a place among the first five.

The veterans T. R. Pell and N. W. Niles both played a better brand of game than the season before. G. M. Church, of whom much was expected on account of his defeat of Williams in the Intercollegiates of 1914, spent most of his summer in the West, and upon his return, just before the National Championships, found the time too short to become used to the difference in climate and conditions of play.

W. M. Washburn played some excellent and some indifferent tennis.

One of the most interesting developments of the season was the increase in interest among the younger element in the East. Under the leadership of the West Side Tennis Club, many other organizations held tournaments for boys under eighteen years of age, and the result was the uncovering of an almost unbelievable amount of talent among the juniors. The Metropolitan Junior Championships, held just after the National Championships, for the Goddard Weld Saunders Bowl, attracted one hundred and eight entries in the singles. Among the boys worthy of mention, besides Charles S. Garland, the sixteen-year-old Pittsburgh wonder, who was in a class by himself, were Elliott Binzen, the Fordham University player; Herbert Forster of Yonkers; George P. Throckmorton of Elizabeth, N. J., brother of Harold A. Throckmorton, National Interscholastic Champion; H. P. Guiler of the West Side Tennis Club and St. Paul's School; L. M. Banks of Brooklyn, and Irving C. Plitt of Long Island. Cecil Donaldson of Brooklyn provided a lot of interest with his sterling play, considering he was only fourteen years of age. Reports of other junior tournaments from every part of the country conclusively show that the ranks of the tennis players who have gradually been withdrawing from active competition will be amply replenished.

No new teams of any consequence made their appearance and the United States still remained in the unique position of having no really high grade combination. True, W. M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin wrested the championship away from M. E. McLoughlin and T. C. Bundy, but when one takes into consideration that Bundy had only four days' practice on turf during the season and the aforementioned slump of McLoughlin, their five-set match was not much to boast about. Bundy's bit of sportsmanship in defending the title, though badly out of condition, is another instance of the attitude of the American tennis player.

The increased interest in the game shown by the women was due in a large part to the appearance of Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the Norwegian player, and Mrs. George W. Wightman, formerly Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, in tournament competition. Miss Bjurstedt carried off the honors at three out of the four meetings and won the women's championship.

More interest was also taken in the mixed doubles, the untiring efforts of Mrs. Barger-Wallach in urging the better players to take part in special invitation events of this character having its effect.

The sad condition of European affairs prevented any of the big three continental championships being held. Great Britain, France, Germany, in fact, all of the warring nations canceled their meetings. Australia alone ran off the Australasian championships and the account received in America was very meager. Naturally enough, the sad death of Anthony F. Wilding and the departure of Norman E. Brookes for the front robbed the tournament of much of its interest.

The tremendous growth of the game in the United States was not only reflected in the increased number of players and spectators but also in the better management of the tournaments. The standard of umpiring and lining was far ahead of the season before. The players themselves seemed to realize that if they desired to have competent officials for their own matches they must do as they would be done by and volunteer their services when not engaged in playing.

At the present writing it seems but fair to predict that again during the season of 1916 tennis interest will be wholly centered in the United States and that we will have to act as the guardians of the morals of the game, if such an expression is allowable. This, as the game grows in popularity, becomes a harder and heavier responsibility, for we must show the European nations after the conflict is over that we have been good guardians of that to which we have fallen heir.

EDWARD C. CONLIN.

Umpiring and Lining

BY EDWARD C. CONLIN.

[Mr. Conlin is a life member of the West Side Tennis Club of New York. Among other big matches, he umpired in the Davis Cup of 1913-1914 and the finals of the 1915 National Singles and Doubles.—Editor.]

All the writers on lawn tennis tell us that to become good players the first and most important thing to do is to "Keep your eye on the ball."

To do good umpiring and lining, "Keep your eye on the ball" is just as much the golden rule. Couple this with concentration on the match that you are umpiring and you will do satisfactory work on any match at which you officiate.

To explain the handling of a Davis Cup series or a National Championship is perhaps the best method by which to describe proper umpiring, lining and management of a match, it being borne in mind that the suggestions made can be modified in accordance with the importance of the contest and the number of officials available.

The seat of the umpire's chair is about six feet from the ground, with a shelf about two feet from the ground placed inside the four supports of the chair. This shelf is used by the players as a place for extra rackets or anything else that they may want, such as rosin, extra shoelaces, sawdust (to dry their racket hands), adhesive tape, whatever they may want to drink, lemons halved to cleanse their mouths, and plenty of towels. An extra supply of balls should also be kept there. Under the chair and on the ground there should be two buckets of ice water for the players to bathe their faces and heads if it is necessary.

Seventeen chairs for doubles, thirteen for singles—a folding wooden chair is the best—are placed in their proper stations, care being given to see that they are a sufficient distance from the lines to be well out of the players' way. One of these chairs is for the net umpire, two are for the foot-fault umpire, and the remainder for the linesmen, of whom there are ten for a single match and fourteen for doubles. Another chair is placed alongside of the umpire's stand, to be occupied by an assistant scorer, who acts as a checker should the umpire become confused in his scoring.

Near the court, in a position of advantage, is placed still another chair for the referee of the tournament, so that he may see the play and be immediately available in case the players should appeal to him from the umpire's decision, or should he be called upon for any of the decisions that the rules make it his duty to give.

All these chairs should be painted a dark green and numbered and a corresponding number should be given to each official by the referee, so that the umpires and linesmen may find their stations without confusion.

It is most important for the proper conduct of a match that with the exception of the players, the ball boys, and the officials named above, no other persons should be permitted inside the enclosure.

The umpire's first duty upon coming to the court is to measure the height of the net at the center and at the posts with the measuring stick, to see if it is in accordance with the rules. He should then make sure that all his linesmen's and umpires' chairs are in position, and that his own chair is properly placed—centered to the net post, and about five feet away from it. The net should also be looked over to see that it is perfect and that there are no holes to let the ball through.

Attention to all these details goes to prevent any possible delays while the match is being played, for such delays are bad for the contestants and are not enjoyed by the gallery.

While the players are warming up, the umpire should give one last look around to see that all his linesmen and umpires are at their stations and that everything else is in readiness. Then he should climb into his chair.

After giving the players a reasonable length of time to warm up, he should ask them if they are ready. Upon receiving an affirmative reply, he should call:

"Linesmen ready? Players ready?"

If they are, there follows the call, "Play!"—and your match is on.

Just before the player first serving gets into position, the umpire should announce:

"Mr. So-and-so serving."

Each player, as he serves for the first time, should be similarly announced.

Rather than attempt to explain in a narrative way the further duties of the umpires and linesmen, it seems that they can be better given in the disconnected form of the following paragraphs:

At least once a year every player, and anyone who is going to fill the position of umpire, or linesman, should read in the ANNUAL the "Laws of Lawn Tennis," "Cases and Decisions" and "Regulations for the Management of Tournaments." It will also do no harm to read "Regulations for the International Lawn Tennis Association Davis Cup."

The umpire should always remember that he is a sort of connecting link between the match and the gallery. He should announce his decisions and the score promptly and with decision, and in a good, loud voice, so that all can hear. He should be careful not to speak while the gallery is applauding, but should wait until the applause is finished. He should also—this is an especially important point—be most careful not to call the score while a player is serving, or while the ball is in play.

One of the greatest benefits both to players and to spectators is for linesmen and foot-fault umpires to give their decisions in a voice that all can hear.

The umpire should instantaneously repeat the decision of the linesmen and foot-fault umpire. This is by far the best method to follow, as it is next to impossible to obtain a full corps of officials all of whom will announce their decisions loudly enough for everyone to hear.

Good ball boys are a great help to an umpire and a joy to the players. They can be made proficient only by careful training under a competent instructor. At a match, the umpire must watch the court and see that it is kept clear of balls. Whenever he sees a ball that has been overlooked by a boy, he should quickly call his attention to it. The ball boy must never go on a court while the ball is in play.

In giving the game or set score, always call the server first. For example:

"The games are one to four—Mr. So-and-so leads." First set.

"The sets are two to one—Mr. So-and-so leading."

The set score should be announced at the end of each set, and also during the playing of a set, say, about once every four games.

The umpire should always keep tally on a score card. It is dangerous to try to keep it in your head. Cards for this purpose can be had for a very small amount of money. A good score card will be found on the inside of the Spalding ball box cover.

There are so many methods of keeping score that a most interesting article could be written on this subject. For the present it is enough to suggest that you should adopt whatever method you find most suitable to your use.

Where the galleries are large, it is a good plan to instruct each linesman, as he calls "out" or "fault," to signify his decision with a motion of his arm. Frequently the applause is so great that the linesman's voice cannot be heard by the umpire.

It has been found a most excellent plan, where a player obstructs the view of a linesman, to have the latter immediately call, "Can't see it," and then to have the umpire make the decision if the ball is out.

It is the duty of the umpire to note the time that the players leave the court for their "rest period." He should go off the court with them, and keep them posted as to how much of their seven minutes has elapsed. He must see that they are back on the court when the time is up.

Where a full corps of linesmen cannot be obtained, a very good plan to follow is to have a foot-fault umpire and one man on each side of the net, on the side of the court that is opposite the umpire's chair. With this arrangement and good men, no match will suffer, so far as decisions go.

In a match where there is just an umpire and no other officials, it should be arranged with the players that should they obstruct the umpire's view of the ball he shall say, "Call it," and the ball shall be played on their decision.

Once a decision is made on a point, it should not be played over unless the rules so provide. This must be lived up to.

The only duty of the Net Umpire is to call balls that go through the net.

Lets should be called by the umpire, who is in a better position to make these decisions.

Immediately at the conclusion of a match the umpire must turn in the score to the man in charge of the score board.

The linesman has only one decision to make, and that is either "Out" or "Fault." He can hardly make his announcements too loud.

He must keep his eye on the ball all the time it is in play. "Eyes on the ball, and nowhere else," should be his slogan.

If he is asked by the umpire whether a ball is good, his answer must be prompt and decisive. He should sit quietly at his station, and remain as motionless as possible, as any movement annoys the players.

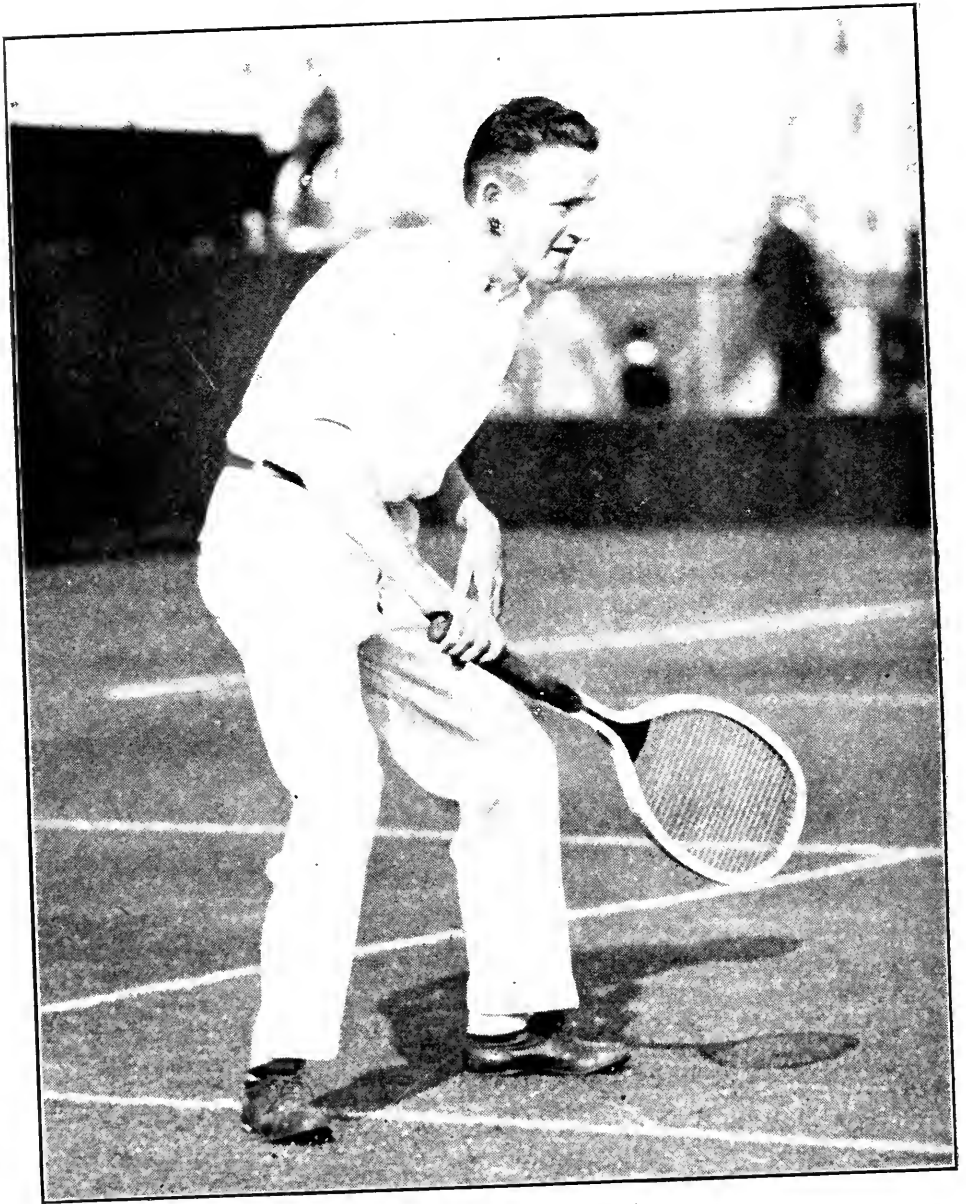

A linesman must not under any circumstances leave his station without the permission of the umpire and until another linesman has been put in his place.

Foot-fault umpires should be most carefully chosen, and should be thoroughly conversant with the foot-fault rule. In the early days of a tournament, when on account of the number of matches it is next to impossible to have a full corps of foot-fault umpires, it is a good plan to have four or five good men roaming around the courts, to watch the players and call foot-faults where necessary.

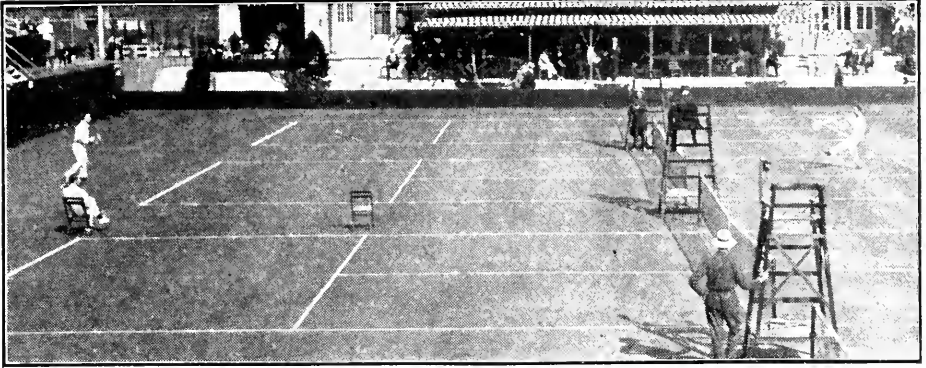

Foot-fault umpires should remember that a foot-fault can only be called where they are positive that the rule has been broken. The player must receive the benefit of any doubt.

There is no better way to learn good play and tactics than to serve as umpire or linesman in tournaments, and the best players in the country today are quite willing to act in those capacities.

To serve as an official is an education and an honor.

National Championships

BY F. B. ALEXANDER.

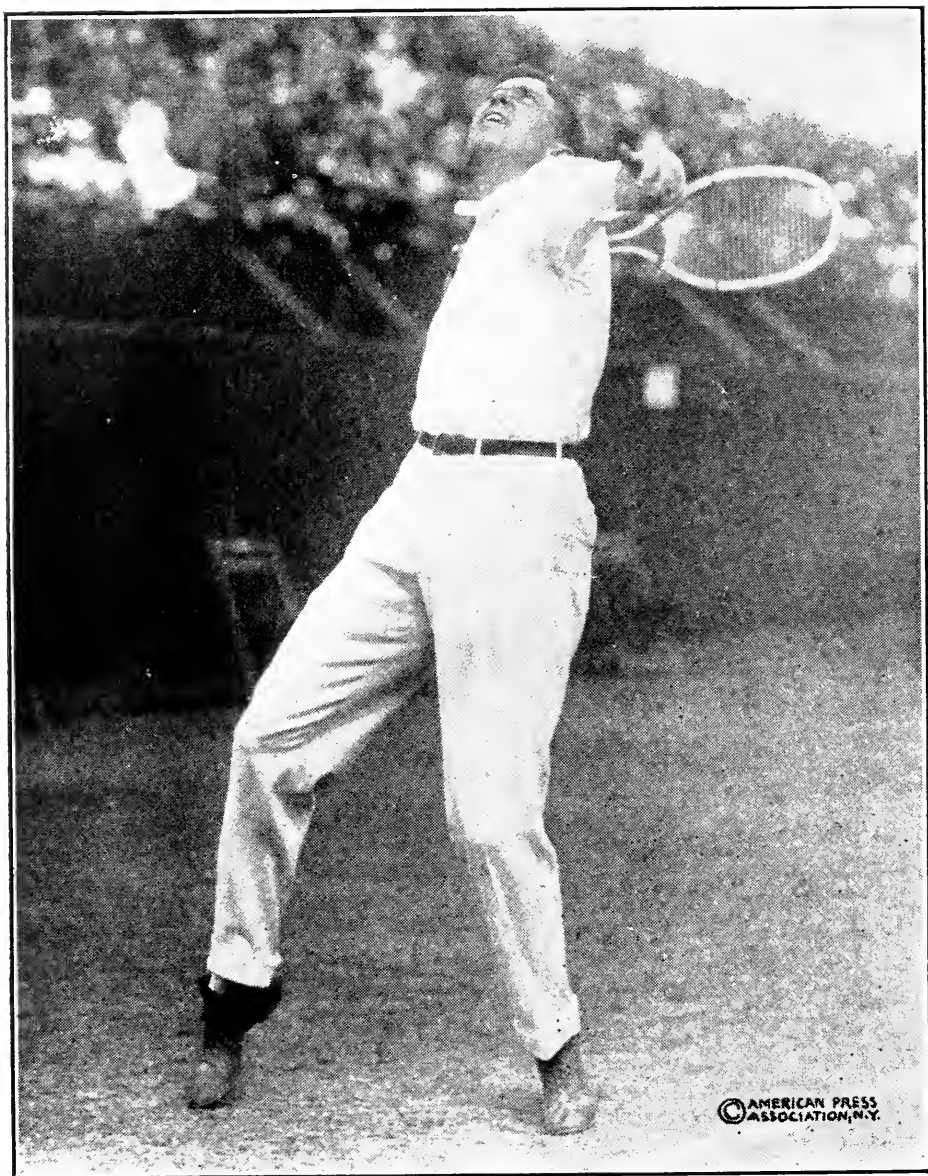

The thirty-fifth tournament for the National Championships of the United States—and which might well be called last season the Championships of the World, as tennis was at a standstill in other countries on account of the war—began Tuesday, August 31, at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, Long Island, New York, after having been postponed Monday because of rain. It was of added interest, both to the veteran and tyro, as for the first time in the history of the game in the United States it was held on other than the traditional Newport Casino courts. From every side could be heard expressions of satisfaction at the general arrangements, and congratulations of highest order were showered upon Mr. Julian Myrick, president of the club, and his corps of able assistants for their splendid work.

Mr. Robert D. Wrenn, president of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association and official referee of the tournament, took charge of matters immediately, and promptly had all the matches scheduled for 10:30 A. M. under way. Every detail of management had been anticipated. There was an efficient corps of umpires and linesmen, and an innovation was sprung by introducing a peripatetic squad of footfault umpires, who strolled from court to court good-humoredly curbing competitors who, through overanxiety or impetuosity, were infringing the strict rule regarding an unfair service.

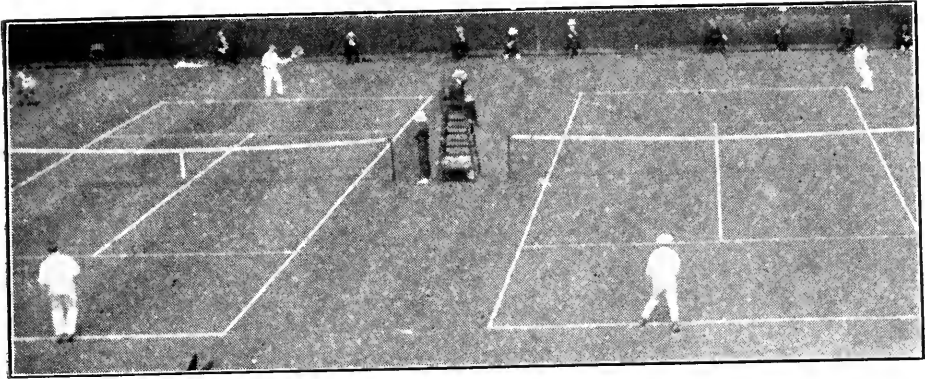

The four championship courts, surrounded on three sides by grandstands and on the fourth by the club house, were in the pink of condition, as indeed were all the other courts. The weather conditions throughout the tournament were also perfect, the temperature being just hot enough to limber up the players.

First Round—Tuesday, August 31

The first round, which was entirely completed Tuesday, brought forth no upsets, unless the defeat of Niles at the hands of Alexander can so be termed. True, Niles from his record during the season undoubtedly was the choice, but it must be remembered that Alexander had played but little in tournaments and practiced still less until the week before the championships. This match was staged on the court next to the club house, in the afternoon, and resolved itself into the most bitterly fought of all the contests. After three hours of solid play, both spectators and competitors were thoroughly exhausted. The two main features of the match were Niles' return of service and Alexander's low and half volleys. Both men were well acquainted with each other's style of game, and both were old campaigners, consequently very nearly every "trick of the trade" was disclosed at some time or other. Alexander took the first set, 6/3, service counting until the eighth game, where Alexander broke through Niles' delivery and won the ninth on his own. Some fair tennis was disclosed in this set, Alexander taking the net on his service and Niles usually contenting himself with a position at the base line. The second set was chalked up to Niles, after being bitterly fought out. At 6/5 Niles cut loose with a beautiful attack on Alexander's service, registering three clean passes as his opponent attempted to run in. With the sets 1-all, Niles commenced a determined attack on Alexander's much criticised backhand. Contrary to expectations, this proved futile, as throughout the former sets Alexander's backhand, though not so brilliant as his forehand, had been steadier and was accounting for more points. The West Sider piled up game after game to 5/2. On his opponent's service in the next game Niles again braced strongly, and by some beautiful play carried the games to 5-all, but was unable to hold the pace, and Alexander ran out the set, 7/5. The early part of the fourth set counted for the server up to 4-all, where Alexander solved Niles' American twist, making it 5/4 in his favor. Niles again put forth every effort, took Alexander's service and evened the set. From then on until 9/8 was called in favor of Niles, the server had the advantage. Alexander then lost the set mainly on excusable errors from Niles' severe drives. The feature of this set was the grim determination of Niles at critical times. At the beginning of the fifth set the knowing ones freely predicted that Niles had the match in hand, as his older opponent seemed to be tiring. This proved to be not the case, for Alexander cut loose with an irresistible attack and ran out the set and match, 6/2. It is only fair to state that Niles was considerably bothered by the calling of numerous footfaults, few of which, however, came at critical times.

All the rest of the "class" came through with ease. B. C. Law, Princeton, won a creditable match against Cedric Major of New York, three sets to one, and Charles S. Garland, the sixteen-year-old boy from Pittsburgh, defeated W. D. Cunningham of Yale, three sets to one. J. G. McKay pushed Ward Dawson, the Californian, to five sets before he succumbed, much to the surprise of the bleacherites, and A. H. Man, Jr., had a heartrending five-set match with W. D. Watters of New Orleans, losing the last three. E. H. Whitney, the former captain of the Harvard team, defeated the brilliant Harold Throckmorton in four sets by superior steadiness and knowledge of the science of the game. Throckmorton was erratic and wild, and only in the second set was he able to steady down enough to counteract the deadly accuracy of the Harvard man.

Second Round—Wednesday, September 1

Wednesday made its appearance bright and fair, and the luck of the draw promised some fine clashes, nor were the enthusiasts disappointed. The longest match, and one interesting through the fact that it produced a clash between two totally opposite schools of lawn tennis, was the one between Walter Merrill Hall and Wallace F. Johnson. Their first set was a hummer, going to 18/16 before Hall put over the few necessary points to clinch it. Hall and Johnson both played to a great extent a baseline game. Both played their drives good and deep, though with an entirely different method. Hall's topspin strokes, both forehand and backhand, were never better, and Johnson's chop strokes were also working well. The first set was by far the best tennis, though all through the match both played very steadily. Hall won out more on condition than anything else, as there was but little to choose between the two.

W. M. Washburn vanquished George M. Church, the intercollegiate champion, in four well played sets, thus causing the first upset. Washburn had one of his brilliant yet steady days and anticipated Church's peculiar but effective shots. Church's overhead work was not up to his usual standard; possibly the fact that Washburn's lobs were timely and well executed accounted for this. The first set Washburn won, 7/5, taking the last four games after Church had the lead, 5/3. Washburn's accuracy towards the end of this set was the feature. Church again led at 4/1 in the second set, only to have Washburn again pull up even. He then had a chance to win the set, 6/4, being within a point, but was unable to do so. However, he won it out, 11/9. This was Church's last stand and by masterly playing Washburn won the next two sets, 6/4, 6/2.

Inman gave R. N. Williams a good run in the first and third sets. Williams seemed a bit careless at times, but Inman was always after the ball and many times outguessed his famous opponent.

Mathey was unable to do anything with McLoughlin's service until the third set, when he ran the score to 5/2 in his favor. McLoughlin braced and ran out the set, 8/6. He won the first two, 6/1, 6/2.

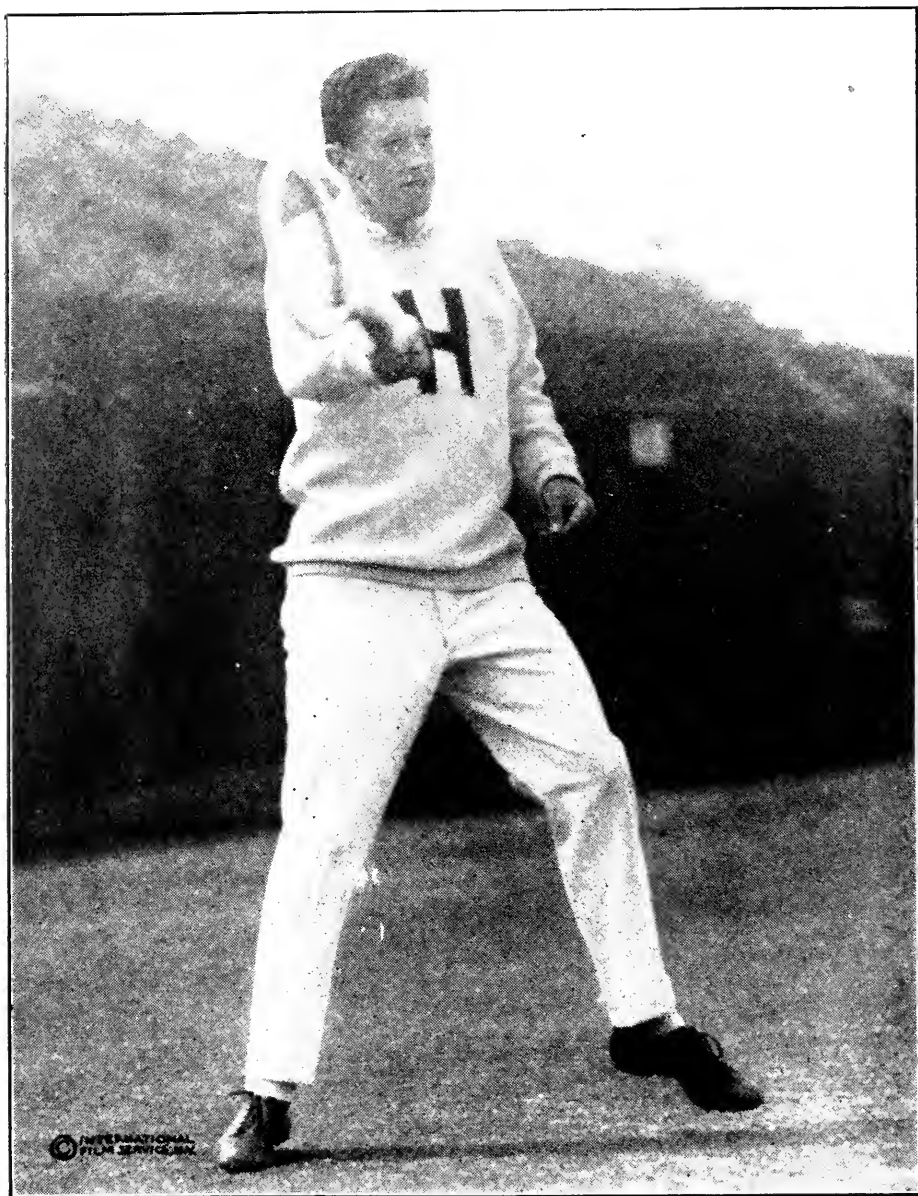

T. R. Pell defeated E. H. Whitney in four sets, dropping the third, 6/0, but he was never in danger of losing, and had the match in hand at all times.

W. M. Johnston experienced a great deal of trouble with Clarence Pell, who ran him to three hard sets.

Third Round—Thursday, September 2

Thursday's star event was the crushing defeat of Washburn at the hands of T. R. Pell. A close match had been expected, with the odds in favor of Washburn, particularly after his fine showing the day before against Church. To give him full credit, Washburn tried everything. He changed his game, mixed up fast balls with slow ones, in fact, played every style of game at his command, but Pell was in one of those rare humors when nothing was too difficult for him to accomplish. His great backhand was working with its usual accuracy, and he developed an offensive forehand which was very useful. His net play, usually mediocre in singles, also improved materially, though he depended mostly on his ground strokes. His service had plenty of steam to it, and his percentage of first service was high. Try as he might, Washburn was unable to capture a set and Pell won, 6/4, 6/4, 6/3.

Hall, though palpably suffering from the effects of his hard match the day before, gave Williams all he wanted while he lasted. He lost the first set,

R. NORRIS WILLIAMS, 2ND.

Clay Court Champion, 1915.

6/3, and the second, 9/7. These two sets were most interesting to watch, the driving duels and court covering being especially fine. Time and again one or the other would place the ball seemingly out of reach, and time and again a splendid "get" would result. Hall tired badly towards the end of the third set, but won it, 6/3. He had shot his bolt, however, and Williams walked through the fourth, 6/1. These two meritorious performances of Hall's were all the more noticeable, as he had been playing much in-and-out tennis during the earlier part of the season.

Robert LeRoy gave Karl Behr a good rub, Behr winning in four sets. It is a peculiar thing that LeRoy always seems to be able to extend Behr to the limit. LeRoy's forehand drives and passing shots were very well executed, and his "tennis sense" always in evidence. Often he would catch Behr flat-footed off his balance. Behr depended on straight hard tennis, pulling off at times remarkable shots, and again usually falling down on the easy ones. The score of all the sets was 6/4, LeRoy winning the first.

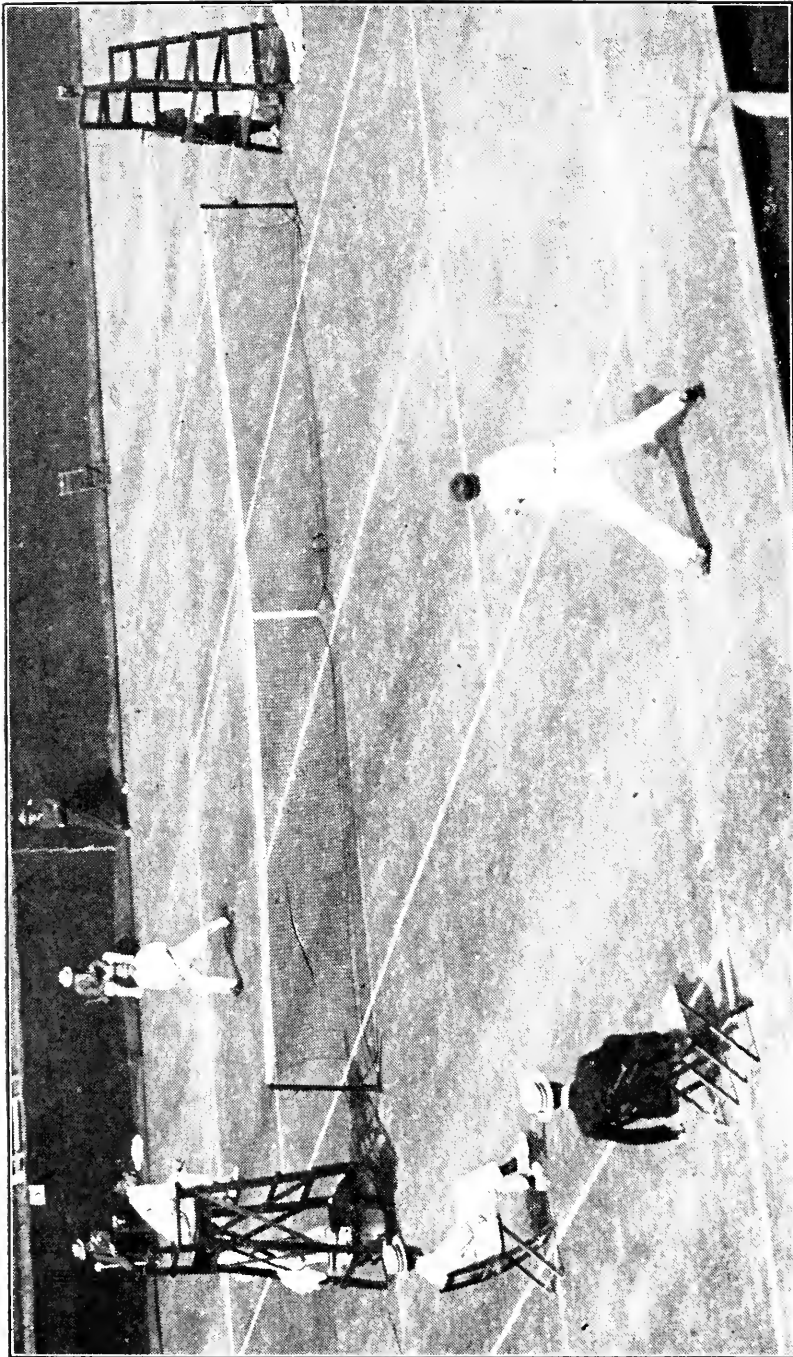

Leonard Beekman surprised his friends by taking a set from McLoughlin, and though McLoughlin at all times had the control, he had to keep going at top speed to keep his young opponent in hand. Beekman showed good tactical knowledge and handled McLoughlin's service with better results than the score would indicate, pulling many of the games to deuce. The score was 6/2, 3/6, 6/2, 6/2.

Alexander defeated S. Howard Voshell in straight sets, 6/4, 6/4, 6/2. Again Alexander's volleying aided him to chalk up another win.

W. M. Johnston never gave Watters a chance to get started and won easily, 6/2, 6/1, 6/2. Griffin defeated Dawson in straight sets, one of which went to deuce, and the hard hitting Hunter got mixed up in his second five-set match, defeating G. A. L. Dionne, 10/8, 6/3, 2/6, 2/6, 6/3.

Fourth Round—Friday, September 3

The Johnston-Behr match was the star event of Friday's play, and when the smoke cleared off the battlefield Johnston emerged the victor in four beautifully played sets, 3/6, 6/3, 6/2, 7/5. A point description of this match would be intensely interesting. Both players throughout cast discretion to the winds and each return, no matter how difficult, was met with the solid intention of finishing up the point then and there. Behr started at full speed and, taking advantage of a spell of wildness on Johnston's part, slammed his way through the first set. By this time Johnston was thoroughly warmed up, and with every game his play improved. He disclosed an attack at the net upon which it would be difficult to improve. He handled Behr's hard drives around his feet with heartbreaking ease, and anything above his waist was returned for a sure kill. Such a net attack on his own service, together with his powerful forehand and accurate backhand drives off the return of service, was more than Behr could cope with. Try as he might, Behr was unable to stem the tide and Johnston ran out two sets, 6/3,

NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP—ALEXANDER VS. McLOUGHLIN.

6/2. After the usual seven minutes rest the men returned to the fray. Both were in perfect condition. Johnston continued his great playing, but met stiffer resistance. Behr's shots were true and well placed. Many errors were chalked up to each player, but few could be termed inexcusable, the speed with which the ball was traveling being accountable generally for the nets and outs. Each won his service to 3-all, when Johnston broke through, winning the deciding point by a netcord shot, which just rolled over. This critical point decided the battle, as Johnston won his service, making it set and match.

The McLoughlin-Alexander match was interesting in the fact that it was expected that the veteran would force McLoughlin to show his full hand and in some ways he did. For two sets McLoughlin showed his old speed. His brilliant rushes to the net on his powerful service reminded one of the McLoughlin-Brookes match in the Davis Cup the year before. He had plenty of stuff on his service and mixed up fast ones and spinners with bewildering irregularity. Alexander was helpless before this attack and quickly lost the first two sets, 6/3, 6/2. From the sublime to the ridiculous is a wide jump, but this is what occurred in the third set. McLoughlin seemed to lose entire control of the ball, even his service slowing down enough to allow Alexander to pass him time after time. In consequence, Alexander's game improved and he took the third set, 6/1. The fourth set was closer than the score indicates. The losing of one service game by Alexander put the set on ice for McLoughlin, 6/3. This match was typical of McLoughlin's play during the season, as he seemed unable to go the full route at high speed.

Of the other matches in this round, William Rand, Jr., defeated Craig Bidle in a hard five-set match, 3/6, 6/3, 6/3, 2/6, 6/3. The overworked Hunter again won out in five sets, defeating Pfaffman by the same score. Irving Wright took the measure of Bernon S. Prentice in straight sets, 7/5, 6/4, 6/1. Pell kept up his good work, smothering C. M. Bull, Brooklyn's last hope, 6/1, 6/2, 6/3. Williams won with ease from Adoue, the Texan, 6/3, 6/1, 6/0, and Griffin accounted for Law, 6/2, 6/4, 6/2.

Fifth Round—Saturday, September 4

Saturday found the two Californians, Johnston and Griffin, pitted against each other. Johnston was, of course, favored, but Griffin gave an excellent account of himself. Johnston walked away with the first two sets, 6/2, 6/1; then, much to the surprise of everyone, Griffin, by fine court tactics and good judgment, took the next two after fighting desperately for every point. Both went to duce before he won them at 8/6, 7/5. Johnston fairly burnt up the court with his speed in the last set and quickly finished up, 6/1.

William Rand put up some stiff opposition in his match with Williams, finally succumbing in straight sets, 8/6, 7/5, 6/1. Williams again showed a tendency to experiment with his strokes and took matters rather easily.

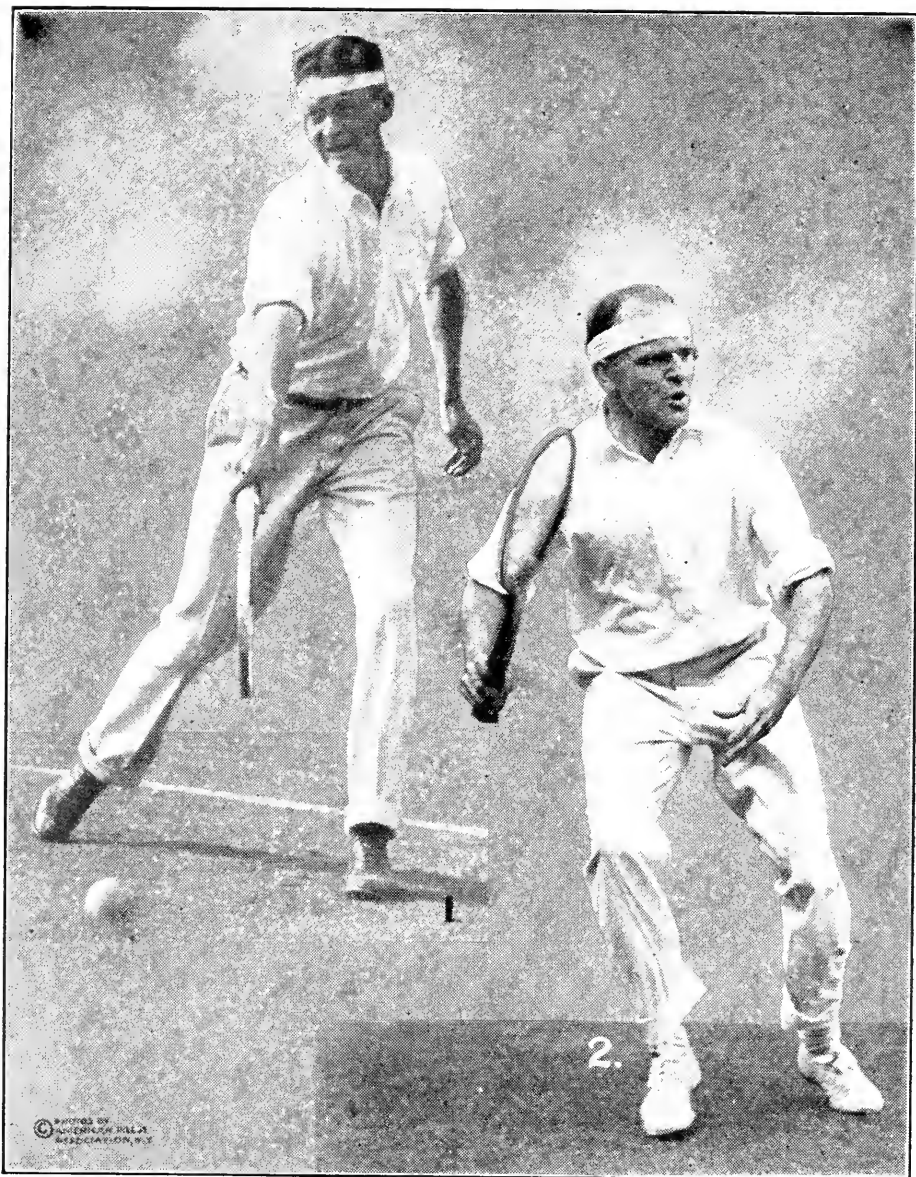

McLoughlin had no trouble with Hunter, 6/2, 6/4, 6/0.

Pell fairly breezed through Wright, 6/3, 6/1, 6/1. Wright's chop stroke, which on account of its low bound was expected to give Pell trouble, seemed to fit right into Pell's game.

Sunday intervening, the four men left to battle for the oriflamme of the tennis world had a much needed day's rest. This was particularly useful in Johnston's case, as his path had been the hardest of the four. The mental wear and tear of two matches in succession against such players as Behr and Griffin alone was enough to mean the losing of a close match.

Semi-Final Round—Monday, September 6

It was fitting that a Labor Day crowd should witness the defeat of a champion and the crowning of a new king in one of the most stubbornly contested matches ever played. The grandstands were crowded. A conservative estimate of the number of enthusiasts present can be taken from the fact that the capacity of the two big stands was 7,000, and there were about 2,000 in the extra "windbreaker" and club house, making about 9,000 in all, and comparing very favorably with the Davis Cup matches of 1914. The playing conditions were perfect, and nothing more could have been desired in the stage setting.

1, N. W. Niles, the Boston expert, ranked No. 6 in 1915; 2, W. Merrill Hall, of New York, ranked No. 10 in 1915.

TWO PROMINENT EASTERN PLAYERS.

When the two men took the court Williams was a slight favorite, not that his tennis up to this point in the tournament had been any better than Johnston's, but because many believed that in such an important match he would lay aside his carelessness and show some of the sound tennis which he had played in the Newport Invitation tournament two weeks previous. Williams started erratically, and, mainly through errors on his part, Johnston ran the games to 5/1 in the first set before the Philadelphian found himself. Williams' game was of the hit-or-miss variety, an earned point or an error. The Californian then rose superbly to the occasion and slowly started to climb. When 5-all was called, which the spectators greeted with a volley of applause, Johnston had had four chances to draw first blood, but seemed unable to pull off one of his brilliant shots at this critical time. Putting everything he had into his strokes, Williams took the next two games and the set, 7/5. The type of game Williams was playing showed what chances he was taking. He compiled seventeen earned points in the first set—a truly remarkable number—but his error column was correspondingly high. Again Johnston ran into a good lead in the second set, and again Williams gave a fine exhibition of nerve and finally evened the games at 4-all. This was of no avail, however, as a spell of wildness gave the second set to Johnston, 6/4. The third set was well played, each man winning his service four times. Johnston won the next game and again lost a chance to salt away a set. Williams pulled out the game and took the next two and set, 7/5. It was now two sets to one, with Williams leading, and the wise ones predicted the match was over. To their surprise, from the very start of the fourth set Williams seemed worried and lacking in confidence. After winning the first game Williams dropped three in a row. Bunched errors by Johnston gave the fifth game to the Philadelphian. Again three in a row for Johnston gave him the set and the score, 22 errors out of 28 points, goes far to tell the story of the set, Johnston mainly contenting himself with Gibraltar-like steadiness, while Williams seemed helpless. Johnston showed the effect of the psychology of the game in the fifth set. He cut loose with a wonderful burst of speed from the very beginning and showed supreme confidence in his ability to pull off every shot in his repertoire. Williams made a despairing rally in the early part, taking one of Johnston's services and leading at 2/1. Then Williams weakened and Johnston took four games in a canter. The last and deciding game Williams ran to 40-10, but Johnston, by superb tennis, took five points straight and the match.

An analysis of the match shows Johnston and Williams even in earned points with 44 each, but the error columns tell the tale, with Williams 14 errors ahead of the Californian.

The other semi-final, between McLoughlin and Pell, took but a short time to play. Pell was unable to hold his own services and helpless on McLoughlin's. A despairing brace in the third set furnished Pell with five games, the first two sets having been won easily by the "Comet." Pell's famous backhand was not going as well as usual and, much to the surprise of all, most of McLoughlin's points were gained by pounding that seemingly invulnerable spot. Pell's service was severe, but not well placed and always found McLoughlin in position. McLoughlin played good tennis all the way, but was not forced any great extent.

Final Round—Tuesday, September 7

Again a perfect day greeted the two Californians, and everyone settled back to witness the battle of giants. Could Johnston cope with that 42-centimeter service and would the "Comet" show that he still held something up his sleeve? That "something" which had made him the conqueror of the mighty Brookes and the steady Wilding in 1914. Out in California Johnston had been pressing hard on the heels of his more famous rival, but had been just unable to turn the trick. Both men showed plainly the nervous strain of the seven days of hard competition. Johnston was, if anything, suffering the most from its effects. The tale of the first set is soon told. Johnston got away to a bad start and McLoughlin, playing with great brilliancy, allowed his young opponent but one game. McLoughlin made but five errors in this set. A complete reversal of form occurred in the second set. Johnston pulled himself together, and with the aid of a big slump on Mac's part, took the set as easily as he had lost the first, at 6/0. Five errors only were recorded against Johnston and he had complete command. Thus far, more in-and-out tennis could hardly be imagined. With the score one-set-all, the fireworks started. McLoughlin braced. Sterling tennis on the part of both carried the games to 2-all. Johnston won his service, then took McLoughlin's and won his own, making it 5/2. To this point Johnston's game was a revelation. Again his low volleying counted for point after point and that fearful delivery of the "Comet" had no terrors. A splendid brace by "Mac" carried the games to 5-all, but he was unable to hold the pace and Johnston won the next two games and third set, 7/5. The fourth set found both men going at top speed and both very nervous. Johnston looked as if at any moment the strain would be too much for him and McLoughlin was gritting his teeth to keep himself at high pressure. Each won his service to 2-all. With determination written in every line of his face McLoughlin took the next two games. Johnston at this time pulled off some of the best shots of the match and evened the score at 4-all. It was easy to see that McLoughlin had lost confidence in his backhand, which had been the vulnerable point in his defense, and he was now using up much of his reserve power in running around the ball. Johnston won his service, and in the next game was within a point of the championship. Again that splendid courage which has always been linked with the name of McLoughlin came to the "Comet's" aid, and he pulled out the game. Five-all and Johnston discouraged by his lost opportunity dropped his service. McLoughlin looked to have the set and was within a point of it twice. The excitement was intense. Johnston steadied himself, and with some beautiful tennis took the game 6-all and each earned his service, 7-all. Again McLoughlin took Johnston's delivery. A long deuce-and-vantage game, a net-cord stroke for Johnston and a superb volley and the score was 8-all. Both men were showing exhaustion, but hanging on like grim death. Another deuce game on Johnston's service and another of his remarkable volleys accounted for the game point. Long rallies marked the final game, with Johnston the stronger. At 15-40 in his favor, Johnston netted and then made the point necessary to clinch the championship, as well earned as any played in the last twenty years.

To summarize briefly, excellent tennis, fine weather, and perfect playing conditions will cause the national championships of 1915 to go down in the history of lawn tennis as the most successful up to the present time. Summary of the final round:

National Challenge Doubles

BY F. B. ALEXANDER.

The "red letter" doubles match of the season was played at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, Long Island, the day after the final singles match. It proved as exciting as one could desire, going to five sets before the final point was decided in favor of the challengers, W. M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin of California. M. E. McLoughlin and T. C. Bundy, the champions, who had successfully held the championship for three years, went down to honorable defeat. Bundy, though sadly lacking in condition on account of lack of practice, covered himself with glory and withstood for four sets the brunt of the attack, and though weary and exhausted, never let up in his efforts to stave off defeat. McLoughlin, wearied by his efforts in the singles, played a fair game, but not quite up to his usual standard. Johnston, notwithstanding his hard work in the singles, was easily the best of the four, being the steadiest. Griffin played a heady but not over effective game. Good weather conditions prevailed.

Johnston started proceedings by winning his service, McLoughlin won his at love and then Griffin dropped his. Bundy's delivery was too much for the challengers and the score was 3/1. Service won to 4/2, when again Griffin failed and Bundy accounted for the first set, 6/2. The tennis in this set was poor, the points being mostly accounted for by errors. The games in the second set were all close and the play improved materially. Griffin, who had been much at fault, pulled himself together and led the attack on Bundy, who weakened on one service, which was enough to account for the second set at 6/3 in Johnston and Griffin's favor. The third set was a repetition of the second, with Bundy losing his delivery in the third game and all the others winning. Johnston was seen at his best in this set. He was always in position, hitting the ball hard, and his judgment was excellent. The set went to the challengers at 6/4.

Fireworks were about due, and they came with a vengeance in the fourth set. The first three games went with the service, but Griffin lost the fourth. Johnston's speedy forehand drives were the telling factor on McLoughlin's delivery, which the challengers took. Johnston then dropped a close game and Bundy only just managed to squeeze through his, and the holders then took the set, 6/3. The fifth set was exciting only in the fact that it decided the contest. Service won in every case, excepting McLoughlin's service in the sixth game, which he lost, and the set went to Johnston and Griffin, 6/3. A peculiar phase presented itself in the fact that each side won 154 points, showing how close the match was. As an exhibition of high-class doubles the match was disappointing; as a thrilling contest it was all that could be desired.

Two of the Old Guard.

Return Series—East vs. Pacific Coast

BY F. B. ALEXANDER.

Through the efforts of Mr. Julian S. Myrick, President of the West Side Tennis Club, a return match between the East and Pacific Coast was arranged to be played after the National Championships on the turf courts of the club.

The California team was composed of Captain M. E. McLoughlin, ex-National Champion; W. M. Johnston, National Champion; C. J. Griffin, National Doubles Champion; and T. C. Bundy, ex-National Champion; with Ward Dawson alternate—a truly formidable array. The Eastern team comprised Captain R. N. Williams, ex-National Champion; K. H. Behr, the former Internationalist; N. W. Niles, Massachusetts State Champion; T. R. Pell, the veteran, and W. M. Washburn, National Indoor Doubles Champion.

Four matches were played in singles and two in doubles. The East won eventually three singles and one doubles after a disheartening beginning. Friday, September 10, was the first day, and M. E. McLoughlin faced Karl Behr in the opening match. The result was a disappointment to the East, as Behr fell a fairly easy victim to McLoughlin's slashing game. The weather was oppressively hot and both players had a hard job to keep from letting down. McLoughlin, notwithstanding this fact, had better control over the ball than in the National Championships and put up a very clever brand of tennis. Behr had great difficulty in handling his service, which had fine break and speed. McLoughlin lost the second set, 6/3, but won the last two, 6/2, 6/2, after winning the first, 6/4.

Pell and Bundy then had a five-set scrap, which produced some queer reversals of form. There was but little to choose between them until Bundy began to show signs of exhaustion. Pell won, 6/4, 2/6, 6/2, 3/6, 6/4.

The first doubles match between the new Doubles Champions, Johnston and Griffin, and the Eastern Champions, Williams and Washburn, turned into a rout, the National Champions holding the balance of power all the way and winning, 6/4, 6/2, 6/4.

Saturday dawned fair and hot, with the East one match down and the outlook serious. It looked worse when Griffin won the first set from Niles, 6/4. Niles at this point took a big brace and was never afterward in danger, winning the match, 6/4, 6/3, 6/1. This was quite a surprise. The most interesting match, from the fact that it was a second meeting between the present champion and ex-champion, namely, W. M. Johnston and R. N. Williams, was then started.

Williams played a fine brilliant game, but Johnston seemingly was feeling the effect of his tournament the week before. Williams won the first set at 6/4, in slack tennis. Johnston started the second with a burst of speed that reminded one of his former play and took six straight games. Williams steadied in the third set and won it, 6/4. The fourth set was the best played of the lot and Williams earned it, winning, 6/4.

The last match staged, McLoughlin and Bundy vs. Pell and Behr, was a hummer, and the hard hitting and close volleying between McLoughlin and Behr was a treat. Pell and Behr broke through McLoughlin's service in the first set and annexed it, 6/4. The second set produced a terrific struggle, McLoughlin and Bundy finally taking Behr's service and the set, 10/8. The Westerners also won the third set, 8/6, after coming up from behind. The fourth set was a furious contest. McLoughlin and Bundy led at 6/5, and Bundy's service, only to lose it and the set, 8/6. The fifth set was equally well played and Pell and Behr only just managed to take it, 6/4. Summary:

National Preliminary Doubles

BY A. H. LAWSON.

The preliminary matches in the National Preliminary Doubles were played on the turf courts of the Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, Ill., beginning August 10. In the first round the Eastern team, composed of R. N. Williams, 2nd, and W. M. Washburn, was drawn against the Pacific Coast champions, W. M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin. G. M. Church and Dean Mathey, representing the Northwest, drew the bye at the top, while Nat. Thornton and B. M. Grant, representing the South, and Walter T. Hayes and Ralph Burdick, representing the West, drew byes at the bottom.

As in the Western, the games were much delayed by rain, with the result that while the first match was played as scheduled on August 10, the semi-finals and finals were not completed until August 13 and 14. Those who attended the matches, however, were rewarded with the most spectacular tennis that has been seen on the Onwentsia courts in years. In the preliminary round, Johnston and Griffin were forced to go five sets before they defeated Williams and Washburn. The Californians surpassed the Harvard pair in speed. The winners won the set by the narrow margin of four points, 185 to 181.

On August 13, Johnston and Griffin encountered another pair worthy of their steel, in Church and Mathey, the Northwest champions. This match proved to be of an entirely different style of play than the preliminary. Church and Mathey resorted to lobbing, which disconcerted the coast team for a time. Church covered more ground than any of the players and Mathey aided him with wonderful stops of the volleys of the Californians. Griffin was a factor in the most points for his team, but made more nets and outs than his partner, Johnston, whose hard volleys gained them many points.

Hayes and Burdick easily defeated Grant and Thornton. The latter earned most of the points for the Southerners by excellent work at the net, but neither he nor his teammate could match the speed of the Western champions.

National Women's Championships

The twenty-ninth national women's championships, held on the grass courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club at St. Martin's, near Philadelphia, from June 7 to 12, not only resulted in a decisive and well-deserved win for Miss Molla Bjurstedt of Christiania, Norway, now residing in New York, but she achieved the honor of being the first foreigner to acquire the American title.

Miss Bjurstedt came through her half of the tournament, losing only one set, that to Miss Martha Guthrie of Pittsburgh, in the semi-final round; and as Miss Mary Browne, the standing-out champion, did not appear to defend, Miss Bjurstedt's match in the final round with Mrs. George W. Wightman decided the championship for another year.

In the contest with Mrs. Wightman, Miss Bjurstedt lost the first set in a very evenly waged battle, the score being 6/4. The victory weakened Mrs. Wightman, having just recovered from an attack of diphtheria, and although she did well for a few games in the second set, she settled down to conserve her energies for the third set. She interposed even less resistance, however, and at no time in the set was there the slightest doubt as to the result.

Starting slowly, and being uncertain and very anxious at the beginning, Miss Bjurstedt struck her gait in the early part of the second set. She improved steadily and rapidly from that time on, and the pace and direction of her shots left Mrs. Wightman, in her weakened condition, utterly unable to cope with them.

Mrs. Wightman and Miss Eleanora Sears of Boston captured the women's doubles. They won rather handily, although it looked for a time as if they would be defeated by the vigorous onslaught of Mrs. Marshall McLean and Mrs. G. L. Chapman. By slightly superior team work and more aggressive tactics Mrs. Wightman and Miss Sears managed to squeeze through to victory.

Mrs. Wightman scored a second triumph in the mixed doubles, winning easily with Harry C. Johnson of Boston as her partner.

The men's singles, which is always a competition in connection with the women's championships, was without the entry of Wallace Johnson, who confined himself to the mixed doubles. The winner was W. T. Tilden, Jr., who defeated Craig Biddle in a four-set match that was full of brilliance.

The championships drew a record-breaking entry of seventy-four in the singles, twenty-seven pairs in the doubles, and forty-four pairs in the mixed doubles. There was considerable class in the lists, but the luck of the draw brought the two great rivals for championship honors—Miss Bjurstedt and Mrs. Wightman—into opposite halves, and they seemed to be the logical opponents in the final round. The summaries:

Sixth Clay Court Championships

By HARRY SEYMOUR.

The Pittsburgh Athletic Association was the scene of the play for the sixth clay court championships of the United States, June 26 to July 3.

Rain interfered with play on five of the seven days necessary to complete the events, and defaults were liberally applied in all, in order to keep up to schedule, which a liberal use of gasoline made possible.

Other Pittsburgh organizations aided materially—the courts of the Pittsburgh Golf Club, University Club and Allegheny Country Club being used when necessary, in addition to the ten at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

The men's events were dominated by the National champion on grass, Richard N. Williams, 2nd; George M. Church, who had just won the Delaware State Championship; W. M. Washburn and Dean Mathey, who, as members of the team selected to represent the East by the National Association in the Panama-Pacific matches, were on their way to San Francisco.

The women's singles were fully as high class in their entries. Miss Molla Bjurstedt, Mrs. G. W. Wightman, Mrs. Barger-Wallach, Miss Myrtle McAteer, all champions of this and previous years, combating with the rising champions of the Middle West in Miss Martha Guthrie and Miss Mary Snyder of Pittsburgh, Miss Buda Stephens of Toledo and Miss Anne Hugus of Wheeling. Miss Clare Cassel of New York also played.

Mixed doubles play was confined to the last two days, Mrs. Wightman and H. C. Johnson of Boston outclassing all other teams decidedly in the only two matches they were required to contest. Miss Clare Cassel and P. D. Siverd actually played all their matches (five) on Monday, July 5, being runners-up, with two close matches, one against Miss McAteer and G. C. Burgwin, Jr., and another against Miss Bjurstedt and H. D. Denny, Jr.

R. N. Williams, 2nd, repeated his victory of 1912, downing G. M. Church in the final match, which was interrupted in the fourth set by a cloudburst with Williams leading two sets to one. As Clarence Griffin, the holdover champion, did not appear to defend his title, Williams won by default.

On his way through the tournament Williams won from Harmar Denny, Jr., in the preliminary round; Victor Bihlman of Carnegie Tech; G. "Collie" Burgwin, Jr., Jersey Coast champion; H. C. Johnson of Boston, D. W. Lloyd, Dean Mathey and N. W. Niles.

Church, in the upper bracket, had easier sailing against H. A. Ebbert, C. H. Raseman, W. B. Knox and C. S. Garland, losing only four games to the group. When he struck Washburn, however, he had a tussle, the first two sets going to 7/5 and the third, 6/2. Other good matches were those in which J. G. Castle defeated Inman, Niles' victory over McElroy and the former's loss to Williams.

The "Big Four" dominated the doubles, as they did the singles, Church and Mathey defeating Williams and Washburn in the final match, shortened by agreement to two out of three sets. This match and the semi-final between Niles and Johnson and Williams and Washburn, which also went to three sets, as well as the semi-final between Church and Mathey and Ward and Siverd, Pittsburgh's crack doubles team, were not played until after the singles final had been disposed of and the courts were muddy and the light bad. Under more favorable conditions the play would have been more enjoyable, for both spectators and contestants. The danger of falling was ever present, and all hands were nervous under the "forced march." Local teams of considerable strength gave way to the "champs" all through the last day in an effort to lighten the task of the travelers and enable them to keep to their scheduled time of arrival on the Pacific Coast. Nat Browne and Claude Wayne, 1914 winners, did not defend their title.

In addition to the foregoing entries, those who participated in men's play from out of town were H. A. Ebbert, T. M. Cummins, Thomas Beattie, William Franzheim and Wright Hugus of Wheeling; R. A. Johnson of Parkersburg; Middleton DeCamp and W. M. Tyler of Cincinnati; D. D. Morgan, Washington, D. C.; Lawrence Curtis and W. H. Y. Hackett, Boston, Mass.; J. C. Royon and A. F. Reed, Cleveland, Ohio; A. J. Read, Paterson, N. J.; H. C. Harrison, Montclair, N. J.; T. V. A. Malloy and T. H. Bopp, New Castle, Pa.; S. H.

R. N. WILLIAMS, 2D, AND MISS MOLLA BJURSTEDT AT CLAY COURT CHAMPIONSHIPS OF THE UNITED STATES, HELD BY PITTSBURGH ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION, 1915.

Shepley, Blairsville, Pa.; F. A. Galer and H. M. Garman, Jeannette, Pa.; C. F. Gaut, Irwin, Pa.; Joseph Replogle, Johnstown, Pa.; C. H. Raseman, Detroit, Mich.; H. S. Gill, Greensburg, Pa.; E. H. Hooker, New York; and F. B. Ransom, Beaver Falls, Pa.

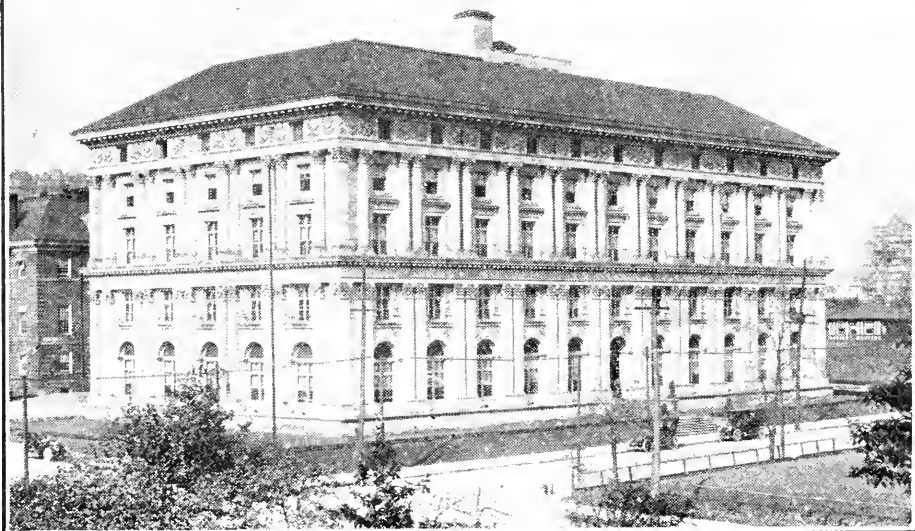

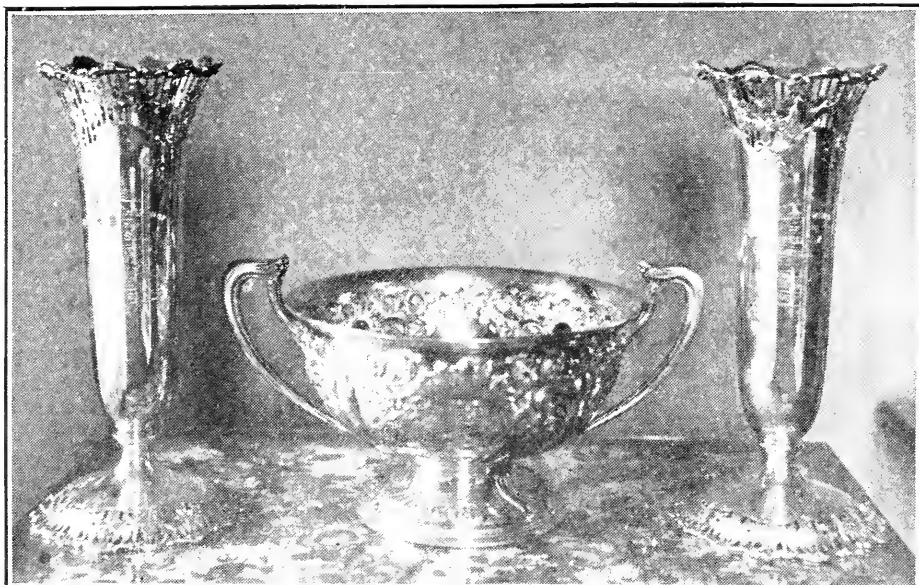

Miss Molla Bjurstedt followed Miss May Sutton, now Mrs. T. C. Bundy, and Miss Mary Browne on the list of clay court champions by defeating Mrs. G. W. Wightman in the final of the women's singles. Mrs. Wightman looked as if she might be a winner at 3/1 in the third set, but lost the deciding set after a good lead.

Miss Bjurstedt won over Miss Thorp, Miss Martha Guthrie and Miss Mary Snyder in earlier rounds. Mrs. Wightman defeated Miss Buda Stephens, Miss Marie Gabel and Miss Kay. Miss Cassel won the second set from Mrs. Wightman, but lost the first and third. Miss McAteer lost to Miss Cassel, while Mrs. Barger-Wallach defaulted.

Julian S. Myrick, president of the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, Long Island, was referee of the tournament, and put in a strenuous week overcoming the physical difficulties. The summaries:

R. LINDLEY MURRAY,
National Indoor Champion, 1916.

National Indoor Championships, 1916

The largest crowd that ever attended an indoor championship, which began February 12, in the Seventh Regiment armory, New York, saw the final contests on Washington's Birthday, in which Robert Lindley Murray was opposed by Alrick H. Man, Jr., the former Yale University tennis captain, and the Californian ended the struggle in straight sets, the third being a hummer.

Man led off with the service. He prettily half volleyed Murray's returns from deep court. Pace held no terrors for the former Yale captain. His returns were well placed when Murray had not forced him out of position so that he could not execute a fair shot. Man won the first game only to have the dashing Murray take five in a row, chiefly by coming up to the net and smashing.

It was much the same story in the second set. Murray's deep shots with the twisting bounds caused Man to hit the ball upward. It was a feeder for the Californian's cyclonic overhanders, which he slashed into the corners of his opponent's court.

Man brought his celebrated drop shot into action in the third set. The hot pace combined with the necessity Murray found of digging the ball off the boards made it possible for Man to forge into a lead at 4/1 on games. In the tenth game Man was within a stroke of winning the set. On the fifteenth game Murray broke through and finished the match on the sixteenth, without having lost a set during the entire tournament.

In the doubles, Smith and Cragin ran through the first two sets with the utmost ease. They also won three games of the first four in the third set at love. At this juncture Rosenbaum and Lovibond showed a surprising reversal of form. In the next three games they won twice on their own service, and were trailing only at 3/4, the best showing they had made to date. In the eighth game Smith and Cragin led at 40-15 on Smith's service, but the other pair braced and pulled the game out, tying the set at 4-all, and kept right on going until they had taken two more and the set.

Each team in the fourth set won on service until the score stood 7/6 for Rosenbaum and Lovibond. On the fourteenth game the pair broke through Smith's service and captured the game that tied the match, and finally won out.

Long rallies and tight situations marked the fifth set. After winning two games to one, Rosenbaum and Lovibond slipped back in the rut and lost three consecutive games. After trailing at 15-40, in the seventh, Rosenbaum and Lovibond won a game that went to deuce six times. They augmented this with two more and had the lead at 5/4. On the tenth game, the same pair came within an ace of victory by gaining the first vantage point after deuce, but lost the game, making the set deuce at 5-all. Service counted for victories until the score stood 9/8, favoring Rosenbaum and Lovibond, and this combination took the title on the next game when it broke through Cragin's service.

National Indoor Women's Championships, 1916

The tournament of 1916 for the women's national indoor championships was played on the armory courts of the Seventh Regiment, New York City, March 13 to 19.

Miss Molla Bjurstedt carried off the honors of the competition, repeating her success in in the 1915 singles, and, with Miss Marie Wagner as a partner, also took the doubles.

The final round between Miss Bjurstedt and Mrs. Frederick Schmitz, a former champion, attracted a large gallery. Throughout the thirty-three minutes of time required to decide the fifteen games of the match in Miss Bjurstedt's favor, the spectators fairly marvelled at the amazing power with which Miss Bjurstedt executed her strokes.

In the doubles, the winners, Miss Wagner and Miss Bjurstedt, played fast tennis. The opposing pair in the final round, Mrs. Schmitz and Mrs. Weaver, played pluckily, but there was never the chance that they might gain the victory.

Panama-Pacific Exposition Tournament

BY CARL R. GARDNER.

Maurice E. McLoughlin in the men's singles, William M. Johnston and John Strachan in the doubles, and Miss Anita Myers in the women's singles were the winners in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition tournament, held on the asphalt courts of the California Tennis Club, San Francisco, July 10 to 17.

The competition called out all the best talent on the Pacific slope, as well as the entries of the Eastern team which came here to play the first match with the pick of the Pacific Coast. That they did not make a better showing was due perhaps, more than anything else, to their lack of experience with the difficult asphalt courts, also to the fact that they had only a few days for practice after a long train journey across the country.

Forty-one players were drawn in the men's singles, and only two defaulted. All four of the Eastern men were defeated in the early rounds, and the semi-finals and final of singles were confined to coast players.

Williams gained a host of admirers when he put out Murray in what was probably the most desperately fought match of the tournament. The score of 8/6, 7/9, 9/7, gives a fair idea of how the battle raged. But the upset of the tournament came in the fourth round when Williams went down before Griffin in three sets, 6/3, 5/7, 6/1. The victor, conceded little chance by the majority, figured out a plan of battle that worked perfectly. He planned to lob Williams every time he came to the net, and to sacrifice speed to craftiness at all times. The wind blew extra hard that day and aided Griffin immeasurably. It upset the champion from the start and made Griffin's well-timed lobs circle and sway in the air most disconcertingly. From beginning to end, Griffin played as one inspired.

The final round between McLoughlin and Johnston was played before a gallery numbering close to three thousand persons. Although McLoughlin was the popular choice many of the critics who followed the play of the two men in their previous matches looked for his defeat. Although McLoughlin won, it was a peculiar victory. Johnston apparently played better tennis in the five sets than McLoughlin, but the breaks in luck were all against him.

The big upset in the doubles occurred immediately after the start. Lawrence Curtis of Harvard and John C. Rohlfis of San Francisco, who had never even heard of each other previous to the arrival of the Easterners, defeated Williams and Washburn in a close match, 4/6, 6/4, 8/6. The final round resulted in a pretty match, there being many rallies of considerable length, and an abundance of brilliant plays. Johnston and Strachan won in four sets. Mathey and Church tried desperately and displayed by far the best tennis they had yet shown on asphalt. Mathey still suffered from his double-faulting tendency, and it cost his side dearly in the third set, but otherwise both he and Church played in good form. Strachan was the star of the match, his remarkable returns of service being invaluable to his side.

Miss Anita Myers, playing the best tennis of her career, came through the women's singles and defeated Miss Marjorie Wale in the final at 6/4, 6/2. The summaries:

HAROLD H. HACKETT,
The Old Internationalist.

Longwood Singles and Eastern Doubles

Maurice E. McLoughlin retained his title as Longwood champion, and Richard Norris Williams, 2nd, and Watson W. Washburn won the Eastern doubles, in the tournament held on the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston, beginning July 26.

Williams was the tournament winner in singles, defeating N. W. Niles in straight sets. The match was played in a misty rain that was depressing. However, Williams was almost unplayable. Every shot was peaceful and marvelous in its accuracy.

When Williams and McLoughlin met in the challenge round on Friday, August 6, the weather conditions were almost incredibly bad. There had been no sun for nearly a week and rain fell from start to finish of the match. The court became but little better than a quagmire and there was literally no footing. Despite the gloomy conditions, a big crowd was out to see the match. Nearly 2,000 persons surrounded the court, many of them holding up umbrellas, but the majority stolidly enduring the steady downfall of rain. The gallery surrounded the court on four sides, filled the grandstand and packed the little eminence in front of the club house. Not only was there no seating space left, but standees occupied every position of vantage.

Under these conditions the match was a travesty on lawn tennis. McLoughlin won, partly because he did not worry over things, and partly because he revealed himself in a totally new light—that of a back court player, phenomenally steady and adept at keeping the ball in play, and sure and dependable on his backhand. The general expectation was that Williams would win; this was shared by McLoughlin. But the Philadelphian fretted over conditions, tried to move quickly about the court and to go to the net. The result was that he fell flat on his face once and spread-eagled the court several times in his endeavor to get a ball that was out of his reach.

The fancied teams in the Eastern Doubles were H. H. Hackett and T. R. Pell, Craig Biddle and Harry C. Johnson, R. N. Williams, 2nd, and W. M. Washburn, and N. W. Niles and G. P. Gardner, Jr., all in the upper half; E. P. Larned and F. C. Inman, Wallace Johnson and Irving C. Wright in the bottom half. The last named pairs clashed in the second round and a sensational and quite unexpected win for Johnson and Wright followed.

With Larned and Inman out of it, interest centered in the top half. On Friday morning two five-set matches reduced the number of contenders there to two teams, while in the afternoon another five-set battle left only Williams and Washburn. Hackett and Pell won the first set from Johnson and Biddle after a stiff fight and the second easily, but they lost the next two, after which they pressed on to victory by lasting better than their opponents. Williams and Washburn also won the first two sets easily from Niles and Gardner but a slump cost them the next two. They came strongly in the fifth, however, and won with something to spare.

Friday afternoon's match was a thriller. Hackett and Pell won the first two sets decisively by vastly better play and team work. After that the tide turned and Williams and Washburn won the next three sets even more decisively. Williams was the star in these sets. He played with a dash and brilliance that evoked great applause, and the very unorthodoxy of his shots did much to render them effective. Washburn was streaky, being both very good and very bad. Of the opposing pair Hackett was the better, getting plenty of pace on the ball and employing tactics that were beyond criticism.

The final round was something of an anti-climax. Johnson and Wright were successful so long as Williams and Washburn were going badly, but when they started to play as a team and to hit out there was no doubt as to the result. Washburn was very much better than the day before, making many beautiful placed shots, while Williams had much less to do and did it well most of the time. The summaries:

Longwood Women's Tournament

The meeting of Mrs. George W. Wightman and Miss Molla Bjurstedt in the final round of the Longwood tournament for women was the chief feature of the competition held on the dirt courts of the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston, during the week of September 27. It was a thrilling match, which ran the gamut for brilliant and crafty playing. Miss Bjurstedt won. The challenge round between Miss Edith Rotch, the holder of the title, and Miss Bjurstedt was tame in comparison to the final round. Miss Bjurstedt again won, this time in straight sets.

The doubles went to Mrs. Wightman and Miss Eleanora Sears after a good match featured by the occasional brilliance of Mrs. Wightman. Mrs. Wightman proved a double winner, as she and H. C. Johnson captured the mixed doubles. A big upset occurred in this event when Miss Eleanora Sears and R. N. Williams, 2nd, were defeated by Miss Alice Thorndike and A. N. Reggio. The summaries:

PLAYERS PROMINENT IN MIDDLE WEST TENNIS.

Western Championships

By A. H. LAWSON.

George M. Church of Princeton, who, in addition to intercollegiate champion, has had many other tennis titles attached to his name, added another laurel to his crown by defeating Alex. Squair in the challenge round of the twenty-sixth annual tournament for the Western championship, held on the turf courts of the Onwentsia Club, at Lake Forest, Ill.

Walter T. Hayes and Ralph H. Burdick of Chicago won the right to compete in the preliminaries of the National Doubles by defeating Heath Byford and Alex. Squair.

The tournament was played under trying weather conditions, sundry showers and occasional cloudbursts causing postponements of matches and defaults, and affected the usual attendance in the galleries. One hundred and four singles entries and about fifty doubles team entries were received, among which were a number of players of national reputation, who were compelled to default because of their inability to finish matches elsewhere on time. In spite of this fact, the gallery enjoyed a week of excellent tennis.

In the first round Heath Byford, Illinois State champion, caused a sensation by defeating W. M. Johnston of San Francisco, in three sets. Johnston won the first set, allowing Byford only eighteen points for the nine games of the frame, taking love games on Byford's service twice. Byford took the first game of the second set. Johnston took the next three. With the score 4/3, in Johnston's favor, each player won a deuce game. Byford followed with a love game and only allowed the Californian two points in the three deciding games. In the third and deciding set, with the score 4/1 against him, Byford made a sensational rally and aided by Johnston's wildness took five straight games, winning the set and match. Johnston appeared nervous and unable to control his strokes, going wild at several stages of the match. Byford, on the other hand, played a steady and consistent game. Other than this, the early rounds furnished no surprises.

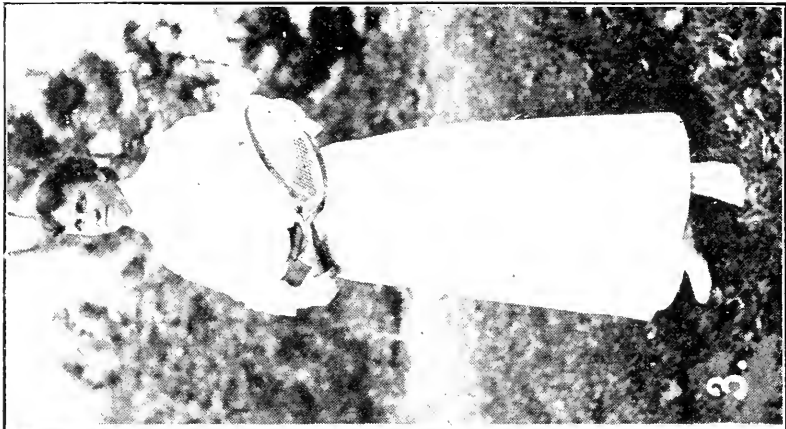

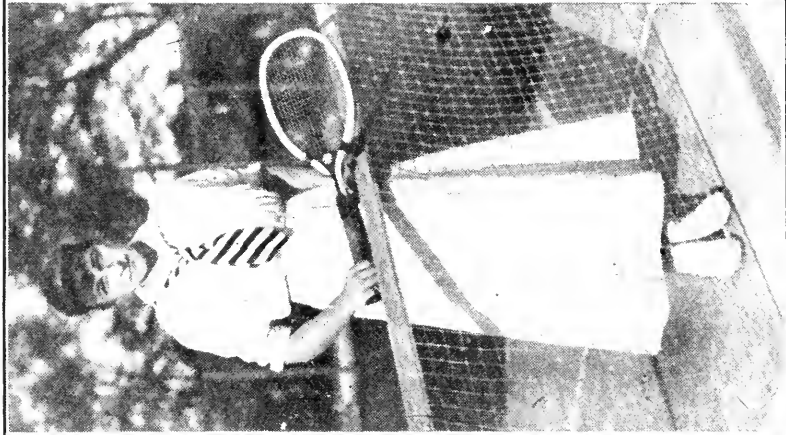

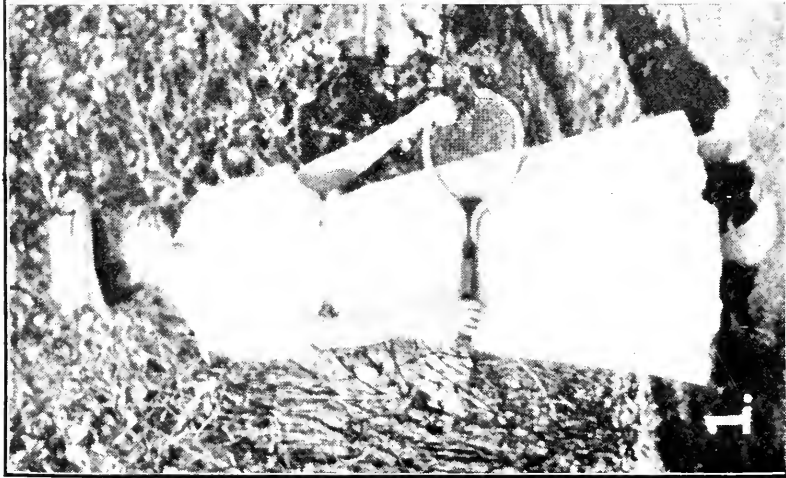

By the time the third round was reached the rainy weather had so affected the courts that play was very heavy. The balls became caked with mud and frequently had to be changed. In spite of these adverse conditions, some interesting matches were staged.

A. J. Lindauer defeated Nat Thornton of Atlanta, Ga., one of the Southern doubles champions, after dropping the first set, 3/6, 6/1, 6/3. Al Green, Michigan singles champion, defeated Hal Gifford, former University of Chicago champion. The loser showed superior speed in the first set, winning 6/2, but was unable to keep up the pace, dropping the next two sets, 6/3, 6/1. In this round Jerry Weber eliminated Ralph Burdick, runner-up in the City and State tournaments, 6/4, 9/7, and in the fourth round Walter Hayes took Al Green into camp in a three-set match, 6/3, 3/6, 6/3. Joseph Armstrong, former Minnesota champion, defeated Lindauer, 6/2, 7/5. Byford defeated Weber, 6/2, 6/3.

The best match of the fifth round was played between M. G. Ketchum, former Californian, and Heath Byford. Ketchum showed flashes of excellent tennis, but was erratic, while Byford, playing his usual steady game, won in straight sets, 6/4, 6/3. Walter Hayes was scheduled to play Joseph Armstrong in this round, and the gallery was greatly disappointed when Armstrong, who was obliged to return to his business in Philadelphia, defaulted. G. M. Church easily defeated the veteran, J. C. Neely, and C. G. Hill, the former Yale player, disposed of H. Raeder, Jr.

After a gruelling four-set doubles match, Hayes attempted to play G. M. Church in the semi-final round, but his previous match made him an easy victim of the Princeton champion, who allowed him only five games in the three sets. Byford defeated Hill in straight sets.

In the final round Byford was only able to break through Church's defense for one set. He took the first three games, but Church, taking the fourth as a love game on his own service by brilliant placing, won the next five games and set. In the second set Church led at 5/3, but Byford, fighting doggedly, won the next four games, taking the set, 7/5. The effort required to win the second set proved too great for Byford, and he won only four games in the next two sets.

1. Miss C. B. Neely, Western Women's Champion. 2. Miss Mary K. Voorhees, winner Women's Singles Central West Tournament. 3. Mrs. Malcolm McNeil, Chicago Women's Champion.

PROMINENT WESTERN WOMEN PLAYERS,

Owing to weather conditions it was necessary to hold back the singles matches. In order to allow the doubles to be completed in time for the Western champions to engage in the sectional doubles, which were scheduled to go on at the conclusion of the week. As a result, the challenge round between Church and Alex. Squair was not played until after the final match in the sectional doubles.

Squair started the first set with his serve, but dropped the game on his outs. With the score 5/3 against him, Squair tied the set, losing in two deuce games, 5/7, with 35 points to Church's 38. Squair took the first game of the second set at love, Church being unable to return Squair's twist service. The second game was deuced five times, Church losing the double faults. The games were even twice at 2/2 and 3/3, after which the Princetonian took three straight games, winning the set, 6/3. In the following set Squair reversed this score, winning his first and only set, 6/3. The intermission seemed to put new life into Church, and he was at all times master of the situation, winning the final set, 6/2.

It became evident from the early doubles rounds that the competition for the championship would be between local teams. Two good matches were furnished in the semi-final round when Byford and Squair defeated Gifford and Ketchum, 6/3, 9/7, 6/4, and Hayes and Burdick defeated Weber and Green, 6/2, 4/6, 6/2, 8/6; but the real match of local interest came in the final round when Hayes and Burdick met Byford and Squair. In a hard fought four-set match the former pair captured the championship and the right to play in the sectional doubles.

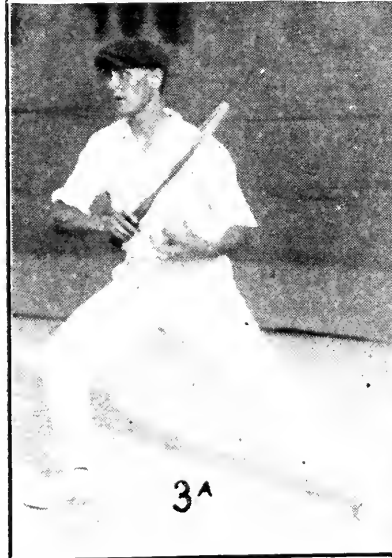

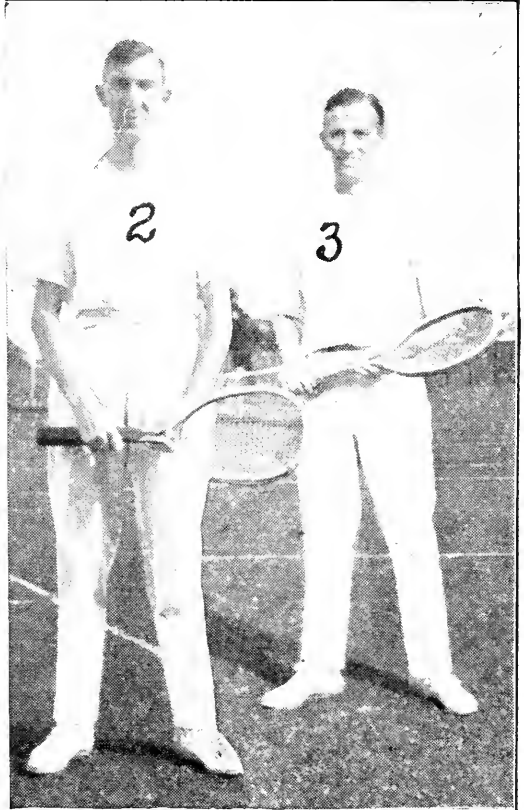

In the women's singles, Miss C. B. Neely of Chicago won the final round by defeating Miss Louise Pound of Lincoln, Nebr., 6/3, 6/4. As Miss Mary K. Browne was unable to make the trip from California to defend her title, she defaulted, and Miss Neely became Western champion.

Miss C. B. Neely and Miss Louise Pound won the doubles by defeating Mrs. E. H. Brewer and Miss Katherine Waldo. The summaries:

CARL R. GARDNER,
San Francisco.
Bay Counties Champion.

Pacific Coast Championships

By CARL R. GARDNER.

Three national champions, William Johnston (singles), Miss Bjurstedt (women's singles) and Clarence Griffin (men's doubles with Johnston), were thrown into the discard before the final rounds of the singles events, each by players who were hardly considered serious contenders. Then, to make ruination more complete, the two strongest women's doubles teams in the vicinity of San Francisco were put out by a pair of junior girls, Miss Marjorie Wale and Miss Marjorie Thorn. The latter lost to Miss Bjurstedt and Mrs. Wightman in the final round, however.

Herbert L. Hahn of Leland Stanford, Jr., University is the successor to Champion Johnston in singles. San Franciscans gave him only an outside chance to reach even the semi-final bracket, for Clyde Curley and Byron Batkin were in his quarter, and the latter was freely picked to bracket with Griffin in the semi-final of the upper half. But Hahn came through, after pulling out of almost bottomless holes in each match, and won from Griffin in a five-set contest, which was chiefly featured by the soft, nervous lackluster play of the doubles champion. Hahn, however, showed he had superior tennis in him and made a very favorable impression with his sound back court play, finding holes in Griffin's net attacks with little trouble.

Meanwhile, H. Van Dyke Johns, also of Stanford University, reached the final bracket with his teammate by disposing of national champion and two times holder of the coast title, Johnston. The youngster was not expected to get more than six or eight games from the champion, but after losing the first set, 4/6, he took the next two at 6/4, 6/3. The fourth was Johnston's at 6/3, but the Stanford youth took the fifth and match, 7/5. This left people considerably stunned. Johnston showed hardly a vestige of his real form, hitting wild most of the time, but, on the other hand, Johns was revealed in a new light, playing far above his head. His volleying was very clever, and he excelled in other departments as well.

The final match was a decided anti-climax. Hahn was awed, but Johns was overawed by the realization of his win on the previous day, and the resulting tennis was distinctly mediocre. Hahn was the less self-conscious of the two, and his game proved superior to that of his teammate by three sets to one, the scores being 6/1, 6/4, 3/6, 6/1.

Mrs. George Wightman took the women's singles title with little trouble, defeating Miss Anita Myers in the final round, 6/3, 6/1. Miss Myers sprung the surprise of the event and one of the three biggest of the tournament when she won from Miss Molla Bjurstedt in the semi-final at 0/6, 6/4, 6/4. The champion was winning so easily at the start that she unconsciously slacked up and soon Miss Myers had her in difficulties, winning the second set by dint of excellent placing with her chops and drives. In the third set Miss Bjurstedt strove mightily to come back, but her pet drives missed by inches and she went down to defeat.

The victory of Mrs. Wightman brought her again into the roll of California champions, where she once flourished and where Californians feel she still belongs, in spite of her residence in Boston. In defeating Miss Baker, State champion, 6/1, 6/0, and Miss Myers, Bay Counties champion, 6/3, 6/1, she showed almost all her old time skill, her volleying and generalship being predominant as in bygone years.

With George Wightman, Mrs. Wightman also took the mixed doubles, winning from Miss Baker and Roberts in the final round, 6/2, 6/4. They were too well balanced a team for the others to cope with. The surprise of the event was the defeat of Miss Bjurstedt and Griffin by Miss Baker and Roberts, 7/5, 2/6, 6/4.

Of course Miss Bjurstedt and Mrs. Wightman won the women's doubles, meeting the junior girls, Marjorie Thorn and Marjorie Wale, in the final and taking the match at 6/2, 6/1. The junior team had previously upset predictions by defeating the coast champions, Miss Tennant and Miss Tarilton, and also the Misses Myers and Baker. The summaries:

Pacific Coast Ranking, 1915

Ten players in singles and three doubles teams were ranked by the Pacific States Lawn Tennis Association for the year 1915. Only those who played in two or more official tournaments were recognized. On the ground of "insufficient data," McLoughlin, Bundy, Herbert L. Hahn, Pacific Coast champion, and Dr. M. H. Long were not named. The ranking follows:

San Francisco Championship

Fulfilling the expectations of the majority of tennis wiseacres in and about San Francisco, John Strachan annexed the honors in the city championship, which was brought to a close on Memorial Day, at the California Lawn Tennis Club. Neither Johnston nor McLoughlin competed, but both Griffin and Murray fell before Strachan's remarkable back court attack.

Griffin and Strachan met in the semi-final round, and the latter made short shrift of his stubby opponent's careful game, tearing through him at 6/3, 6/2, 6/1. Murray, in the final, proved a much tougher problem, and it was a wearing fight for every point, but Strachan held the edge and won in straight sets, 7/5, 6/4, 8/6.

Contrary to expectations Murray played his opponent's game and stayed in the back court, showing tremendous respect for Strachan's drives, which found the holes in his defense at every opportunity.

Women's Round Robin Tournament in San Francisco

Miss Molla Bjurstedt regained all of the prestige she had lost through her defeat by Miss Myers, the little San Francisco girl, in the Pacific Coast championships, when she won the round robin event, with a perfect percentage, one week later. This was played on the asphalt courts of the California Lawn Tennis Club in San Francisco, November 12, 13 and 14, and Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman were the two notables who contested her supremacy.

Each of the three matches was a revelation of superb women's tennis in itself. When Miss Bjurstedt won from Mrs. Wightman in a nerve-racking match, 6/4, 5/7, 6/2 on the first day, the spectators felt sure they had seen the match of the tournament. But that of the following day, in which Mrs. Bundy defeated her old time rival, Mrs. Wightman, at 6/2, 4/6, 6/4, was, if anything, even better. Mrs. Wightman braved the net a bit oftener in this match than against the champion, and more pyrotechnics resulted—her volleying being clever in the extreme. Mrs. Bundy, however, was tirelessly steady with her forehand drive, and this gave her the victory.

The battle between Miss Bjurstedt and Mrs. Bundy capped the climax in every way. Both being remarkably fine backcourt players the rallies were long and exciting. For a time it looked as though the former world's champion would have matters all her own way, for she led at 5/2, but at that stage the Norwegian girl began to overhaul her. As the match progressed Miss Bjurstedt gained in confidence and accuracy, fighting desperately for every point. The first set was hers at last at 10/8, a remarkable win, for on five different occasions Mrs. Bundy was within a point of it. The second set was less of a fight and Miss Bjurstedt won it at 6/2. The Los Angeles player showed the wear and tear of the first set and was unable to cover the ground or hit with the customary steam in the second, although she never stopped trying. The summaries:

Miss Bjurstedt d. Mrs. Wightman, 6/4, 5/7, 6/2; Miss Bjurstedt d. Mrs. Bundy, 10/8, 6/2; Mrs. Bundy d. Mrs. Wightman, 6/2, 4/6, 6/4.

Oakland City Championship

R. Lindley Murray moved from Palo Alto to Oakland, Cal., just in time to qualify as a resident of the latter city for the Oakland city championship, which was held in May, on Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

In the singles he met with very little opposition, going through without the loss of a set. In the final round his victim was Henry Breck, former University of California champion, whom he defeated, 6/1, 6/2, 9/7. Breck was slow to start, but gave a good account of himself in the third set.

In the doubles Murray and Gardner had a close match with Breck and Detrick in the semi-final, only winning at 6/2, 7/9, 6/4. In the final they won in straight sets from Stanley Smith and E. A. Klein, but the games were very close. Smith and Klein had previously defeated McLoughlin and Havens and Bates and Murdock, both in straight sets, much to the surprise of all.

University of California Defeats Stanford

The Blue and Gold again waved triumphant over the Cardinal of Leland Stanford, Jr., University when the University of California team took all of the five matches on the last Saturday of April, 1915. Thus the nine new asphalt courts of the University of California at Berkeley were gloriously christened (from U. C.'s standpoint, at least).

The courts were a bit strange and fast for the Cardinal team, so the best it could do was to make a hard fight for one of the singles matches and both doubles. The summaries:

SINGLES.

C. B. Detrick (Cal.) d. H. V. D. Johns (Stanford), 10/8, 8/6; Robert Lipman (Cal.) d. Herbert Hahn (Stanford), 6/0, 6/4; Henry Breck (Cal.) d. Allyn Barber (Stanford), 6/1, 9/7.

Bay Counties Championships

The twelfth annual Bay Counties championship was brought to a close on November 21, on the courts at Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, after three weeks interruption, occasioned by the holding of the Pacific States events at the California Lawn Tennis Club.

Carlton R. Gardner is the new singles champion, getting the first leg on the newly acquired challenge trophy. The other two "three-time" trophies were won by M. E. McLoughlin and J. R. Strachan, respectively.

Byron Batkin and Clyde Curley became the doubles champions, succeeding William Johnston and John R. Strachan. Miss Anita Myers is the women's champion. The summaries:

Pacific Coast Doubles

By H. F. WELLER.

Twenty-five teams entered the annual Pacific Coast championship tournament, held on the courts at Long Beach, Calif., the first week in July. As usual, the event was more or less of a walkaway for the San Franciscan representatives. W. M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin of San Francisco ran into trouble in just two of their matches and in these dropped only a single set. Allyn Barber and Frank Hart took the opening set of their match with the future champions at six games to four, but lost the next three in rotation, 6/2, 6/4, 6/4. In the semi-final, Clifton B. Herd and Ward Dawson won the second set of their match from the San Franciscans, but were never dangerous during the remainder of the match.

The Japanese team of Mykami and Umetsu created a stir in the tournament when they took a set from Browne and Wayne. The Japanese in Southern California are taking a great interest in tennis. The summaries:

Lawn Tennis in Southern California

By H. F. WELLER.

The 1915 tennis season in Southern California was easily the most interesting and successful in the history of the game. It started with the Southern California Tennis Club's annual midwinter tournament the first week of the year and ended in a blaze of glory in the defeat of the national women's champion, Miss Molla Bjurstedt, by Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, on December 11.

Ten tournaments of importance, aside from minor and intraclub affairs, were held, and in every one high-class tennis was the rule. The season apparently inaugurated a new era in Southern California tennis, as the interest manifested by player and fan alike was much greater than ever before, the competitions, without exception, drawing record entry lists.

Two events of national importance were included in the year's activities, namely, the Pacific Coast sectional doubles at Long Beach the first week in July, won by Johnston and Griffin, and, in many ways, the most interesting event of all, in November and December, the exhibition women's round robin tournament, in which four figures of national and international reputation took part.

Following Miss Bjurstedt's victory over Mrs. Bundy in San Francisco two weeks earlier, the champion was conceded more than an even break to win in the round robin event arranged for the Long Beach courts for Thanksgiving Day and the following two days. In addition to these two the others to take part in the tournament were Miss Mary K. Browne, three-time national champion, and Miss Florence Sutton, a sister to the former world's champion.

On the opening day Mrs. Bundy defeated Miss Bjurstedt in hollow style, 6/1, 6/4. Playing a careful game all the way and avoiding the lines, Mrs. Bundy allowed the Norwegian girl to defeat herself on errors. Mrs. Bundy scored only eight placements to her opponent's eighteen, but the champion's mark for errors reached fifty-five, while Mrs. Bundy had but thirty. In the second match of the afternoon Miss Florence Sutton won from Miss Mary Browne in straight sets, 6/4, 6/3.

The second day's matches were between Miss Browne and Mrs. Bundy and Miss Bjurstedt and Miss Sutton. Miss Browne sprung a decided surprise when she defeated Mrs. Bundy in straight sets, 6/4, 6/3, Miss Browne's driving and court-covering being a revelation. Miss Bjurstedt was given a fairly hard battle by Miss Sutton, but the latter was unable to take a set.

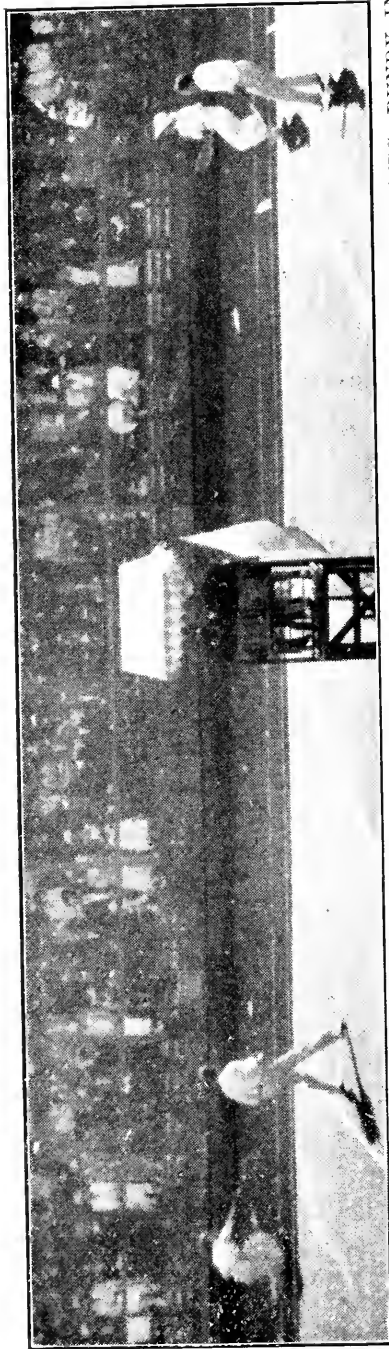

On Saturday, Miss Bjurstedt defeated Miss Browne, 2 6, 6/3, 6/4, in a match which produced the best women's tennis play ever seen on the Pacific Coast. At the end of the three sets each player had won 86 points, and the game score was 14 to 13 in favor of Miss Bjurstedt. Mrs. Bundy had little trouble disposing of her sister, and the two stars were left tied in the round robin, each having won two and lost one match. Each also held a victory over the other, Miss Bjurstedt having defeated Mrs. Bundy in San Francisco, while Mrs. Bundy had turned the tables in the Thanksgiving Day match. A play-off was finally arranged for the same courts on December 11.

Both players had rested during the intervening two weeks, and the first game proved that the match would be a battle royal. Mrs. Bundy went after every ball; she played her strokes to the lines as she had not done in the previous match, and her accurate placing brought her round after round of applause from the immense gallery.

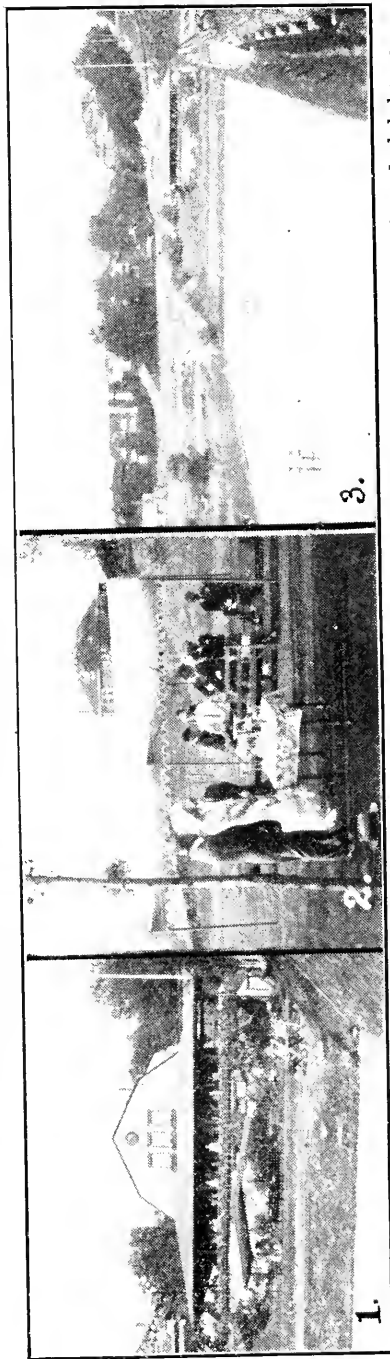

Mrs. Bundy won the first set at 6 games to 3, but dropped the second when Miss Bjurstedt came to the front with a whirlwind attack. It appeared for a time as if the efforts of this set would prove too much for Mrs. Bundy, but she came back after the rest and simply swept Miss Bjurstedt off her feet, taking the set at 6 games to 2 and the match, two sets to one.

Southern Championships

E. V. Carter, Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., won the Southern championship in singles, for the first time, by defeating Edmond Phelps of New Orleans, La., in the final round. In the final round of the doubles, Grant and Thornton, after losing the first two sets, won the next three and the match. The women's singles went to Miss Irving Murphy, who was much better than the rest of the players.

The tournament was held on the ten clay courts of the Atlanta Athletic Club during the week of July 5. It brought together the most representative crowd of Southern players that the tournament has ever seen since its beginning some nine years ago, there being present about ten or twelve players of almost equal ability, numbering among them the best in the Southern States. The summaries:

Middle States Championships

Many surprises were furnished in the play for the Middle States championship in the tournament held on the courts of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club, South Orange, N. J., beginning June 21. Harold A. Throckmorton upset all predictions by not only carrying off first honors in the singles, but ran Karl H. Behr, last year's winner, to the full five sets in the challenge round.

In the final round of the doubles, C. F. Watson, Jr., and C. M. Bull, Jr., won from Throckmorton and L. Dunham, but in the challenge match, Behr and T. R. Pell duplicated their victory of 1914 by defeating Watson and Bull.

The women's singles resulted in another easy victory for Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the clever little Norwegian girl. Mrs. Barger Wallach defaulted in one of the early rounds, and Miss Bjurstedt defeated Miss Clare Cassel, 6/2, 6/2, in a match that once more emphasized her superiority to the other women players in the Eastern tournaments. It was easy for her after that and she had hardly a close set in the tournament. With Miss Cassel she also won the women's doubles. The summaries:

New England Championships

F. H. Harris, an old Dartmouth College player, won the singles honors in the fourteenth annual tournament for the New England championship, played on the courts of the Hartford Golf Club, Hartford, Conn., beginning June 8. R. Lindley Murray, who won the previous year, was unable to defend, so the title went to Harris by default. The latter met A. Ware Merriam of New Britain, Conn., in the final round and won in a well played four-set match.

One of the most interesting matches in the singles was the semi-final round between Harris and W. S. Cushing, Jr., a Rhodes scholar who had much English experience at Oxford University. Harris' steadiness at critical points of the match prevailed, and when the third set was reached his speed was too much for the other man, and Cushing won only two games.

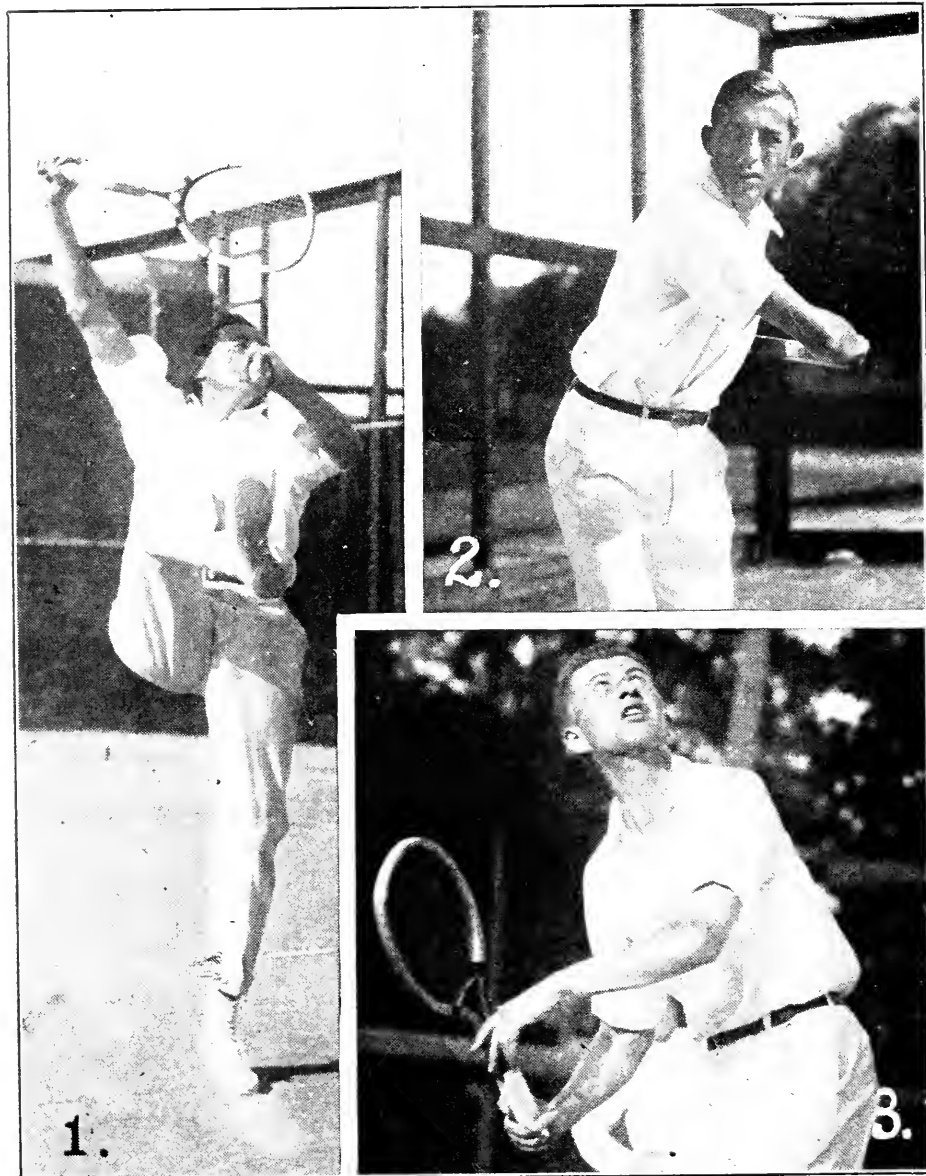

In the doubles, Cushing played with J. A. Richards, and the pair made a splendid combination. Of the four matches they played through the tournament, not one was captured easily, but whenever the pinch came they were as steady as a rock and pulled through the draw as the final winners. They defeated J. M. Holcombe, Jr., and Philip Roberts in the final round in an interesting four-set encounter. The summaries:

PROMINENT MISSOURI VALLEY PLAYERS.

Missouri Valley Championships

By C. H. HOLCOMB.

The premier tennis event of the Middle West, the Missouri Valley championships for men, was held upon the Kansas City Athletic Club courts, beginning August 9. The interest was great, and attendance exceptionally good, although weather conditions were not very favorable. In the field of ninety-two entries in singles were several well-known out-of-town players, among them being Stellwagen of Minneapolis, Branson of South Dakota, Lindauer of Chicago, Shoemaker of Topeka, and Speice and Monett of Oklahoma. Lockhorn, Clafin, Cannon and Stellwagen survived to the semi-finals where Lockhorn easily defeated Clafin, and Cannon lost a hard luck match to Stellwagen, after having match point in the fourth set. Lockhorn defeated Stellwagen in the final round, losing one set out of four.

In the final match in doubles, the young collegians, Teachenor and Newell, put up a strong fight against Cannon and Lockhorn, but their opponents always seemed to have something in reserve, and won the match, which went to five sets. The summaries:

Missouri Valley Women's Championships

The annual Missouri Valley championships in women's singles and mixed doubles were held upon the courts of the Kansas City Athletic Club, August 30 to September 4. As in the other tournaments held during the season, the interest was keen, with good crowds in attendance. There was sharp competition in the singles event, which was won by Miss Katherine Voorhees from Mrs. W. W. Yager, the 1914 champion.

The mixed doubles event was a toss-up between the teams of Miss Voorhees and Seddon, Miss Hires and Cannon, Miss Hayes and Lockhorn, Mrs. Yager and Wester, Miss Chesney and Teachenor, Miss Ewins and Newell, Miss Hager and Durall, and Miss LeBeaume and Poteet, and was won by the Miss Hayes and Lockhorn combination from Miss Hires and Cannon, the 1914 winners, after a close and hard-fought match. Y., beginning July 30. R. L. Maynard defeated J. M. Holcombe, Jr. of Hartford, Conn., in the final round of singles, 6/2, 8/6, 7/5, the victory giving him the first leg on the challenge cup presented by Mrs. Walter A. Wood, Jr. In the doubles, Mainard and R. B. Swain of Pomfret, Conn., defeated R. E. Snow and A. H. Hastings of Springfield, in the final round, 6/3, 4/6, 6/4, 6/2. A. H. Chapin, Jr. defeated D. Geer, Jr., in the final of the consolation singles, 6/1, 6/1.

Iron Mountain Lawn Tennis Club Tournament.—The Iron Mountain Lawn Tennis Club of Jackson, N. H., held its seventh annual open tournament for the championship of the east side of the White Mountains, New Hampshire, August 9. The exceptionally large entry of about 140, a new locker building, a large gallery and the high class of tennis made the tournament a pronounced success. The singles title was won by Cedric A. Major of New York, giving him one leg on the three-year club cup. Charles I. Johnston, Jr., won in 1913 and Frederick R. Budlong in 1914. Major's opponent in the final round last August was Budlong, the former winning, 6/4, 6/1, 8/6. In the final round of doubles, E. Peaslee and C. A. Major defeated S. Nichols and R. H. White, 6/4, 6/3, 6/3. Miss C. Small won from Miss P. Mallet-Prevost in the final round of the women's singles, by default, and in the final round of the women's doubles, Miss J. Gott and Miss E. Lawn Tennis in Dawson, Yukon Territory, Canada.—"The popularity of the tennis court during the past season and the tremendous momentum which the sport acquired was far reaching," writes Frank Noziglia. "The Yukon Tennis Club, which claims the honor of being one of the northernmost, if not the northernmost, tennis club in the world, enjoyed during the summer of 1915 the most successful season of its career. The playing began earlier than usual, the first games taking place in April and long before the ice in the Yukon went out from in front of Dawson, being the earliest start in the history of the club. The play continued until far into September. In the tournament, which rounded out the season, the results were as follows: Men's singles, Sidney F. Chamberlain; men's doubles, W. G. Radford and Henry Gordon McLeod; women's singles, Miss Bess L. Edwards; women's doubles, Miss A. F. Robinson and Miss Hilda Potter; mixed doubles, Sidney F. Chamberlain and Mrs. Arthur Ross. The officers of the club for the season of 1915 were: F. C. O. Edwards, president; Colin Dunlop Hart, vice-president; J. H. Roberts, secretary-treasurer; executive committee, F. A. H. Sitwell, Frank Noziglia, Sidney F. Chamberlain; women's committee, Mrs. Agnes McLeod, Mrs. G. B. Edwards and Lilly Thompson."

Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Championship.—Roland M. Hoerr of St. Louis, representing the University of Washington, won the Missouri Valley intercollegiate championship at Lincoln, Nebr., May 14 and 15. In the finals, Hoerr met Ellis of the University of Nebraska, and the former won, 6/0, 5/7, 6/1, 6/2. In the doubles, Hoerr and P. J. Hewitt defeated Gardiner and Ellis, 7/5, 0/6, 6/4, 7/5, in the final round.

Neodesha (Kans.) Tournament.—Dix Teachenor of Kansas City defeated W. S. Pettit in the singles final, 6/3, 6/1, 6/2, of the sixth annual Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Belt tournament, held at Neodesha, Kans., beginning August 17. Pettit was somewhat handicapped by the fact that he had two hard matches the day before, while Teachenor was comparatively fresh. The latter's service was a factor in enabling him to win. R. E. Black and Don Cooper defeated W. A. Penley and D. K. Campbell by default in the final round of doubles.

Tri-State Tournament

BY GORDON E. SMALL.

The seventeenth annual Tri-State tournament for the championships of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky was held on the courts of the Cincinnati Tennis Club, September 11 to 18. The entry list was the classiest in the history of the Tri-State, containing as it did the newly crowned national champions of all three branches of the sport, W. M. Johnston, Clarence J. Griffin and Miss Molla Bjurstedt. Other notables were Elia Fottrell, who came all the way from San Francisco for this tournament; Irving C. Wright, Nat Emerson and John C. Neely. To give the finishing touch to the competition, Maurice E. McLoughlin stopped over for one day and played in exhibition matches with Johnston, Griffin and Fottrell.

Owing to the strain incident to winning the national championships, held just before the Tri-State, Johnston did not compete in the singles, which was won by Griffin, who literally waded his way through the tournament, winning five-set matches on successive days from Nat Emerson, Trux Emerson and Fottrell. The challenge round with W. S. McElroy of Pittsburgh was rather tame, Griffin winning easily in straight sets.

Miss Bjurstedt proved much too strong for her opponents in the women's events, going through the tournament without losing a set. Paired with Miss Carrie B. Neely of Chicago, she also won the doubles from Mrs. Malcolm McNeil of Chicago and Miss Ruth Sanders of Cincinnati.

In the fifth round of the men's singles, Nat Emerson, the old Cincinnati player, now a resident of Memphis, Tenn., gave Griffin the fight of his life. Nat won the first two sets, Griffin seeming to underestimate him. Griffin took the third, but Emerson came back in the fourth and led at 5 3, but Griffin, by a supreme effort, deuced the set and won out at 7 5. In the final set Griffin got to 5 3, but Emerson was not to be denied. He deuced the set and forced Griffin to 8 6 before lowering his colors. This match lasted two hours and fifty minutes, and both contestants were exhausted at the finish.

Dr. Karl Little of Cincinnati forced Irving Wright to go five sets in this round. Wright's tantalizing placing shots finally wore the doctor out, the last two sets being easy at 6 1, 6 2.

In the semi-final Griffin defeated Trux Emerson of Cincinnati in another long-drawn-out, five-set match, while Fottrell disposed of Wright in straight sets. Fottrell looked very good in this match, his serve going great.

The final round, bringing Griffin against Fottrell, proved to be almost a repetition of the clay court final of 1914, played on the same court. Fottrell started in with a whirl and took the first two sets easily. He lost his grip in the third and Griffin, coming strong, landed it at 6 4. The last two sets were Griffin's at all stages, as he grew stronger right along and took every advantage of Fottrell's evident nervousness and anxiety. The defeat was a sad blow to Fottrell, who had hoped to avenge the loss of the clay court championship the year before.

In the challenge round McElroy was no match for Griffin. The match was played on a dark day, and during the last set rain was falling. This forced McElroy to remove his glasses, which doubtless caused him much inconvenience. He gamely continued to play, however, and deserves much credit for his showing under such adverse conditions.

In the men's doubles, R. A. Holden, the old Yale crack, and Trux Emerson proved unexpectedly strong, defeating Fottrell and Wright in the semi-final, 6 2, 6 0, 6 1. In the final round they forced the new national champions, Johnston and Griffin, to extend themselves in an interesting match, the scores being 8 6, 5 7, 6 1, 6 4.

In the women's singles Miss Bjurstedt won from Miss Carrie B. Neely of Chicago in the final, 6 2, 6 1. In the challenge round, Miss Bjurstedt disposed of Miss Ruth Sanders, 6 0, 6 4. Miss Sanders held her own at straight driving and backhand work, but the champion's serve and net work were too much for her.

In the exhibition matches, which were played before a record crowd, McLoughlin won a rather tame set from Johnston at 6 4.

The doubles brought out some fine tennis, Johnston and Griffin winning from McLoughlin and Fottrell, 6/3, 6/4, 3/6, 7/9, the fifth set being stopped by rain. The summaries:

Intercollegiate Championships

Richard Norris Williams, 2nd, representing Harvard University, was the star in the thirty-fifth intercollegiate championship, played on the turf courts of the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford, Pa., beginning September 13. Williams not only won the singles, but also the doubles, paired with Richard Harte.

The tournament was the third struggle for the seven-point Harrison K. Caner championship trophy, which was put into competition in 1913. As Harvard won both events, the score now stands: Harvard, 5 points, and Princeton, 1 point. The Cambridge university, therefore, needs only two more points for permanent possession of the trophy.

The following seven institutions sent teams to compete: Harvard, Dartmouth, Princeton, Yale and Cornell universities; University of Pennsylvania, and Dartmouth College. Amherst and Haverford colleges and the University of Pittsburgh, which competed the previous year, failed to enter the 1915 tournament.

In the singles, Williams was forced to extend himself in only one match, that against his teammate, G. Colket Caner, in the third round, who carried the ex-champion to two deuce sets, 8/6 and 7/5. What was expected to prove his hardest match, that with Leonard Beekman of Princeton in the final, was in reality his easiest. Williams routed his opponent in straight sets.

In the doubles, Williams and Harte successfully defended their title in rather hollow fashion, losing only two sets, one to J. R. Rowland and J. S. Disston, University of Pennsylvania, in the semi-final round, and the other to Caner and Curtis of Harvard, in the final. The summaries:

Western Intercollegiate Championships

By A. H. LAWSON.

The Western intercollegiate tennis tournament, generally known as the Conference tournament, for the season of 1915, was held on the courts of the University of Chicago, May 28 to 31.

Carran of Ohio State University, by steady and consistent playing, captured the singles championship by defeating Bennett of Chicago in the final round, 6/1, 1/6, 6/3, 6/2. This is the first time in the history of Conference tournaments that the singles championship has been won by any other than a representative of the University of Chicago or Minnesota.

The doubles championship was won by McNeil and Gross of the University of Chicago, who defeated James and James of Northwestern University, in a hotly contested four-set match.

Probably the most interesting match in the tournament occurred in the semi-final round, when the James boys of Northwestern, after having been defeated two love sets, turned the tables on their opponents, Smith and Kennedy of University of Minnesota, and defeated them the next three sets.

Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Tournament

The year 1915 saw a remarkable growth in the interest in tennis among colleges in the Rocky Mountain Conference. In the spring intercollegiate tournament, held in Denver, May 23, the Universities of Colorado and Utah, the Colorado State College, and the Colorado School of Mines were represented. The Utah men, Gibbs and Little, had everything their own way in singles, and coming through to the final round in the two halves of the draw, went home without playing the deciding match.

Colorado won the doubles after a gruelling battle in the final round. Wells and Scott, the Colorado combination, defeated Gibbs and Little in a five-set match, the last set of which went to 11/9. Victory in the doubles would give Colorado the edge, according to intercollegiate rules in the East, though no such ruling has been agreed to by the Western institutions.

Dual meets marked the collegiate programme in the autumn. Three of these meets were held. Colorado College defeated the State University, five matches to one, losing only the No. 1 doubles. University of Colorado, in turn, won from University of Denver and the Missouri School of Mines by decisive scores.

1, C. S. Garland, Pittsburgh, Metropolitan Junior Champion; 2, Harold Throckmorton, New Jersey, National Interscholastic Champion.

THE TWO MOST PROMINENT JUNIOR PLAYERS IN THE EAST.

Interscholastic Championships

Eight players contested for the interscholastic championship, held in connection with the national championship on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, L. I., beginning September 1. The title narrowed down to a contest between Harold A. Throckmorton, Princeton, and Charles S. Garland, Yale, and the former won in a four-set match. It was good tennis all the way through. Throckmorton's strength lay in his comparative steadiness. He did not sacrifice everything for speed. Garland was prepared for speed, but not for steadiness, and it took a little time for him to adapt himself to the changed conditions. The summary :

Western Interscholastic Championships

BY A. H. LAWSON.

The annual tournament for the Western interscholastic championships, held under the auspices of the University of Chicago, proved to be the best junior tournament ever held in the West. There were 104 entries, representing over thirty schools, and by good management the tournament was completed in three days. The players made a splendid showing, and it is predicted that some of them will give a good account of themselves in future events. Pike, a University High School boy, who is only fifteen years old, sprung a surprise when he eliminated Swift of the Evans School, Mesa, Ariz., in the singles semifinals. McKay of the Evanston High School defeated Pike in the final, 7/5, 6/4, 6/1. Carver and Terhune, Hyde Park High School, won the doubles championship by defeating McLaughlin and Fox of Lane High School. The summaries :

NEWPORT INVITATION TOURNAMENT.

Newport Invitation Tournament

The first annual invitation tournament at Newport, R. I., was held on the Newport Casino courts, beginning August 16, and was an unqualified success. There were only fifty entries, but among these were most of the high-class players of the country. The tournament was marked by splendid weather, excellent management, and courts that were as near perfect as could be.

As generally predicted, the final round of the singles brought together Richard Norris Williams, 2nd, and Maurice E. McLoughlin, and after four well-fought sets Williams was returned the victor. Williams lost the first set through errors, and in the other three he was clearly the better man. This superiority was manifest in the third and especially in the fourth set. Williams was confident throughout, while McLoughlin knew that his strokes were not going properly, and was plainly disturbed over the matter.

There were eighteen teams entered in the doubles event, the finalists being C. J. Griffin and W. M. Johnston against R. N. Williams, 2nd, and W. M. Washburn. The former dropped the third set, but won the first, second and fourth and the match. The victors' team work was better than their opponents', and they made fewer mistakes. Washburn was appreciably below his form and made many almost inexcusable errors. Yet with all this they gave the Californians a good fight, and there were times when it seemed as if they might draw level and provide a five-set match. The summaries:

Seabright Invitation Tournament

Richard Norris Williams, 2nd, as in 1914, won the Achelis Cup, a handsome trophy donated by the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club to the winner of singles in the annual invitation tournament. Last season's tournament was opened on August 8, and altogether was highly successful.

Karl H. Behr got to the final round of the singles and there met Maurice E. McLoughlin and defeated him in straight sets. He next challenged Williams and lost to him in four sets. McLoughlin and Ward Dawson, paired in the doubles, won rather a hollow victory from Leonard Beekman and L. E. Mahan.

The match between Behr and McLoughlin was sensational. At first Behr was winning, but it seemed to be almost certain that he could not stand the pace, but resting between points gave him strength. He did not get any worse after the middle of the match, for this did not seem possible; but at no time did he come anywhere near reaching a normal condition. He gave a magnificent exhibition of high and horizontal volleying, and it was a rare thing for any of his volleys to come back.

McLoughlin was but a shadow of himself. There was nothing aggressive or speedy about his game and his errors bulked big. There were occasional flashes of the old McLoughlin, of course, but they merely served to emphasize the temporary decline manifested in his play. The gallery scarcely knew what to make of it all. The idea of the mighty McLoughlin being defeated could scarcely be entertained, and when it became certain that such a calamity was impending they were stunned.

In the challenge round Williams started slowly and rather uncertainly. But once he warmed to his work he had command of the situation and hit with great speed and accuracy. Behr was not playing as well as against McLoughlin the day before. Williams, however, kept the balls close to the ground and did not give Behr an opportunity to "whale" them. Furthermore, Williams almost never lobbed, and Behr was thus deprived of the opportunity to get in his powerful volleys of this shot. Unquestionably Behr was affected by his tremendous match of Friday, and he did not have the speed of foot that he exhibited against McLoughlin. But when he did rush the net he was frequently passed, or, if not passed, had to meet powerful shots that were exceedingly difficult to handle effectively. He fully equaled Williams in battles at the net, and several times got the advantage in fast rallies. The summaries:

Sleepy Hollow Invitation Tournament

BY W. B. MAHONY.

The spring tournament of the Sleepy Hollow Country Club, at Scarborough-Hudson, has undoubtedly taken its place as the leading invitation event held on clay courts, and stands in the same relative position as the tournaments at Newport, Seabright and Southampton for turf courts.

Following the inauguration of the fixture in 1914, when R. Lindley Murray won his real introduction to Eastern notice, through defeats of such leaders as Alexander, Hall and Behr in the final day's play, it is interesting to find that the entries for the 1915 tournament, beginning May 17, included every member residing in the Metropolitan district, ranked among the "Forty Immortals" in this country.

A challenge bowl, replica of a gold Greek cup, was established by the governors of the club, this trophy to be inscribed with the name of the winner in singles, and to become the property of the player who won the tournament three times. There were thirty-two entered in the singles and sixteen pairs in the doubles, and hereafter the entries will be held within these limits.

The schedule provided for a week's play, to end on Saturday, May 22. Due to rain, however, the finals were postponed, so that Karl Behr participated to the extent of an exhibition match with Touchard. Owing to the cold weather during the tournament the gallery was cut down, so that a request will be made to the National Association to set aside the week ending with Memorial Day as a permanent annual fixture for this event.

T. R. Pell, after disposing of Dionne and Merrill Hall, was compelled, by an engagement to play at Tuxedo, to default to Touchard, and for the same reason Inman, after winning from C. M. Bull, Jr., and Cedric Major, defaulted to Alexander. Dean Mathey, after dropping the first set, at 6/4, to Harold Throckmorton, put the youthful expert out of the running and then took the measure of Le Roy, at 6/3, 6/3. Watson Washburn won from Halsey Wood and Alrick Man, Jr., but succumbed to Alexander by the score of 6/4, 2/6, 6/3. King Smith won a close battle from Lovibond by the score of 7/5, 6/3, and Graves had an easy win from Thurber, at 6/0, 6/3. Alexander won rather easily from Voshell, at 6/2, 6/1, and then outplayed the Englishman, Andrews, at 6/1, 6/1. Touchard, after playing rather uncertainly against Cushman, Tallant and Mathey, reached the top of his game in his final match with Alexander, which he won after a hard fight, with the brilliant tennis of which he is sometimes capable, by the score of 1/6, 6/4, 6/2, 12/10.

The final set to determine the winner of the honor of being the first whose name would be inscribed upon the challenge bowl was fiercely fought, and some of the most sensational tennis ever witnessed brought enthusiastic applause from the gallery. Touchard, playing in deadly earnest, pulled off shots little short of marvelous, and landed the set, match and tournament.

In the doubles, Le Roy and Mathey went through the field, defeating, in succession, Bull and Thurber, Major and Man, and, after accepting a default from Hall and King Smith, who had previously defeated Pell and Inman, came to the finals with the famous players Hackett and Alexander, who had won from Graves and Lovibond, the schoolboy combination, Throckmorton and Dunham, and the indoor champions, Touchard and Washburn, all in straight sets. Before the largest gallery of the week, the former National doubles champions went to defeat before the heavy attack of Le Roy and Mathey. The latter performed brilliantly overhead and, backed by his partner's capable ground strokes, won the first set, at 7/5. After gaining a lead, at 4/2 and 5/4, with 40-love, in the second set, Le Roy and Mathey gave way before the veterans, who won, at 8/6. The effort of the older pair, however, proved their undoing, for the last set went to the more youthful combination, at love.

The umpiring was skillfully handled by Messrs. Conlin and Cunningham, who acted in similar capacities at the Nationals, held later at Forest Hills, and F. M. B. Fisher of Wellington, New Zealand, who was one of Anthony Wilding's closest friends. Walter B. Mahony, chairman of the tennis committee, acted as referee of the tournament. The summaries:

Cotton States Championship.—Ideal weather and a large entry list favored the tournament for the Cotton States championship, held on the clay courts of the Birmingham (Ala.) Country Club, July 19 to 24. For the first time Carleton Y. Smith triumphed in the singles event, and thus obtained permanent possession of the championship cup. Partnered by Vernon McMillan of Atlanta, Smith won the doubles after a hard five-set match. The summaries: Men's singles—First round—H. P. Hanna d. Dr. Sanford, 4/6, 6/2, 6/1; Anglin White d. Lawn Tennis Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania Tournament.—The tenth annual tournament of this association, held on the courts of the Wanango Country Club, Reno, Pa., August 9 to 13, brought out some excellent tennis and was greatly enjoyed. The commodious new Wanango Club offered good accommodations to visitors, and the four courts were in prime condition, though rain threatened from time to time. Wellington E. Weidler of Oil City, as expected, won the singles, though he had to extend himself at times in the final round to defeat Wilmer I. Rehr, Jr., also of Oil City, who is a young player of great promise. The scores were 7/5, 8/6, 6/4. Paired with Dennison W. Grant of Franklin, Weidler also captured the doubles, defeating W. I. Rehr, Jr., and J. W. Ray, both of Oil City, in a thrilling five-set match in the final round, 6/4, 10/12, 1/6, 6/4, 6/3. R. C. Lawn Tennis in the Metropolis

Metropolitan Championships

BY EDMUND W. PUTNAM.

The annual tournament for the Metropolitan championships had, previous to 1915, always been held at the West Side Tennis Club. Last season, however, the competition was shifted to the courts of the Bronxville Athletic Association, at Bronxville, just outside of New York. Some fear was expressed that this removal from the metropolitan center might seriously affect the number of entries, but a list of seventy-nine names in the singles and twenty pairs in the doubles, comprising nearly every well rated player within comfortable reach of New York, completely dispelled any anxiety on this point.

Tennis Courts of the Bronxville Athletic Association, scene of the Metropolitan Championships, 1915.

That the innovation proved in fact a most successful one, was due in large part to the efforts of the members of the home club, who lent every assistance possible to demonstrate that a small suburban club could run off this important tournament with an efficiency well comparable to that always displayed by that monarch of tennis clubs, the West Side. Two of the members in particular were responsible for the general satisfaction which was expressed by the players. William Bagley, the president, devoted every day for nearly three weeks to a supervision of the resurfacing of the courts, that these might be as nearly perfect as possible, and to the arrangements necessary for the players' comfort and convenience. J. L. Robertson, Jr., the referee, spent much time beforehand and the whole of the tournament week to the organizing and directing of a staff of umpires and officials recruited from the club members. This management carried through the tournament absolutely on schedule time, despite two rainy afternoons.

Watson M. Washburn, for the second time, won the singles, and the team of Harold H. Hackett and W. Merrill Hall annexed the doubles.

1, Miss Florence Ballin, a prominent player of the West Side Tennis Club of New York; 2, Mrs. Barger-Wallach, who has done much for tennis in the East; 3, Mrs. Rawson Wood, a well-known Eastern expert.

The first and second round matches were, with one exception, won in straight sets and, for the most part, rather easily. B. M. Phillips defeated Ralph Baggs, 6/3, 6/4, in a match that was closer than the score shows. Hartman and Ostendorf indulged in a real battle in the second round, the former upsetting expectations and winning, 6/1, 9/7. The playing of C. E. Gleason against Dr. Rosenbaum occasioned some surprise, and drew the best gallery of the day. Rosenbaum, after losing the first set, drew upon his greater court experience and won out, 5/7, 6/2, 6/3. In the Inman and Arthur Cragin match the latter played in good form and for a time it seemed possible that he would win, but Inman's vicious left-hand service was working extremely well, and his accuracy in killing at the net was too deadly. The Washburn and Dionne match was a revelation of steadiness. Dionne led in the first set, 5/3, but Washburn from then on followed to the net and ran out the match comfortably.

On the following day Bassford, playing against Inman, lobbed, as usual, so successfully that Inman was forced to his best tennis. The latter's steadiness overhead and his sharp cross-court volleys gave him the match, 10/8, 6/4. In this round much interest was shown in the Beekman and Throckmorton set-to, the terrific speed of both youngsters contrasting with the more careful play of many of the older entrants. Beekman's superior control gave him his bracket handily at 6/2, 6/4. "Vandy" Ward and Hartman also engaged in a hard driving match, being interrupted by rain, with a score of one set-all. On the following day Ward won the third set with no great difficulty.

The Beekman and Inman match in the fifth round was by far the most interesting in the tournament and kept a large gallery in delighted suspense. The veteran was picked to win, but young Beekman, playing with great steadiness and, at times, with brilliancy, pulled out the first set, 8/6, after having seen the score posted four games to one against him. Inman seemed to tire in the second set and the Princeton boy took the match, 8/6, 6/1.

Neither of the semi-finals were the exciting contests they promised to be. Beekman, playing Le Roy, seemed over-anxious and showed none of the tennis he had displayed the previous day. The pretty shots, just dropping the ball over the net, and the sharp cross-courting, which had proved of such value against Inman, would not work. Le Roy's passing was speedy and sure, but it was Beekman's errors which gave the older man his final round bracket, 6/2, 6/4.

The Ward and Washburn match was a real disappointment. The gallery looked forward to watching again the whirlwind drives of the youthful "south-paw," but, after starting wildly, Ward discarded speed entirely and tried to meet Washburn at the latter's old deep, placing game. Washburn won the first set by sound backcourt play, but in the second, erred so frequently that Ward took the set, 6/2. The third set was a case of "one was scared and t'other dassen't," for whichever went to the net was promptly passed. Washburn was just a bit steadier and won, 7/5.

In the final round, Washburn's steady deep driving mastered his opponent easily for two sets. In the third set LeRoy braced and took the lead at 4/2. Washburn picked up the next three games and, though LeRoy deuced the set, ran out at 7/5. LeRoy's unsteady service cost him many points, often at the critical moment.

The doubles ran true to prophecy, Hackett and Hall coming through with comfortable ease. The only real struggle for them was the first set of the final, against Lovibond and Steinkampf, and this brought out exceedingly good and very close tennis, the former pair just pulling out the set at 10/8. The losers being broken by the loss of this exhausting set were able to take but three games in the second set and none in the third. Summaries:

Metropolitan Women's Championships

In the tournament for the Metropolitan women's championships, held at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, L. I., beginning May 10, Miss Molla Bjurstedt won the singles title, succeeding Mrs. Edward Raymond, who was not represented in the tournament. The victory of the Norwegian girl was well deserved, for she defeated Mrs. A. G. Miles, Mrs. Barger Wallach and Mrs. Marshall McLean.

In the final round of the doubles fine team work and unusual steadiness enabled Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Miles to sweep Miss Bjurstedt and Miss Florence Ballin from their path.

The mixed doubles brought out a classy field, but owing to postponements, due to rain, the final round was not played until May 26, at the Morristown Field Club. Miss Bjurstedt and F. C. Inman won, after dropping the first set. The summaries:

Bronx Championships

Vanderbilt Ward opened the Metropolitan season with a clean-cut victory in the Bronx County championship tournament, held by the Bedford Park Tennis Club, beginning May 8. The tournament attracted a large entry, and the class was good.

S. H. Voshell, a previous holder of the title, was expected to make a close fight for the honor again, but he was defeated in surprising style by J. H. Steinkampf in the semi-final round. The victor, however, could make but little headway against Ward in the final round, who won in easy fashion, 6/2, 6/1, 6/3.

The final of the doubles was not decided until a month later, when W. C. Grant and B. M. Phillips defeated A. J. Ostendorf and Dr. William Rosenbaum in a five-set match. The summaries:

West Side Tennis Club Women's Championships

The West Side Tennis Club's championships for women, played at the Forest Hills, L. I., grounds of the club in May, attracted a large field, the players being divided into classes according to the skill of the contestants. Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the distinguished Norwegian player, who became a member of the club since taking up her residence in New York, carried off the singles honors in Class A by defeating Mrs. Marshall McLean in two straight sets, the last one being closely fought. In the doubles, however, Miss Bjurstedt, paired with Miss Florence Ballin, was defeated in an interesting three-set match. The summaries:

Mixed Doubles Tournament

The mixed doubles tournament played in conjunction with the national championship at the West Side Tennis Club, brought out a notable field of women players, no fewer than six of the sixteen engaged having been national champions or ex-champions. It was arranged that the winners in the invitation singles, held on the courts of the Rockaway Hunting Club, at Cedarhurst, should have the first choice of the men players for the mixed event, and the winner of the singles, Mrs. Wightman, selected her husband as a partner, while Miss Bjurstedt, the runner-up, chose Irving C. Wright. Neither of these teams, however, reached the finals.

Mrs. George Chapman and George M. Church were the ultimate winners of the tournament, and they put up a strong game. Perhaps their closest match was in the second round against Miss Clare Cassel and Clarence J. Griffin; but in the finals the result hung on a thread until the last stroke was played. They met Miss Marie Wagner and W. Merrill Hall, and after winning a love set, lost the second almost as easily by 6/1. The deciding set was fought out amidst great excitement right up to the last point, but Church was everywhere about the court, and Mrs. Chapman supported him well, camping at the net and volleying finely. The summaries:

Sullivan County (N. Y.) Championships

W. Halsey Wood, captain of the New York Lawn Tennis Club team, won his second leg on the Frederick B. Alexander challenge cup in the tournament for the Sullivan County championship, held on the courts of the Merriwold Tennis Club, Merriwold, N. Y., during the week of August 9. Alfred Shriver, the Williams College expert, won his way to the final round by an exhibition of sterling tennis, but in his match with W. Halsey Wood he went down to defeat in straight sets.

Wood and W. C. de Mille each have two legs on the challenge cup, and the meeting of this pair in 1916 for permanent possession of the trophy is bound to furnish a rare and exciting battle.

The final round in the doubles brought forth the finest exhibition of tennis ever witnessed on the Merriwold courts. F. B. Alexander and William J. Clarke of the West Side Tennis Club, New York, were pitted against the brothers Wood, W. Halsey and A. H. The former pair swept everything before them in the first two sets, but in the third the Wood brothers adopted the reverse formation which their older opponents had used throughout the match, and at a time when they seemed doomed to defeat, by taking a series of desperate chances, pulled out the set and won at 7/5. After the intermission they played with greater confidence and, with almost perfect team play, won the final two sets and championship. The heat was terrific, and the veterans tired perceptibly toward the close of the match. The summaries:

Massachusetts State Championship

George P. Gardner, Jr., of Boston supplanted Nat W. Niles as Massachusetts champion, in the annual tournament held on the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club, beginning June 12. Good weather prevailed throughout the competition, and the matches were run off in good order.

The final match between Gardner and A. S. Dabney brought out some fine tennis. After losing two sets, the latter held on gamely through the third and was rewarded by finally capturing it after a deuce struggle, 9/7. When play was resumed for the fourth set, however, it was apparent that the effort in the third had exhausted Dabney, and he was never dangerous in the last set, which went to Gardner, 6/2.

The challenge round was even more drawn out than the final, and it was anybody's victory up to the very last stroke played. Gardner won the first set, but Niles took the second and third after deuce had been called. With two sets to one against him, however, the challenger never faltered, and he went into the fourth set with as much determination as ever, finally evening up the score. The fifth and deciding set found both men distinctly tired and the play slowed up in consequence. Gardner seemed the steadier at the critical points, and after several exciting climaxes he took the set, 6/4, and with it the match and championship title. The summaries:

As was the case in 1914, the final round produced an exciting five-set struggle. Wright and Johnson went through all of their earlier matches without the loss of a set, but in the final they met J. W. Foster and R. M. Currier, and

Rhode Island State Championships

Russell N. Dana won the singles and Josiah Wheelwright and H. Greenough the doubles in the tournament for the Rhode Island State championships, held on the courts of the Agawam Hunt Club, Providence, during the week of August 9. The final round of singles brought Dana and B. C. Law together, but the match was disappointing. After the second set, which he won, Law never was in the running. On the other hand, Dana played a cool, medical, back court game, and took advantage of every error made by his opponent. Wheelwright and Greenough clearly earned their victory in the doubles event. The summaries:

New York State Championships

William S. McElroy of Pittsburgh, Pa., was the premier performer at the New York State championship tournament, which was held on the courts of the Yahnundasis Golf Club, Utica, N. Y., from July 3 to 10. He not only won the singles, defeating F. C. Inman in the final round, but took the doubles as well, with C. S. Garland, also of Pittsburgh, as a partner.

The tournament, which was transferred from the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn, was a complete success. The singles brought out an entry list of seventy players, while there were twenty-two players in the doubles. There were no women's events, but instead there were exhibitions given by Miss Molla Bjurstedt and Miss Florence Ballin.

The out-of-town entry list included Fred. C. Inman, a former New York State title holder; Fred. H. Harris, a former winner of the Central New York title; Irving C. Wright and A. W. Merriam of Boston; William S. McElroy, Charles S. Garland and Herbert Lytle of Pittsburgh; Vanderbilt B. Ward, Dr. William Rosenbaum, Arthur Cragin and Paul Treanor of New York city; W. T. Tilden, Jr., H. M. Tilden and Sidney Thayer, Jr., of Philadelphia; A. J. Veysey of Montreal; A. M. Richards, the Wesleyan crack; Homer Guernsey of Poughkeepsie; A. H. Allen of Hoosick Falls, N. Y.; Paul Sheldon of Hartford; Albert T. Spaulding and Howard Bissell of Buffalo, and H. C. Harrison of Montclair, N. J.

The final round of singles played July 10 was somewhat of an anti-climax. McElroy was right on edge, while Inman was feeling the effects of two hard matches the day before. The younger player showed sound judgment in playing his opponent safe and forcing him to do the leading. Inman tried to do this in the first set, but he found McElroy always equal to the emergency. At 5-all the Pittsburgher broke away and ran out the set. The next two were easy for him. He worked just hard enough to get the lead and keep it. His shots had both pace and direction and he passed Inman repeatedly as the latter came to the net. It was the second meeting of the two men, McElroy having won at Buffalo in 1912.

There was nothing very exciting in the early rounds of the doubles event. In the third round Richards and Veysey made a good fight against Inman and Wright, the latter pair winning in two close sets. Merriam and Sheldon held Ward and Rosenbaum to 5-all in the first set and then the latter pair drew away. The other third round matches went much the same way—close for a set and then rather one-sided. Both the semi-final round matches were well contested and interesting.

There was plenty of good and bad tennis in the final round. McElroy and Garland used their heads better than their opponents and were less liable to be ruffled when things went wrong for them; and in the pinches they stood the strain better than Ward and Rosenbaum. They lobbed a lot and nearly all of the lobs were short and could have been summarily dealt with. But Rosenbaum was hopelessly off in his overhead work, and this seemed to affect Ward also, the Pittsburgh pair winning in a five-set match. The summaries:

Pennsylvania State Championships

In the tournament for the Pennsylvania State championships, held on the courts of the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford, Pa., during the week of June 14, Joseph J. Armstrong won the honors in the singles, and Wallace F. Johnson and A. D. Thayer in the doubles. In the absence of R. N. Williams, 2nd, the 1914 champion, there was no challenge round, and the title went to Armstrong by default.

In the final round of the singles, Armstrong defeated Johnson in a stubbornly contested four-set match. The victor played consistently to Johnson's backhand, with the result that the latter ran around everything he could. But it was Armstrong's volleying, coupled with Johnson's erratic overhead play, that won the battle for Armstrong.

Johnson and Thayer defeated Dr. E. S. Dewhurst and J. R. Carpenter, Jr.,

in the final round of the doubles, but the veterans put up a great fight and pressed the title holders more closely than any pair they had met on their way to the championship. The summaries:

West Virginia State Championships

BY ED. O. BOWER.

The tenth annual invitation tennis tournament for the championship of West Virginia opened on Monday, August 9, with a classy entry of forty players, on the clay courts of the Parkersburg Country Club, Parkersburg, W. Va.

The tennis was of a high order throughout the tournament, and deserving of special mention was the splendid form displayed by T. McK. Cummins of Wheeling, the former Cornell captain, who played through to the finals without the loss of a set, and, partnered with Arthur Ebbert, also of Wheeling, won the doubles title.

R. A. Johnson, last year's singles champion, was looked upon by many to be one of the finalists, but lost in the semi-finals to Hugus of Wheeling, after having won the first set at 6/1 and holding a lead of 4/0 in the second, which was finally won by the Wheeling player at 8/6, and also the deciding set at 6/3. Hugus, however, in the finals was unable to make any headway against the American twist service and the excellent court work of Cummins, and succumbed in straight sets.

The doubles produced a number of surprises, one of which was the defeat of Beattie and Hugus of Wheeling, last year's champions, by Barron Hall and Langdon White of Parkersburg in the second round, after a hard fought match, 7/5, 1/6 and 7/5. By excellent team work and steady playing the Parkersburg players won their place in the final bracket, only to lose to Cummins and Ebbert in another stubbornly contested match, which went the limit of five sets. Florida State Championships, 1915

The sixth annual tournament for the championships of Florida, played at the Palm Beach Tennis Club, beginning February 27, 1915, was the most successful in the history of the competition. George M. Church, who had obtained a leg on the handsome cup presented by Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, came through the tournament after close matches with Irving C. Wright and J. D. E. Jones, and earned the right to challenge Theodore R. Pell, who had two legs on the cup. This encounter resulted in a brilliant five-set match, which Church won.

Church scored in the doubles also. Paired with Fred C. Inman, the combination proved a little too strong for Pell and Irving Wright, defeating them in straight sets. The women's singles went to Mrs. Barger-Wallach, and she also won the doubles, with Miss Mary Snyder as a partner. Mrs. Rawson Wood and Church took the mixed doubles. The summaries:

Georgia State Championships

The eleventh Georgia State championships were held on the five clay courts of the Piedmont Driving Club, Atlanta, beginning September 6, the tournament having been changed from August 16, the committee thinking that perhaps more out-of-town entries might be secured on the latter date. The singles had thirty-two entries and the doubles fourteen teams, the women's singles having seven entries, this event being substituted in place of the mixed doubles. There were five first class out-of-town entries, the principal ones being Nat Thornton from Murray Cross, Ala., and Ralph E. Racey of Palm Beach, Fla.

It was the most successful State championship ever held at the driving club, there being from 200 to 300 spectators every afternoon, and a better class of tennis being exhibited than during the two previous years that it has been held at this club.

The singles championship was won by Carleton Y. Smith of Atlanta, after a stubbornly fought five-set contest with his fellow-townsmen, Nat Thornton. The day was one of the warmest of the whole summer, the humidity being very high. The first set went to Thornton in easy style, 6/2, and the second one at 6/4, after Smith had a lead of 3/1. The next three sets and match, however, went to Smith.

By his victory Smith obtained permanent possession of the State championship cup in singles, which has been in play for thirteen years, with the exception of two years, when the tournament was not held. The cup has inscribed upon it the names of Dr. Carl Little of Cincinnati, Ohio; Reuben Hunt of Pasadena, Cal.; Clarence V. Angier, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga.; Eden Taylor of Macon, Ga., in which city the tournament was originally held; Nat Thornton, C. Y. Smith, and E. V. Carter, Jr., of Atlanta. Smith won the cup in 1913, 1914 and 1915.

Grant and Thornton won the doubles championship from Orr and Carter, after each team had won two sets and after two postponements. In the women's singles, Miss Katherine Crandall defeated Miss May O'Brien in a well played three-set match. The summaries:

Indiana State Championships

BY THOMAS A. HENDRICKS.

The appearance of a large number of promising youngsters was the one encouraging feature to relieve the general aspect of mediocre tennis at the Indiana State tournament, held at Indianapolis the week of July 11. The local veterans showed no improvement in their form over that of previous years, Will Fleet of Culver being the only Hoosier to reach the semi-finals. In the final round Charles Garland, the sixteen-year-old Pittsburgh star, had little trouble in disposing of N. W. Swayne of Philadelphia, who up to this point had proved invincible.

Thirteen new comers in tennis circles raised hopes that Indiana may at some time have a player of national reputation. All thirteen are boys ranging from seventeen years down to Rice and Cox, the twelve-year-old team. These lads are avoiding the old Indiana failing of sticking to the backline, and are perfectly willing to fight it out at the net, win or lose. The next few years should bring several of the following to a point where they can hope to successfully cope with real stars. These boys are Billy Ervin, Cotton, Koehler, Porter Seidensticker, the Bastian and Cox brothers, Freddy Gignilliat, Johnny Hennessey, Tweed Bornstein, Meyer, Kahn, Gordon Rice, and Cox.

There were no startling changes in the women's tournament. Mrs. I. Watt Pugh defended her title successfully. The summaries:

Wisconsin State Championships

By DR. N. A. GODDARD.

DR. N. A. GODDARD.

Heath T. Byford of Chicago won the singles without much difficulty and, paired with R. N. Hamilton of Milwaukee, romped away with the doubles, not losing a set, in the twenty-eighth annual tennis tournament held at the Town Club, Milwaukee. Miss Neely, Western champion, took the women's singles and, with her partner, Miss Steever, won the doubles. Miss Waldo and G. Maxon, Jr., won the mixed doubles.

The tournament was held during the week of August 16, the women's and mixed doubles finals running over until Tuesday, the 24th, while the men's finals were played on the 21st. The weather was ideal until the 24th, when a cold snap set in and the wind blew across the courts, causing much inaccuracy.

In the men's singles Byford came through to the final, losing only one set to Maxon in the semi-finals. Hamilton came through the lower half, meeting Douglas Weller in the semi-finals and downing him in three straight sets, all of which were close. This was one of the feature matches of the tournament, and Hamilton was compelled to extend himself to win.

The first two sets of the final were Byford's without much difficulty. In the third, after having the match apparently in his grasp at 5/1, Byford took a sudden slump and Hamilton, driving deadily and taking everything over head for a "kill" ran the set out at 8/6. The fourth set bid fair to be a repetition of the third, Byford holding Hamilton at 5/2, when the latter took a brace, boosting the score to 5-all, at which point Byford broke through and scored the match on his own service.

The doubles proved less interesting, Alfred Weller and G. Maxon, Jr., coming through their half, met Hamilton and Byford in the final. The first two sets were all Byford and Hamilton, but the third showed Weller and Maxon at their best. The latter, however, after having the set at 5/1 by out-volleying their opponents, lost their stride and threw the set at 7/5.

Miss Carrie B. Neely met a difficult proposition in Miss Martha Charles in the early rounds of the women's singles. Hard cross-court drives, taken from the high bounding returns of Miss Neely, almost proved the latter's undoing. However, Miss Neely's steadiness won her the match at 4/6, 6/4, 7/5. Miss Neely met Mrs. Miller of Chicago in the final. The court was damp and the air cold and windy. The match was Miss Neely's all the way through and she won at 6/3, 6/2.

Miss Neely and Miss Steever in the doubles had difficulty only in the final, where they met Miss Charles and Miss Miller. The match brought out some unusually clever close net work and lobbing, but after the first set the match was easily taken by Miss Neely and Miss Steever, 4/6, 6/1, 6/2.

The final of the mixed doubles brought Miss Charles and R. N. Hamilton and Miss Waldo and G. Maxon, Jr., together. Both teams had an easy way to the decisive match. The women proved quite efficient in handling drives, but seemed unable to cope with the men's "twist" service. The match was close all the way through, Miss Waldo and Maxon finally winning at 7/5, 4/6, 6/4.

Spencer had difficulty in getting started against Gibbs in the men's consolation singles. The former won, however, at 5/7, 10/12, 6/4, 7/5, 6/2. Sloss and Neilson took the consolation doubles, and Miss Amanda Falker, former State champion, won the women's consolation singles.

This is the first time in the history of the State competition that the women's tournament has been held in conjunction with the men's. The addition of mixed doubles was also made. From the standpoint of all contestants the tournament was a complete success. The foot-fault rule was held to in the best possible spirit. Summaries:

Illinois State Championships

By A. H. LAWSON.

Heath Byford won the singles title and Byford and Alex. Squair the doubles honors in the tournament for the Illinois State championships held on the turf courts of the Wanderers Tennis Club of Chicago, beginning July 17. The largest entry in the history of the event was received, and it proved to be one of the most interesting tournaments ever held under the auspices of the Wanderers Club. The courts were in fine condition in spite of the somewhat unsatisfactory tennis weather during the season. Upsets and reversals were frequent.

Probably the biggest surprise was the defeat of Walter Hayes, in the fourth round, by A. J. Lindauer, former University of Chicago interscholastic champion. Hayes had been playing excellent tennis up to this time, but the low bounds on the turf courts and the strong wind seemed to bother him. Lindauer played with confidence, and while Hayes won the first, a deuce set, Lindauer took the upper hand in the second and, by clever playing, won the second and third sets by low scores.

The following day Byford defeated Lindauer, 6/1, 6/1, and Alex. Squair showed some of his last year's form by defeating Jerry Weber, 6/1, 6/3; Burdick defeated Gifford, 8/6, 6/0, and C. G. Hill, former Yale player, caused another sensation by defeating Al Green, Michigan State champion, in straight sets.

The closest contest of the tournament occurred in the semi-finals, when Byford and Squair met in a long five-set match. Squair started off with a dash, taking the first two sets, but Byford played a steady, consistent game throughout, and by clever volleying, deep lobbing and drives close to the side lines, overcame Squair's lead and won the match.

The singles final round was decided before a good-sized gallery. Playing a consistent game, with a reliance on lobs, Byford got off to a fine start. He won the first two sets, 6/1, 6/1. Burdick, on the other hand, seemed nervous and over-anxious, and not until the third set did he show any of the good tennis he is capable of playing. However, this spurt came too late, and Byford won the last and deciding set, 9/7.

The doubles matches turned out as fans, who had been watching previous tournaments, expected they would. The fourth round brought out such well-known teams as Hayes and Burdick, James and James, Carver and Evans, Byford and Squair, and Jerry Weber and Al Green, Jr. Probably the most exciting contest of the round was when Gifford and Ketchum, after a hard struggle, defeated Weber and Green in a closely fought four-set match, 9/7, 10/8, 2/6, 6/3. In the semi-final round Hayes and Burdick defeated James and James, the Northwestern University stars, 6/3, 6/2, 6/3. Byford and Squair, who were showing much better form than in previous tournaments, trimmed Gifford and Ketchum, 7 9, 6 3, 6 3, 7 5. In the final round Byford and Squair met their old rivals, Hayes and Burdick. The latter team had defeated Byford and Squair twice before during the season in tournaments held on clay courts. On the grass courts, however, Byford and Squair seemed to play better tennis, and won in a five-set match.

The women's singles was won by Miss C. B. Neely, who, in order to do so, was forced to defeat Miss Voorhees, Central West women's champion; Mrs. Edward H. Brewer, and Mrs. McNeil, city champion.

Miss Lee and Miss Voorhees won the doubles championship by defeating Miss Neely and Mrs. Cudahy. The summaries:

Iowa State Championships

Walter T. Hayes of Chicago won the Iowa State championship in singles at the tournament held on the Golf and Country Club courts, Des Moines, during the week of August 16. In the doubles, however, Hayes and B. O. M. Bonebrake were defeated in the final round by J. S. Cannon and A. L. Lindauer in a five-set match. The summaries:

Colorado State Championships

Colorado's 1915 tennis tournament, held on the courts of the Denver Country Club during the week of August 30, saw the passing of the famous Walsh trophy cup, the goal of singles players in the State for the past eight years. T. Brook Townsend, Jr., took the championship for the third successive time, and is now owner of the cup, which has been held since 1908 by six different players, namely, Charles Graham, Don Harker, Clarence P. Dodge, Walter S. Andrews, John W. Morey and T. B. Townsend, Jr.

Townsend accomplished the remarkable feat of winning the three championships with the loss of only two sets, one in 1914 and one in 1915.

In the final round of the 1915 tournament the champion defeated the veteran Don Harker, also twice holder of the cup. Townsend held a safe lead all the way and, though losing the third set, was in little danger of dropping the match. He took the first two sets with the loss of only three games. Then Harker braced and ran out, 6/1. Townsend came back stronger than ever and captured the final set at love.

The two semi-final matches were played on Labor Day, before a large and enthusiastic gallery. Townsend won handily in his bracket, defeating Richard Scott, city champion, in straight sets. Harker won only after a hard battle with A. B. Bowen, another of the veteran players of the State.

The early rounds were marked by many close matches, among them the defeat of Harry Koch, Nebraska champion, by Scott, and Harker's victory over Scribner, Koch's teammate.

Townsend, paired with Morrison Shafroth, added to his glory by winning the doubles title. A consistent smashing game carried the pair to victory by a safe margin. In the final round they won easily from Berrien Hughes and Kennedy, a mixed team representing Denver and Omaha.

The real battle in the doubles came in the semi-final round when the champions defeated Harker and Bob Wellington in four close sets.

Good weather, except for two days of rain, marked the progress of the tournament, and the committee in charge, headed by Tyson Dines, Jr., made all arrangements so efficiently that the event was a splendid success in every way. The summaries:

New Mexico State Championships

N. A. Ferguson of El Paso, Tex., repeated his success of 1914 by winning the singles championship of New Mexico, and with his partner, Paul E. Jette, captured the doubles also, thus giving them two legs on the Roswell cups. Mrs. Thurston of El Paso won the women's singles and paired with Mrs. Mulliken, also of El Paso, took the doubles.

The tournament was held at Roswell, N. M., beginning September 6. There were four new events, and this fact, together with the twelve cups given outright, not including three challenge cups, brought out a large and classy entry. The summaries:

Idaho State Championships

The seventh annual Idaho State tennis tournament was held on the grounds of the Lewiston Country Club, at Lewiston, beginning June 23 and ending June 26. While enthusiasm over the tournament seemed to be at a higher pitch than ever before, the entry list was the smallest in the last five years.

The chief event of interest was the final in men's singles between Alfred Kettenbach and William Maxwell Wood, both of Lewiston, the former winning after four keenly contested sets. In the challenge round, however, he was defeated by Joseph C. Tyler of Spokane in straight sets. In the doubles, Tyler and Kettenbach defeated Gray and Wood in four sets. The summaries:

Washington State Championships

By H. C. FORCE, SEATTLE.

After the notices for the twenty-fifth annual tournament for the championships of the State of Washington had been sent out, the Seattle Tennis Club was notified that two of the courts would be taken away for building purposes. In this emergency the Seattle Athletic Club generously offered the use of its courts at Blakistone Field, on the shore of Lake Washington, and the change in location added to the pleasure of the spectators at the tournament.

The entry list, though not quite so large as that in 1914, was higher in quality, as with the exception of the British Columbia contingent, the decrease was almost entirely from the ranks of the poorer players. Tacoma and Portland were, as usual, well represented, and California had H. V. D. Johns, the 1914 champion. Joseph Tyler, who started his tennis career in Seattle, but years ago moved to Spokane, came over and helped make the tournament a success.

In the upper half of the men's singles, Johns came through to the semi-finals without much trouble, winning all his matches in straight sets. Hugh Kelleher, his opponent in the semi-finals, also came through without much trouble. In the lower half the players were more evenly matched. The match between Russell and Miura, the best of the Japanese entries, was more interesting than the score, 6/0, 6/2, would indicate.

In the semi-finals, Tyler and Russell, who have been rivals since their youthful days, met again, and Tyler, who had defeated Russell in the final in Tacoma the previous week, won, 6/4, 6/4, 6/4. In the semi-finals, Johns and Kelleher had a long and hard fought match, but the Californian was too much for the Harvard player, and won, 6/3, 6/3, 4/6, 7/5. In the final, Johns started out strongly and took the first set, 7/5, but after that Tyler got into his stride and won the next three sets, 6/4, 7/5, 6/0.

In the men's doubles the two real teams, that is, men who had played together before and were not merely paired for the tournament, worked out to the final without much trouble. In this round Kelleher and Tyler were too much for Fulton and Russell, winning, 6/2, 7/5, 6/4.

In the women's singles, Miss MacDonald of the University of Washington, who had won the Inland Empire championship earlier in the summer, worked up to the final, but here she succumbed to Miss Livingstone, who had defeated her in the challenge round in Portland two weeks before.

In the women's doubles, Mrs. Bragdon and Miss Livingstone walked right through, winning every match in straight sets, losing only eight games in the ten sets. In the mixed doubles, Miss Livingstone and Johns won without much trouble. The summaries:

Oregon State Championships

H. V. D. Johns became the champion of Oregon in the tournament held on the courts of the Irvington Club of Portland, beginning July 26. He defeated Catlin Wolford in the final round after a stubbornly contested five-set match, and then overpowered L. K. Richardson, the champion of 1914, in straight sets. With William Marcus as a partner, Johns also annexed the doubles honors.

The tournament was successful in every way, having the largest number of entries in the history of the event. The summaries:

California State Championships

BY CARL R. GARDNER.

The California State championships brought out new champions in all events in 1915. John Strachan and Mrs. D. P. Wood being replaced in the singles by Willis Davis and Miss Helen Baker, while Strachan and William Johnston were succeeded by Roland Roberts and Morgan Fottrell in the doubles. None of the 1914 titleholders competed in their respective events, however, so the new champions did not have the honor of dethroning them.

Davis' victory in the singles, considering that Lindley Murray, No. 4 ranking man, competed, came as a surprise to the followers of the records, but there were many prophecies vindicated, even so, for the lanky University of California boy had been going great guns for several weeks previous. In turn, he defeated Carl Gardner, Roland Roberts and Murray, the first named in a close three-set match wherein he lost the second; Roberts in three straight sets, and Murray in a sensational five-set affair in the final round.

Murray, working like a steam thrasher, pulled up from a lead of two sets to one against him to two sets-all and 3/1 in his favor. But Davis steadied his terrific service and heavy drives, going straight through to a win of the set and match, 6/3. It was a contest of serves, chiefly, and there was just about the difference the score indicates in Davis' favor. McLoughlin said of Davis' delivery, after he played him in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition championship in July, that it was the most difficult to handle he had ever run up against.

Both Murray and Davis fought for the net, the former getting in oftener and volleying accurately, but with too little ginger, giving his opponent many openings for his swooping drives. Davis was less secure than Murray, but his percentage of aces ran much higher.

Strachan and Murray, the logical team to win the doubles, were forced to default in the third set of their match with Roberts and Fottrell on account of a mishap to Strachan. When side-stepping, so as to bring his forehand drive into play in returning one of Roberts' breaking services, he tripped and fell heavily to the asphalt, breaking a bone in his right ankle.

Roberts and Fottrell surprised everyone with the excellence of their doubles, taking the measure of C. D. Bates and Henry Breck in a rip-snorter of a five-set match, and fairly waltzing away with Davis and Charles Foley in the final round, in straight sets.

Bates distinguished himself by winning the first veterans' championship of the State (for men of forty or over), without the loss of a set. He was, in fact, hardly pressed during the event, taking the measure of W. G. Knowlton in the final with bewildering ease, his sliding chops apparently breaking up Knowlton's cannon ball drive.

Miss Baker was at her brilliant best and was really never in danger during the women's singles, although Miss Carmen Tarilton forced her to two close sets in their semi-final match, which went at 6/4, 11/9. In the final Miss Baker won from Miss Anita Myers at 6/4, 6/2. The summaries:

Florida State Championships, 1916

George Myers Church retained his title as champion of Florida in the tournament held at Palm Beach, beginning February 28. He defeated Irving C. Wright, the winner of the tournament, in the final round, 6/4, 6/1, 6/1.

Church was at his best throughout the match, while Wright did not play the same brand of tennis he exhibited the day before when he defeated Harold Throckmorton in the finals, a youngster who plays much the same style of game as Church. It was the third straight victory for Church and gave him possession of the Royal Poinciana Challenge Bowl.

In the final of the doubles, Church with Fred C. Inman as a partner defeated G. C. Shafer of New York and Harold Throckmorton of Elizabeth, N. J., 3/6, 6/3, 6/4, 6/1, in an unusual exhibition of fast tennis. Church was the most brilliant and spectacular player, although Throckmorton's play was of the same style, and often approached Church's work. At other times he was extremely erratic and made lots of errors. Inman played very hard, and was fine the last three sets. Shafer was noticeably the steadiest of the four. He made few errors and a number of good gets and good placements. The summaries:

Bremer of Boston won the Florida women's championship of 1916, on the courts at Palm Beach, defeating Mr. Rawson Wood of the West Side Tennis Club, New York City, in straight sets in the final round, 6/3, 6/4. A big gallery, which was a little partial to Mrs. Wood, witnessed the match. It was Mrs. Bremer's first appearance in a Palm Beach tennis tournament.

In the doubles, Major and Voshell were pushed to the limit to secure the honors from McClave and Rendall. Mrs. Howard Craig won the women's singles, but was not as successful in the doubles, that event being taken up by Mrs. La M. Belin and Miss Storrs.

With the exception of a heavy rain on Friday, which necessitated the burning of 700 gallons of gasoline in order to finish on Saturday, the tournament was a great success. Pacific Northwest Championships

A big entry list, ideal weather conditions, and large and enthusiastic galleries marked the twenty-fifth annual Pacific Northwest championship tournament, held on the courts of the Tacoma (Wash.) Lawn Tennis Club, August 2 to 7.

The final award of the Panama-American Union Cup made the tournament especially interesting. This trophy was given by John Barrett to be awarded, during the year of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, to the player winning the most points during the years of 1912-13-14-15. The points were awarded as follows: 10 to the winner, 5 to the runner-up, and 1 each to the semi-finalists.

The cup was won in 1912 by Melville H. Long, who defeated William M. Johnston, both of San Francisco, Cal.; in 1913 Elia F. Fottrell of San Francisco defeated Joseph C. Tyler of Spokane, Wash., and in 1914 H. Van Dyke Johns of San Francisco defeated Henry Breck of Oakland, Cal. Interest in the 1915 tournament lay between Tyler and Johns, who, of the previous contenders, were the only entrants in the competition, but Johns was defeated in the semi-finals by Samuel Russell of Seattle, Wash., who, in turn, was defeated by Tyler in the final round, thus giving permanent possession of the cup to Tyler.

Tyler's victory also carried with it the Chester Thorne Cup, representing the championship of the Pacific Northwest. It was presented twenty-five years ago, and is still without a permanent winner.

There were forty-eight entries in the men's singles and twenty-one teams in the doubles. The latter event was won by Johns and William Marcus, who defeated Kelleher of Seattle and Tyler in an exciting four-set match, 7/5, 2/6, 8/6, 10/8.

The women's singles had thirty-two entries and, as in 1914, the final round brought together Miss Sara Livingstone of Seattle and Mrs. W. J. Northrup of Portland, Ore., the former winning, 6/2, 6/1. Sixteen teams entered in the doubles, and the struggle in the final round was between four Seattle players, Miss McDonald and Mrs. Bragdon defeating Miss Livingstone and Miss Green, 6/1, 6/1.

Seattle players also distinguished themselves in the mixed doubles. The contest narrowed down to a final match between Miss Livingstone and Kelleher against Mrs. Stafford and Tyler of Spokane. The first named pair won, 6/3, 6/2.

Virginia Tournaments

Hot Springs Tournament

Craig Biddle of Philadelphia succeeded Fred. C. Inman of New York City as champion of Hot Springs, Va., in the fourth open tournament of the Virginia Hot Springs Golf and Tennis Club, held during the week of October 11. Biddle did not lose a set in the singles. He defeated B. S. Prentice of New York City in the final round, and in the challenge round won from Inman, who had two legs on the cup.

In partnership with Edgar Scott of Philadelphia, Biddle also captured the doubles. Miss Eleanora Sears and Miss Marion Fenno fought it out for honors in the women's singles and the former won after the closest kind of a three-set match. The summaries:

Old Dominion Tournament

Smith won the Old Dominion tournament, held on the fourteen clay courts of the Country Club of Virginia, at Richmond, May 31 and succeeding days. In doing so he proved a dark horse, as either Fred C. Inman or Charles Bull, Jr. of New York were expected to be Pell's challenger. Smith's terrific drives from back court mowed down Inman and then Bull in straight sets.

Hugh Whitehead and Richard Tunstall, both of Norfolk, won the championship in doubles by defeating Charles M. Bull, Jr., and Reeve Schley, both of New York, in straight sets.

Miss Florence Ballin of New York did the unexpected by defeating Miss Elizabeth Moore in the final round of the women's singles, after three brilliant sets, 2/6, 6/4, 6/1. Miss Ballin won from Miss Marie Wagner in the challenge round by default. Lawn Tennis in Philadelphia and District

BY PAUL W. GIBBONS.

From a local standpoint, one of the bright spots in the past tennis year was the formation of the Philadelphia and District Lawn Tennis Association. The idea, which was conceived in February, was shaped into concrete form in April when a call was issued to every club in the Philadelphia District to join hands to form a permanent association to better tennis conditions in the district. The responses were instantaneous and exceeded even the fondest hopes of its sponsors. The association petitioned the United States National Lawn Tennis Association for a sectional doubles championship and asked for more consideration of Philadelphia when tennis fixtures of national import were being awarded. Despite the fact that the petition was ignored, the association is here to stay and undoubtedly will be an adjunct for advancement in the national councils of the sport.

The association's first annual banquet was participated in by nearly two hundred of the keenest tennis men in the Philadelphia district. The organization comprises in its membership thirty separate tennis clubs, with a combined equipment of 180 tennis courts, and upon which during the season 4,000 tennis players enjoy their favorite sport. We point to these figures, therefore, as proof that the formation of the association marked an epoch of advancement of Philadelphia tennis.

The only tennis clubs of importance not affiliated with the association are the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia Cricket Club and Germantown Cricket Club. If these clubs will join and help with the work, the association should, by the end of 1916, have an organization of forty clubs, 300 courts and 7,500 players. If nothing else can be said for it, therefore, 1915 will always have a halo for marking the birth of this association.

Not by any means the least important event of the 1915 season was the inception of the junior clay court championship of Philadelphia and District, held under the auspices of the Philadelphia and District Lawn Tennis Association, on the perfect courts of the Cynwyd Club. The age limit was purposely kept down to fifteen years, so that the event might be given over to mere tots of ten, eleven and twelve years, who might modestly refrain from entering if boys of seventeen and eighteen were permitted to play.

There is quite a difference in ability and development between the boys of fifteen and eighteen years, more perhaps than between any period of three years in tennis activity. Many players of seventeen and eighteen reach quite an advanced state of development. Young Charles Garland of Pittsburgh, Yale interscholastic, Indiana State champion and runner-up to Throckmorton (himself a further example) in the interscholastic championship, being a brilliant example.

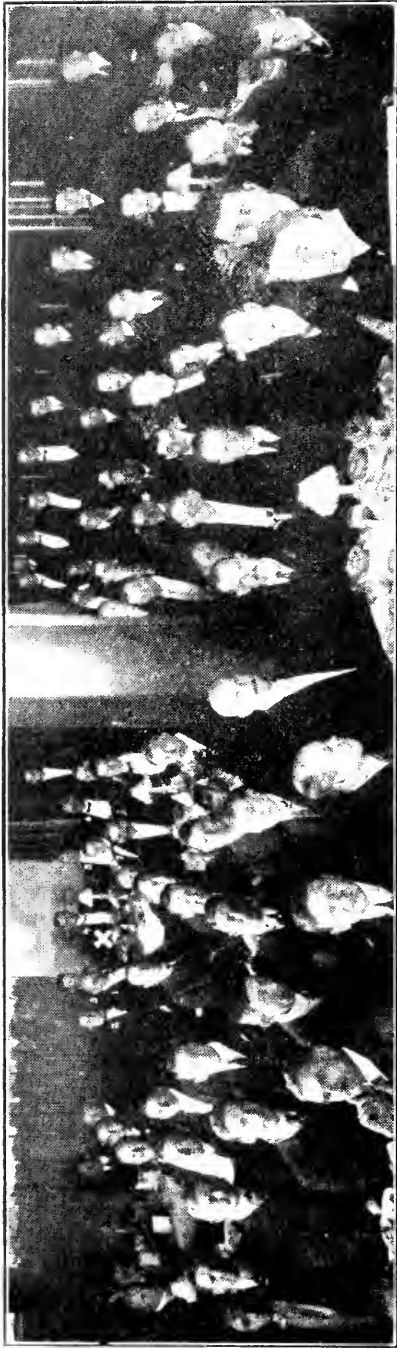

The junior championship was an unqualified success. Thirty-two boys, varying in age from ten to fifteen years, competed for the title, which was won by Thomas Brown of New York. Many youngsters received a lasting incentive to improve their game as a result of the tournament, and its good effects are sure to be most marked in the near future.

Searing and Vaux Wilson of the Cynwyd Club deserve all the praise for the success of the affair. They raised the necessary finances, secured the entries, and managed the affair in a manner that might well be emulated by some tennis committees of infinitely greater experience.

The competitive play during 1915 was better, keener and numbered more participants by quite a margin than any of its predecessors. The Inter Cricket Club League competition for first and second teams, which took place in the spring, was participated in by five clubs and 75 players. It was won by Merion in both first and second divisions.

The tournament of the Tri-State League, six clubs, was participated in by sixty players, and was won by the Belfield Country Club. P. S. Osborne, Belfield, won the individual singles championship, and Howard Biddle and Robert McCann, Overbrook Golf Club, the doubles championship.

The tournament of the Suburban League, eight clubs, was participated in by ninety-five players, and was won by the Greenpoint Club. T. C. Leonards won the singles, and, with Dr. E. E. Eliason, the doubles championship.

PROMINENT PLAYERS AND OFFICIALS AT THE SOUTHERN PENNSYLVANIA CHAMPIONSHIPS, BEDFORD SPRINGS, 1945.

The tournament of the Inter-Borough League of Delaware County, six clubs, was participated in by fifty players, and was won by the Rutledge Club.

The tournament of the Inter-Township League, six clubs, was participated in by sixty players, and was won by the Beechwood Club.

The tournament of the West Jersey League of Field Clubs had nearly 100 players in the senior and junior events. The senior championship was won by the Moorestown Field Club by a very close margin from the Collingswood Field Club, which was runner-up.

Of the sanctioned tournaments held in the Philadelphia District during 1915, the following were the winners:

Of the women's tennis events in the Philadelphia District, chief interest, of course, centered in the national championship played on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club at St. Martins. It was the most successful and best managed event since the inception of the women's championship. This was due principally to the splendid management of Chairman Joseph N. Jennings. In singles Miss Molla Bjurstedt was proclaimed the winner, while the doubles went to Mrs. Wightman and Miss Eleanora Sears. Mrs. Wightman and Harry Johnson of Boston captured the mixed doubles.

The Pennsylvania State championship, held at the Merion Cricket Club, drew a classy field. Miss Bjurstedt was on hand, but because of a bad ankle was unable to play in the singles. She, however, played in the doubles and mixed doubles. The singles title was won by Mrs. Marshall McLean, and Philadelphians were particularly gratified that Mrs. C. N. Beard of Cynwyd was the runner-up. Mrs. McLean and Miss Bjurstedt won the doubles, and Wallace F. Johnson and Miss Clare Cassel the mixed doubles.

The Delaware State championship was held for the first time in 1915. It was decided on the courts of the Wilmington Country Club and its success was thereupon assured. The best players in the Philadelphia District competed, and Wilmington was justly proud of the fact that the title in singles was won by Mrs. J. Saunders Taylor of the home club and the doubles by Mrs. Taylor and Miss Marion Cresswell, the latter a former Philadelphia champion. Mrs. Gilbert A. Harvey of Philadelphia was Mrs. Taylor's opponent in the final round.

The Women's Philadelphia and District championship for the first time in years attracted an out-of-town entry of class, Miss Agnes Cunningham coming down from Boston to strive for the title. Her efforts were crowned with success in both singles and doubles.

As to the women's interclub competitions in 1915, Philadelphia won the first division title, while the Belfield Country Club team featured its maiden entrance into the competition by winning the championship of the second division.

The death toll upon the sport will ever furnish the regretful side of our memories of 1915. From Philadelphia the Grim Reaper took Herbert M. Tilden, one of the best and most popular players who ever graced the court hereabouts: Milton C. Stein, chairman of the tennis committee of the Philmont Country Club; Henry B. Ward, ex-captain of the University Courts team; John Torpey, a former champion of the Stenton Athletic Club; and William T. Tilden, whose great love and admiration for the sport was responsible for his directing the steps of his sons, Herbert M. and William T., 2nd, into the game. No important tournament in the Philadelphia district was complete without Mr. Tilden in the gallery, and no more appreciative admirer of a tennis match ever lived.

Philadelphia and District Indoor Championships

BY PAUL W. GIBBONS.

Philadelphia and District had its first indoor tournament at the First Regiment, N. G. P. Armory, Philadelphia, February 25 to March 6, 1916, and the event was a pronounced success. There was a fine entry list, and large galleries watched the playing throughout the tournament with much interest.

In the men's events, Willis A. Davis of the Philadelphia Cricket Club won the singles, defeating William T. Tilden, Jr., of the Cynwyd Club in the final round in four well played sets. In the doubles, Davis and J. T. Thayer, a clubmate, won from Wallace F. Johnson of the Cynwyd Club and A. D. Thayer of the Philadelphia Cricket Club in the final round, 0/6, 9/7, 6/4, 12/10.

Mrs. Gilbert Harvey of the Philadelphia Cricket Club defeated Mrs. Wainwright of the same club in the final round of the women's singles, 6/3, 6/1, and Miss Phyllis Walsh of the Merion Cricket Club and Mrs. Gilbert Harvey carried off the honors in the doubles, winning from Miss Eleanor Kennedy and Miss E. Rath of the Merion Cricket Club in the final round, 6/2, 6/3. The summaries:

Lawn Tennis in Chicago

Chicago Associated Lawn Tennis Clubs

The Chicago Associated Tennis Clubs was organized in the summer of 1914, being the outgrowth of the efforts of several of the tennis clubs in the city of Chicago to arrange interclub matches. The value of these matches was recognized by all who participated, and in the spring of 1915 a working organization was effected for the association in order to place such contests upon a permanent basis. During the season three tournaments were successfully handled. The first was an interclub affair between the teams representing the different clubs, each match consisting of six events in singles and three events in doubles, and each event scoring one point. The second was a singles tournament and the third a doubles tournament, in which players from each club contested.

The purpose for which the association was organized is to foster and promote the game of tennis. With this in view the association plans to unite the various tennis units throughout the city so they may act together with the common object of promoting the general interest in tennis, increasing the opportunities for tennis play, and providing a special incentive to the development of players who will be capable of taking part creditably in the larger tournaments.

The association was originally composed of eight clubs, but this number was increased to twelve shortly after the beginning of the 1915 season, and the association now represents a total membership of 721 players. The clubs in the association are as follows:

Sherwood, Unatre, Irving Park, Wheaton, Wilson Avenue Y.M.C.A., Rogers Park, Hamilton Park, West Maywood, Lawchester, Palmer Square, Park Ridge and South Park.

Applications have been received from a number of other clubs, and it is probable that most of the tennis organizations in Chicago will become members of the association in time for the 1916 schedule. All clubs that provide adequate facilities for tennis play, including at least two courts, proper fencing and backstops, a dressing room and shower baths, are eligible to membership, and tournaments will be arranged each season, which will give each club an opportunity to be represented by its players in competition play. The singles and doubles tournaments will be general in character, each club being entitled to a specified number of entries. For the interclub tournament the clubs will be arranged in divisions of about eight clubs to each. The divisions will be made up according to the number of courts the club possesses and also their geographical position in the city. The winners of the different divisions will then compete for the championship of the association.

In 1915 the Unatre Tennis Club won the championship and was awarded the pennant. In the singles, Harold C. Yeager of West Maywood was the winner, and W. E. Paine, Jr., of Wilson Avenue was the runner-up. In the doubles, W. E. Paine, Jr., and H. E. Howard of Wilson Avenue won, by defeating Forester and Steelhammer of Unatre.

The prizes were awarded at a banquet held October 23 at the Hotel Sherman, which goes on record as being the largest gathering of its kind ever held in the West. At this banquet the following officers were elected:

President—J. C. Stewart, Sherwood, 150 East Superior Street, re-elected. Vice-president—C. R. Pierce, Wilson Avenue Y.M.C.A., 4423 North Hermitage Avenue, re-elected. Secretary and Treasurer—R. G. Crandall, Rogers Park, 6832 North Ashland Boulevard, Corresponding Secretary—A. B. Hatch, Wheaton, 232 East Ohio Street.

As a fitting climax to a successful year, the Lawchester Tennis Club closed its season of 1915 with an open tournament, which began October 2, with an entry of thirty-seven in singles and sixteen doubles teams. Harold C. Yeager won the final in singles by defeating W. F. Berns, 7/5, 6/4, 1/6, 6/2, while in the doubles, W. F. Berns and R. R. Candor won a spectacular match from E. J. and S. M. Blakeslee, 3/6, 6/4, 6/3, 3/6, 6/2.

Chicago City Championships

By A. H. LAWSON.

Walter T. Hayes easily won the Chicago city championship at the annual tournament held at the Wanderers Club. Hayes was invincible from the start and was never seriously in danger of defeat in any of his matches. He defeated his doubles partner, Ralph Burdick, in the finals in straight sets, 6/2, 6/1, 6/1.

Hayes and Ralph Burdick won the doubles championship by defeating Ketchum and Gifford, 6/3, 6/4, 2/6, 6/4.

Perhaps the greatest surprise of the tourney was the ease with which Harold Gifford defeated Alex. Squair, Western champion, in the fifth round, in straight sets, 6/4, 6/3.

Mrs. Malcolm McNeil also sprung a surprise when she defeated Miss Carrie Neely in the semi-finals of the women's singles, 6/4, 6/4. Mrs. McNeil won the championship by defeating Miss Katherine Waldo in straight sets. The summaries:

Lawn Tennis in Washington, D. C.

BY LOUIS I. DOYLE.

It is doubtful if tennis improved by more rapid strides in any place in the United States than in Washington in 1915. More players—men, women and children—participated in tournaments, more adopted the game for regular exercise, and more saw the tournament matches than ever before.

Among the notables, Touchard, Buli and Pell did not appear at Chevy Chase in the singles, but I. C. Wright and Wallace F. Johnson took part in that event, and Wright, Bull and Pell in the doubles. Probably the closest match, and the best exhibition of the year, was that between Pell and Bull and C. B. and H. E. Doyle in the challenge round of the doubles. It took five sets for the New York pair to prove the right to retain the championship, by defeating H. E. Doyle and W. Hy. Hackett, the latter from New York. Wright came very near eliminating C. B. Doyle in one of the early rounds in singles, and in doubles, paired with H. H. Bundy, a new Washingtonian, reached the finals.

C. B. Doyle, the younger of the brothers, won from H. E. Doyle in the final round of singles and then took the measure of Wallace F. Johnson, thus repeating his successes of previous matches when this pair met.

Harvard University included Washington in its itinerary. Its team, including R. N. Williams, 2nd, and Caner, won from the latter, represented by C. B. and H. E. Doyle, Spencer Gordon, J. B. Moore and H. H. Bundy. The singles match between Williams and C. B. Doyle, and the doubles between Williams and Caner and the Doyles furnished a great treat for the local fans.

The Middle Atlantic tournament brought out the biggest entry list in its history, sixty-four players participating, though only two of the out-of-town entrants competed. When, as is hoped, this event is included among those whose winners compete in the national doubles, many prominent players from surrounding cities will undoubtedly take part, and the competition will rank with the leading sectional tournaments in the country.

In the Columbia Country Club invitation tournament in the fall, there was a particularly large entry list, the incentive being the new and handsome trophy presented by Charles P. King, president of the Washington Railway and Electric Company and Potomac Electric Power Company. Mr. King was also responsible for two local tournaments, a handicap and scratch event, for his employees. He participated in both, winning the doubles of the scratch event, paired with Dr. L. W. Glazebrook.

The District of Columbia championship tournament was held on the Dumbarton courts for the first time, and drew a record-breaking entry of seventy men and twenty-five women. It brought together players who had never before participated in Washington tournaments, and was an unqualified success from every viewpoint.

Some of the enthusiasm which increased the entries to tournaments was caused by two new and growing organizations, the Departmental Tennis League and the Women's Tennis League, formed in 1915. The object of the former is to encourage players in government employ to take part in matches under tournament conditions. Courts kept at government expense were used, and the best talent in the city, besides men who otherwise would have taken no regular exercise, participating. The organization has fifteen hundred members, men and women, making possibly the largest tennis club in the world. Thirteen departments and commissions, represented by twelve teams of ten men each, played out a schedule of 330 matches, with only twelve defaults. Many officials are included among the members, and the organization is a permanent one.

The superintendent of public grounds, a great enthusiast in all lines of sport, under the authority of Congress, placed twenty-five courts at the disposal of the Washington public, on which many thousands of men, women and children played. Under the plans for 1916 probably fifty courts will be available.

The women, previously unorganized, formed the Women's Tennis League with 125 members. Different clubs and sections of the city, as divided, competed in a regular schedule, bringing out many new players.

There were also other leagues. The Home Club League, under the eye of the popular Secretary of the Interior; the Suburban League, and the league of established clubs, Chevy Chase, Columbia and Dumbarton, which played interclub matches. Columbia held regular Saturday afternoon tournaments, and Washington Country Club, Chevy Chase and Dumbarton held closed handicap tournaments.

The high schools began giving letters for tennis, and the new Central High will have several courts in 1916, on the site of the school building.

Improvements have been made at Columbia, where a practice wall and an asphalt court have been constructed. Chevy Chase has two concrete courts and a practice wall, and has flooded its dirt courts for ice skating.

Dumbarton has improved its club house, and will build a practice wall and increase the number of its courts from seven to ten, including one of asphalt. The winners in the various tournaments for 1915 follow:

Chevy Chase Invitation—Men's singles, C. B. Doyle. Men's doubles, T. R. Pell and C. M. Bull. Women's singles, Miss Eva Baker. Women's doubles, Miss Baker and Miss Elizabeth Bryan. Mixed doubles, Miss Eva Baker and H. E. Doyle.

Chevy Chase Tournament

The Doyle brothers, C. B. and H. E., were the finalists in singles in the annual invitation tournament of the Chevy Chase Club, on the club's courts at Chevy Chase, Md., beginning May 14. After a hurricane three-set match, C. B. Doyle won, 7/5, 8/6, 6/1.

The challenge round brought together Wallace Johnson of Philadelphia, holder, and C. B. Doyle, challenger. The latter won a clean-cut and decisive victory, 6/3, 9/7, 6/3. This gave the winner permanent possession of the coveted Army Cup.

The men's doubles brought together C. B. and H. E. Doyle against H. H. Bundy and Irving C. Wright. The Doyles won, as expected, but only after the hardest kind of a four-set match, 6/4, 4/6, 10/8, 6/1. Following this came the match between the challengers, C. B. and H. E. Doyle, and the defenders, T. R. Pell and C. M. Bull. It developed the best tennis ever seen in Washington, in the opinion of close followers of the game. Pell had his wonderful backhand stroke right where he wanted it. After capturing the first two sets at 7/5, 6/4, the visitors were outplayed in the next two by 10/8, 6/4. The fifth set was hard-fought, but the local stars were outplayed by the visitors, who took the set and match by 7/5, 6/4, 8/10, 4/6, 6/3.

Miss Eva Baker defeated Miss A. Morrison in the final round of the women's singles. The match was a good one, Miss Baker's experience and accurate work winning for her by the score of 6/4, 6/1.

In the women's doubles, Miss Eva Baker and Miss Elizabeth Bryan won from Miss A. M. Doyle and Miss Arline Dufour in a sharp three-set match, 6/3, 2/6, 6/4. Miss Baker's work in the pinches was the deciding factor, although she was ably supported by Miss Bryan.

Miss Baker and H. E. Doyle captured the mixed doubles title, Mrs. W. Sullivan and Wallace F. Johnson not being able to defend. Norris McLean and P. H. S. Cake were the final contenders for the men's consolation title, the former winning, 2/6, 8/6, 6/3. The summary:

In the semi-final round of the doubles, R. L. Baggs and A. J. Ostendorf defeated W. M. Hall and A. S. Cragin in straight sets, and A. H. Man, Jr., and Cedric Major won from Arthur Lovibond and W. C. Lawn Tennis in Cincinnati and Vicinity

Hamilton County Tournament

BY GORDON E. SMALL.

The third annual tournament for the championship of Hamilton County, Ohio, was held on the courts of the Norwood Tennis Club, August 28 to September 6. The opening day was featured by an exhibition match between Elia Fottrell of San Francisco and R. A. Holden, Jr., of Cincinnati, Holden winning two out of three sets. The tournament brought out larger attendances and more entries in all events than ever before and seems to have become a fixture in Cincinnati tennis. There were eighty entries in the men's singles and twenty-two in the women's.

The Westwood Club carried off all the honors of the tournament, Charles Wenté winning the men's singles, Miss Ruth Sanders the women's singles, Wenté and Dr. Karl Little the men's doubles, and Miss Sanders, paired with Mrs. C. E. Gregg of the Norwood Club the women's doubles.

The best match of the men's singles was that in the semi-final round between Wenté and Zimmerman of the Norwood Club, Wenté winning in five sets. The final round brought Wenté against Dr. Little, one of Cincinnati's veteran players, who was attempting a "comeback" after an absence from the game of five years or more. Against any player but Wenté, Dr. Little probably would have won, but the former, being thoroughly familiar with the doctor's game, played his weak points and won the match by a good margin. Wenté is only a youngster, but is one of Cincinnati's most promising players.

Little and Wenté won the men's doubles after a hard fight in the semi-finals with McGowan and Kruse, and a well played match with Rogers and Cordes in the final round.

Miss Ruth Sanders had things all her own way in the women's singles and again demonstrated that she is Cincinnati's premier racket wielder among the fair sex. She lost only eight games in four matches, defeating her opponents in hollow style. Mrs. Norris and Miss Luers of the new Hyde Park Club played well.

Miss Sanders and Mrs. Gregg won the women's doubles after nearly losing to the Misses Levy and Emmich in the semi-finals. The summaries:

From Cincinnati Courts

One of the bright features of the season was the debut of the Hyde Park Tennis Club in the local tennis field. This club was organized in May, and by the first of July had a membership of one hundred, a club house, and six fine courts. The club took an active interest in tennis affairs, and by means of a series of tournaments kept the enthusiasm of the members at a high point throughout the season. C. L. Cox won the club championship in singles, and with Stowe LaHusen, the doubles. Miss Evelyn Luers won the women's singles.

The Westwood Club, for the second time, won the championship in the Ohio Lawn Tennis Association Saturday Afternoon League. The Norwood, Clifton, Hyde Park, Madisonville and Wyoming clubs finished in the order named.

One of the noticeable features of tennis in the city was the unusual number of new players brought out by the courts built by the Park Board in the public parks and playgrounds. The board has taken a very liberal attitude toward tennis, and is building courts wherever a location can be secured and where a demand exists. For the coming season public tennis leagues and tournaments are being arranged, open only to the park players. A recent estimate showed that at least a thousand new players have taken up the game through the encouragement of and facilities offered by the Park Board.

Dayton Open Tournament

After coming through the third annual open tournament of the Dayton Country Club, held September 20 to 25, Irving C. Wright was defeated in the challenge round by Clarence J. Griffin, the 1914 winner, in straight sets, 6/2, 6/3, 6/4. In his play Griffin showed some of the most finished tennis ever seen on the club courts.

Paired with Wright, Griffin also captured the doubles. They met a local team, Allen Harris and George Blanchard, who had furnished the big upset of the tournament by defeating C. P. Trask and Thomas Hendricks, the Indiana entries. Great rivalry developed between the two teams, but Griffin and Wright proved easy winners at 6/0, 6/4, 6/1.

Miss Molla Bjurstedt was the heroine in the women's events, as she won the singles and, with Miss C. B. Neely as a partner, also took the doubles.

An exhibition match in men's doubles between Griffin and Wright against Holden and Emerson of Cincinnati closed the tournament. The Ohio men took the first set at 7/5, but after 12-all in the second set darkness put an end to the contest. Other exhibition matches were played during the week by champion William M. Johnston and former champion Maurice E. McLoughlin in singles, Johnston and Griffin against McLoughlin and Wright in doubles, and Miss Bjurstedt against J. C. Neely. The summaries:

Lawn Tennis in Louisville

BY CRIT C. YOUNG.

The tennis season of 1915 was the most successful that Louisville has ever known. The summer witnessed the formation of the Kentucky Lawn Tennis Association, which at once became a member of the U. S. N. L. T. A., and all of the tournaments were held under its auspices. The Bi-State tournament (Kentucky and Ohio) failed to draw outsiders to any extent, for the first time in five years, but this was due to a conflict of dates. The original time, July 5-10, was changed to September 4-9, but this proved equally as bad. Neither J. J. Armstrong of Philadelphia, nor Miss Ruth Sanders of Cincinnati appeared to defend their titles in the Bi-State, nor did Lewis Hardy of Memphis defend his in the Falls Cities event. The latter part of the season Covington Arterburn returned to the game, after two years absence, and captured the Bi-State without being pushed. Harry Grinstead, who for several years held three titles, only won one event, the Falls Cities Championship (Kentucky and Indiana), in which he defeated Grinstead Vaughan after a hard battle. The State tournament was won by George Eager of Virginia, who, playing with Kenneth Bixby, was also successful in the doubles. Victor Goddard, a newcomer in the tournament game, took the Cherokee honors in rather hollow fashion, his work being of the highest order.

Louisville Tennis League

The Louisville Tennis League had its start in 1915. The object was to develop new players and give the older ones an additional opportunity to improve their game. It was composed of the Louisville Country Club, the Audubon Country Club, the River Valley Country Club, the Standard Country Club, the Anchorage Country Club, the Louisville Boat Club, and the Pastime Boating and Athletic Club. Two series of interclub matches were played. Each contest consisted of four matches, two singles and two doubles, so that forty matches were scheduled for each member. The season opened June 5 and closed August 28. The Anchorage Country Club got away in the lead, and was only displaced once, that being by the Louisville Boat Club, which held it for only a short time, the Anchorage Club coming right back to the top. The final standing of the clubs was as follows:

Club.	Won.	Lost.	PC.	Club.	Won.	Lost.	PC.
Anchorage	25	9	.736	Louisville B. C.....	17	17	.500
Pastime	20	16	.556	Country Club	14	22	.389

Lawn Tennis in St. Louis

BY ROBERT ROSS, SECRETARY ST. LOUIS A. A. ASSOCIATION.

The season of 1915 will long be remembered by the players and admirers of tennis as the big year, on account of the visit of the National champions to the city in September, the quality of tennis displayed in the Central and city championships, and the upsetting of the dope in the women's championship. It is due to the untiring efforts of the St. Louis A. A. Association (Triple A) that this game is so popular in the Mound City.

The Central championship of the United States was held under the association's auspices on July 4. Sixty players, representing many States, participated in the singles, and twenty-eight pairs in the doubles. The quality of tennis displayed was the best seen in St. Louis, and brought out a record gallery every day. Eugene Monnett and Paul Darrough of the University of Oklahoma won their way to the semi-finals, and there Monnett faced Roland M. Hoerr and Darrough met C. Drummond Jones, both players of the Triple A Club. Both matches were hotly contested, nearly every game going to deuce. Hoerr eventually won over Monnett, 7/5, 4/6, 0/6, 6/3, 6/2, and Jones defeated Darrough, 9/7, 0/6, 3/6, 6/2, 6/4.

In the final round Hoerr defeated Jones, 6/2, 6/1, 3/6, 6/1, thereby giving Hoerr possession, for the second time, of the big Triple A Cup, to be held for another year, and if he succeeds in getting his name on it again it will become his personal property.

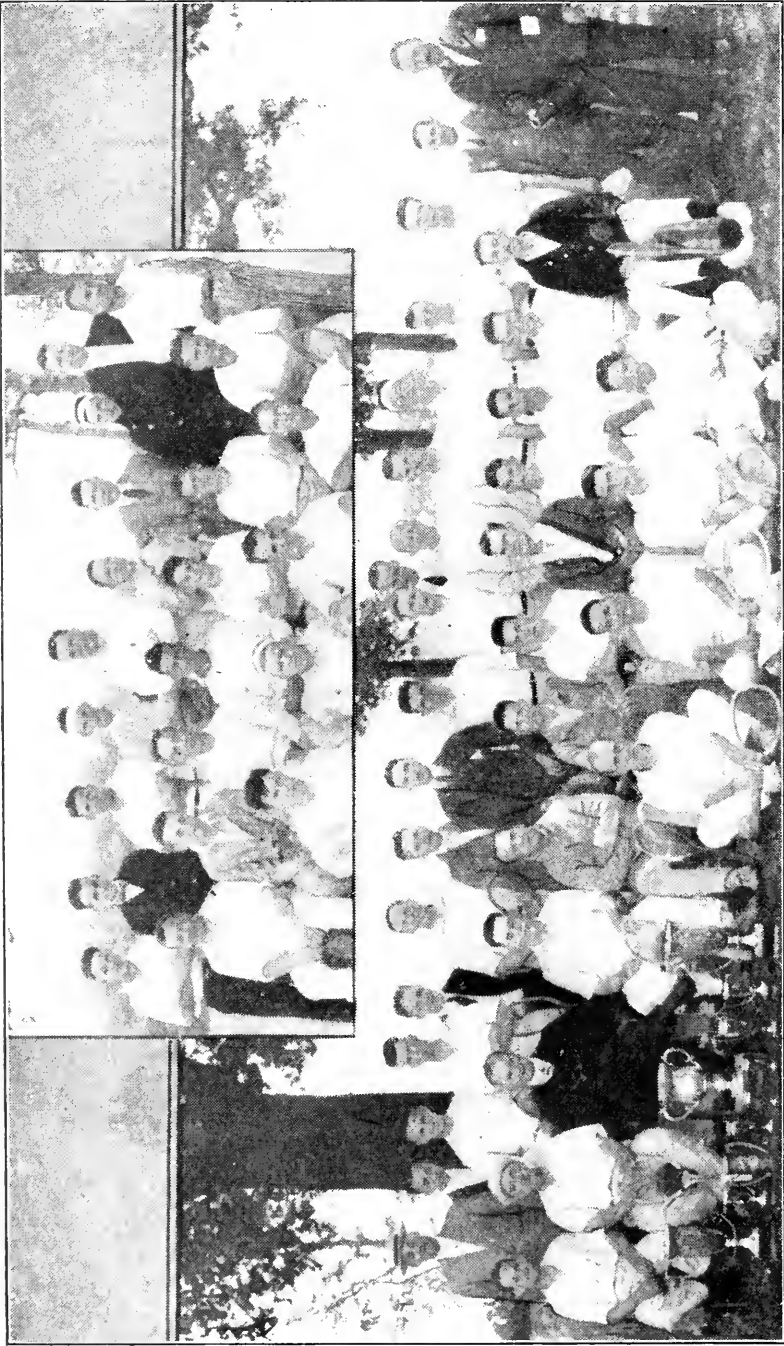

In the doubles, Monnett and Darrough encountered Jones and Hoerr in the final round, which resulted in one of the hardest fought matches ever seen on these courts. The score does not give any idea of the game as it was played, nearly every game going to deuce, with the breaks in luck going against the university players. Jones and Hoerr won, 11/13, 3/6, 6/3, 6/4, 6/2, thus securing possession of the big trophy cups put up this year by the club. Handsome silver cups were presented the winners and runners-up in singles, doubles and consolations, and the out-of-town players were the guests of the club for the week.

Tennis players will overlook a good week of tennis in 1916 if they omit placing the Central tennis championship on their tournament list.

Early in the season the directors of the Triple A decided to give their members and the tennis enthusiasts of the city and surrounding towns an opportunity to see the champions in action. A committee, composed of their president, R. M. Wilson; treasurer, M. J. Halloran, and A. Von Reppert, Grover C. Holthaus and Roland M. Hoerr was appointed, and it was successful in securing Miss Molla Bjurstedt, M. E. McLoughlin, W. M. Johnston, C. J. Griffin and C. L. Wright on September 22 and 23. Between six and seven thousand people witnessed the games each day. Two matches were played, Johnston and McLoughlin meeting in the first singles match, which was also the first time they had opposed each other since the national championship. McLoughlin won, 6/4, 6/4. In a doubles match between McLoughlin and C. Drummond Jones of the Triple A, and Johnston, paired with Roland Hoerr, also of the Triple A, five sets had to be played, and the tennis displayed was a revelation to the spectators and thoroughly appreciated by them, as could be judged from the applause that followed each sensational play. McLoughlin and Jones eventually won.

Three matches were played the following afternoon. The first was between Miss Bjurstedt and Miss Alice Prendergast, former holder of the city championship, who made a very good showing against the national champion. The score was in favor of Miss Bjurstedt, many games going to deuce. The second match was a mixed doubles between Miss Bjurstedt and Wright against Jones and Hoerr. Only two sets were played. Jones and Hoerr won the first, 6/3, and Miss Bjurstedt and Wright the second, 9/7. The third match was the big one, a doubles between the champions, Johnston and Griffin, and McLoughlin and Wright. The first set went to McLoughlin and Wright, 6/4; the second set went to the champions, after some very sensational tennis, 7/5, and the third set was also won by Johnston and Griffin.

In the city championships, held September 24, sixty-two players competed in the singles and twenty-five teams in the doubles. Interest was aroused in this tournament owing to the fact that Jones and Hoerr, who have been playing partners in the doubles for years, separated, Jones taking for a partner Gamble, one of the older and more seasoned players, while Hoerr paired with Taylor Ward, one of the younger players. Both pairs won their way to the final round, which was witnessed by one of the largest galleries that ever attended a tennis game in the city, more than three thousand persons being on hand when the game started. Jones and Gamble won the first two sets after a hard fight, many games going to deuce. The next two games went to Hoerr and Ward rather easily, and the fifth was another hard fight, but tournament experience won, Jones and Gamble being returned the winners, 6/3, 6/4, 1/6, 1/6, 6/3.

Interest was sustained in the singles on account of Jones and Hoerr both winning their way to the finals, and it was a question as to whether Jones could come back, seeing that Hoerr held two wins over him during the year, namely, the Triple A Club championship and the Central championship, and the large gallery on hand was pretty evenly divided as to its choice of winner. It was a hard five-set match before the decision was rendered that Jones did come back, the score being 4/6, 3/6, 6/0, 6/3, 6/2.

Southern Maine Championships.—The annual open tournament of the Squirrel Island Athletic Association for the championship of southern Maine was held August 21 and the following days. The entry list was the largest of any tournament ever held in the State. The players were of high class and the matches close and hard fought. Nat. H. Bundy of Norfolk, Va., won the men's singles. He defeated the holder of the cup, E. Edwin Porter of Newton Center, Mass., in the third round. Bundy and his partner, C. F. McIntosh of Norfolk, won the doubles. Miss Maida Flanders of Newton Center, Mass., won the Blanche Butler Ford Cup, which is the prize for the winner of the women's singles. The summaries: Men's singles—First round—Bonelli d. Hamilton, East Side Tennis Club, Milwaukee, City Champion of Milwaukee, and, with Heath Byford, Doubles State Champions, 1915; 3. Glenway Maxon; 4. Alfred Weller, Town Club Champion, 1915; 5. Rolland B. Roehr, President Milwaukee Tennis Association; 6. J. J. Forstall, Chicago, and, 7. R. N. Hamilton, Milwaukee.

SOME OF MILWAUKEE'S PROMINENT PLAYERS.

Lawn Tennis in Milwaukee

BY DR. N. A. GODDARD.

That the quality of tennis in Wisconsin improved a full one hundred per cent in 1915 is no exaggeration. Particularly was this proven by the excellence of the play in Milwaukee during the intraclub matches of the Milwaukee Tennis Association, and in the intercity matches in the Wisconsin Tennis League of the nine cities of the Northern section, but more particularly in the Milwaukee City tournament held at the Blue Mound Club.

Surprises and reversals were the prominent features in the Milwaukee City tournament and the Milwaukee Tennis Association, following the precedent set in the national tournament by the slump of Williams and McLoughlin and the crowning of a new king in Johnston.

The Milwaukee City tournament far surpassed the State tournament, both in enthusiasm and quality of play, and the defeating of Weller as well as Maxon by Seefeld of the National Club was the great surprise of the competition, as he had never before been able to defeat them. In the finals, Hamilton easily disposed of Seefeld, 6/3, 6/3, 6/9, and again won the city championship, which he has held since 1913. In the doubles, Maxon and Pearson defeated Hamilton and Birkhead, 6/3, 6/1, 6/3.

The race between the nine clubs of the Milwaukee Tennis Association was extremely close. In the middle of the season, owing to the wealth of good players who had joined the ranks of the East Side Club, it was generally conceded that it would surely win not only the club championship, but the singles championship cup, with good possibilities of the doubles cup; but with all the good players it was doomed to defeat and lost the play-off of a tie with the Washington Park Club, which won the club championship.

In the finals for the singles championship of the association, Maxon, the East Side Club player, on whom it had pinned its faith and hopes to be returned winner, defaulted to Dr. Paul Goldstern of the West Side Club, who defeated Oscar Puls of the National Club in the final round. As the East Side Club had no entrants in the doubles matches, its hopes went a-glimmering for a win of any of the trophies.

The club standing at the end of the season was as follows: Washington Park, East Side, National, West Side, Cutler-Hammer, Allis Chalmers, Kilbourn, International Harvester, Bay View.

The individual standing of Milwaukee players, as placed by the tennis writers of the city, was: 1. Hamilton, East Side; 2. Maxon, East Side; 3. A. Weller, Town Club; 4. Rechygle, Washington Park; 5. Lipman, Washington Park; 6. Stuckert, Washington Park; 7. Benson, West Side; 8. Rounds, West Side; 9. Hill, East Side; 10. Seefeld, West Side; 11. D. Weller, Town Club; 12. Graebner, National.

During the season, teams of six players of the Milwaukee Tennis Association made trips throughout the State to seek matches, not so much to win as to talk over and to interest the various cities having tennis clubs in the organization of a Wisconsin association. The result was that in October representatives were sent to Milwaukee, and the Wisconsin Tennis Association was formed with a membership of twenty-two cities.

In 1916 the three sections into which the State has been divided will play elimination matches, and the winners in singles and doubles in each section will play the finals at some central point to determine the actual tennis championship in singles and doubles of the State. This will be a closed State tournament, and will in no way be connected or interfere with the annual open State competition held in Milwaukee.

This idea of a strictly State tournament, open to only bona fide residents of Wisconsin, is new, and its results will be watched with keen interest by many Eastern States.

The Oshkosh Tennis Club won the trophy cup in the Wisconsin Tennis League composed of nine clubs in Northern Wisconsin. This club spent in the neighborhood of $4,000 last season in building four cement courts and paying for its land. It is the intention to erect a club house in 1916.

Nearly every city and hamlet in Wisconsin boasts of from one to ten tennis courts, many built and maintained by the municipality.

Lawn Tennis in Kansas City

BY C. H. HOLCOMB.

The year 1915 witnessed a remarkable growth in tennis in Kansas City. This was demonstrated by the participation in the game of a greatly increased number of players, the building of many new courts throughout the city, and the greater interest and attendance at the different tournaments held during the year.

The real feature event of the season was the visit in late September of the noted California trio, Johnston, McLoughlin and Griffin. This was the first glimpse Kansas City has ever had at real top notch tennis, and although the weather was the worst imaginable, being quite cold and damp, big crowds welcomed the champions. The play was staged on the Kansas City Athletic Club courts and consisted, of course, of exhibition matches only. C. J. Lockhorn and Jack Cannon, the local stars, each had a go at the champions, and their play showed exceptionally well in comparison, Cannon forcing Johnston to a deuce set in their exhibition. Another surprise was the matches in doubles in which the national champions, Johnston and Griffin, were pitted against McLoughlin and Lockhorn. To the surprise of nearly everyone the latter team was victorious in a match that teemed with spectacular play, defeating the champions two sets to one. In the second day's exhibition, however, the champions gained revenge, taking three out of four sets in another thrilling encounter. There is no doubt the visit of these celebrated players will do much toward improving the play of local racket wielders, as many new ideas were gathered that are sure to be followed out during 1916.

The year 1916 promises even more tennis than ever, due to the organization of two new clubs, the Kansas City Field Club and the Rockhill Tennis Club of Kansas City. The former is a big, new outdoor organization that will have a dozen tennis courts, and will promote base ball, swimming and other sports. Fay Moulton, the former Yale athlete and Olympic sprinter, is president of the club, and Jack Cannon, vice-president. The Rockhill Club will have tennis exclusively, and will build twenty-two tennis courts and two squash courts. J. H. Felt, one of the most enthusiastic of tennis followers, heads this club as president, while C. J. Lockhorn is a member of the board.

While the general standard of play in 1915 was probably higher than heretofore, the improvement seemed to be shown by the younger rather than the leading players: in fact, some of those ranked in 1914 were not able to get into the upper ten upon their 1915 showing, and others have to be content with a place farther down the line than that previously accorded them. Some of the youngsters coming up from the public courts are showing great form and should be heard from next season.

Greater Kansas City Ranking, 1915

1—C. J. Lockhorn	4—C. H. Holcomb	7—W. N. Newell	9—Gordon Parker
2—J. S. Cannon	5—Dix Teachenor	8—A. H. Seddon	10—James Elwell
3—R. A. Wester	6—Stephen Clafin

By his defeat of Cannon in the City, and Stellwagen in the Missouri Valley tournament, Lockhorn established his right to the ranking of No. 1. There is also no question as to the ranking of Cannon as No. 2, as Lockhorn was the only local player by whom he was defeated. For several years Cannon has been handicapped by the fact that he had no local opponent of sufficient ability to make him extend himself and do his best, and he was unable to improve his play as he would have done with stronger competition: after losing to Lockhorn in the city tournament, he probably realized the weak points in his game and set about to correct them with that determination of which he is the fortunate possessor. Toward the end of the season he was playing far better, and showed exceptional form in the exhibition set which he played against Champion Johnston. He is a close student of the game, and I predict that he will come back stronger than ever in 1916.

Teachenor, No. 2 in 1914, did not enjoy a very successful season, but showed a flash of his old time form in the Missouri Valley tournament against Lockhorn. During the season he lost to Holcomb, Wester, and Lockhorn, Newell, Seddon, and Poteet, who had been ranked as 4, 5 and 6, respectively, all played in and out tennis, with little if any improvement over their 1914 form. Seddon lost to Newell in the Missouri Valley, in a match which was a toss-up, and played fine tennis in the mixed doubles. Poteet's best form was shown against Speice in the Missouri Valley.

Holcomb, placed at No. 7 in 1914, showed marked improvement, one of his principal assets being steadiness. During the season he defeated Seddon, Poteet and Teachenor, all of whom had been ranked ahead of him the previous year, and lost to Lockhorn, Cannon and Wester. Masters played good tennis at the beginning of the season, easily eliminating Claffin from the city tournament, but failed to show much thereafter, probably due to the fact that he did not play with any regularity. Moore, at times, played unbeatable tennis, but usually in practice with nothing at stake. He does not seem at his best in tournaments.

Claffin's play against Monett and Branson in the Missouri Valley entitles him to consideration, although his showing against Lockhorn was not impressive. Elwell played steady, consistent tennis, defeating Moore, the only ranking player he met in a tournament. Gordon Parker and Uhls are the other two players whose work would have to be considered by a ranking committee, Parker losing to Cannon in the Missouri Valley and Uhls to Lockhorn in the city, but Uhls' failure to compete in more than one tournament kept him from occupying a place in the coveted ten.

Among the other players of ability, whose work should not be overlooked, are Durall, Tyner, Lytle, Davis, Kavanaugh, Cloughly, Byerley, Bland, McCoy, Wilder, Kyger, Krugh, Forrester, Dubach, Shelden, Donohue, Foules, Howard and Brookfield, while among the classier younger players are Baucus, Morley, Penfold, Bennett and Pinkerton.

Greater Kansas City Championship

In place of the city tournament usually held, the season of 1915 was opened with an invitation event upon the courts of the Kansas City Athletic Club. A classy field of forty-four players, the cream of Kansas City's tennis talent, was entered. Cannon, Wester, Lockhorn and Holcomb reached the semi-finals, Cannon by defeating Austin, Seddon and Masters; Wester by defeating Parker and Moore; Lockhorn by defeating Penfold, Brookfield and Uhls, and Holcomb by defeating Krebs, Poteet, and Teachenor.

Cannon then easily defeated Wester in straight sets, and Lockhorn, after dropping the first set to Holcomb, won the next three. The final round between Lockhorn and Cannon was played upon a wet, heavy court, which seemed to interfere with Cannon's game more than that of his opponent, Lockhorn winning the match in straight sets. The summary:

Omaha City Championships

BY R. R. RAINSY, OMAHA, NEB.

The annual city championship tournament in men's singles and doubles was held on the courts of the Omaha Field Club, July 17 and the following week. The committee in charge was particularly fortunate in choosing this week, for weather conditions were ideal for tennis.

In the singles there were fifty-one entries, with few defaults in the first round. The tournament was one of the most successful city tournaments ever held in Omaha, and was noteworthy in that it marked the fall of the older players before the onslaught of the youngsters.

Arthur Scribner, one-time champion of Omaha, was put out of the running by Joe Adams, one of the younger players. Dr. Van Camp, one of the old timers, went down before Russell Larmon, an eighteen-year-old boy, who won the championship by putting out Harry Koch, who held the title for four successive years.

The match between Koch and Larmon proved to be the best ever pulled off by local men. It went four gruelling sets and abounded in all the thrills that go with first class tennis.

Sixteen teams fought for the doubles championship. Many good matches were played and the dope was considerably upset. Ralph Powell and Will Adams, the 1914 champions, were defeated by the Larmon brothers. Kennedy and Madden, a veteran team, and considered one of the best in the city, fell before A. C. Potter and Guy Beckett, who played together for the first time. Their match was the most hotly contested in the doubles. In the final, Koch and Scribner won from Potter and Beckett in an exciting and hotly contested battle. The summaries:

Denver City Tournament

The second annual tournament for the championships of Denver, held on the city park courts during the last two weeks in July, proved to be one of the most successful tennis meets ever pulled off in the West. In popular interest it surpassed even the State tournament, though the tennis was not of quite so high a caliber. Crowds of two and three hundred turned out every afternoon, and as many as six hundred lined the courts for some of the more important matches.

Eight different events were decided, namely, singles and doubles in men's, women's, junior men's, and junior women's classes.

The open singles title went to Richard Scott, the University of Colorado star, but only after the hardest kind of competition. Three times, against Don Harker, E. R. Bailey and Robert Wellington, Scott was forced to take the deciding set to win, and against Wellington he was four times within a single point of losing the match.

Scott won from Eugene Dines in the final round, in a match which proved a disappointment after the earlier rounds. The champion took straight sets, due mainly to Dines' erratic play.

Harker and Wellington won the open doubles, defeating Mills and Fowler in four sets in one of the most thrilling matches ever played around Denver. For three sets it was nip-and-tuck, with each team winning a set when within a point of losing. In the fourth frame Mills and Fowler showed the strain of the match and the champions won easily.

Mae Meyer, playing a smashing base line game, won the women's singles. She came through several close matches and took the final from Addie Cronan in an extra set affair. Paired together, the two won the doubles title without much opposition.

Eric Charles, sixteen years old, annexed the singles championship in the junior men's division, playing a consistent, steady game, which marks him as a coming candidate for senior honors. Klein and Barton, a South Denver combination, outclassed the field in doubles.

The junior women's division was held for the first time during the summer, and as a result the entry list was small. Ada Withington came out ahead in the singles, while the Misses Waldorf and Huber took the doubles.

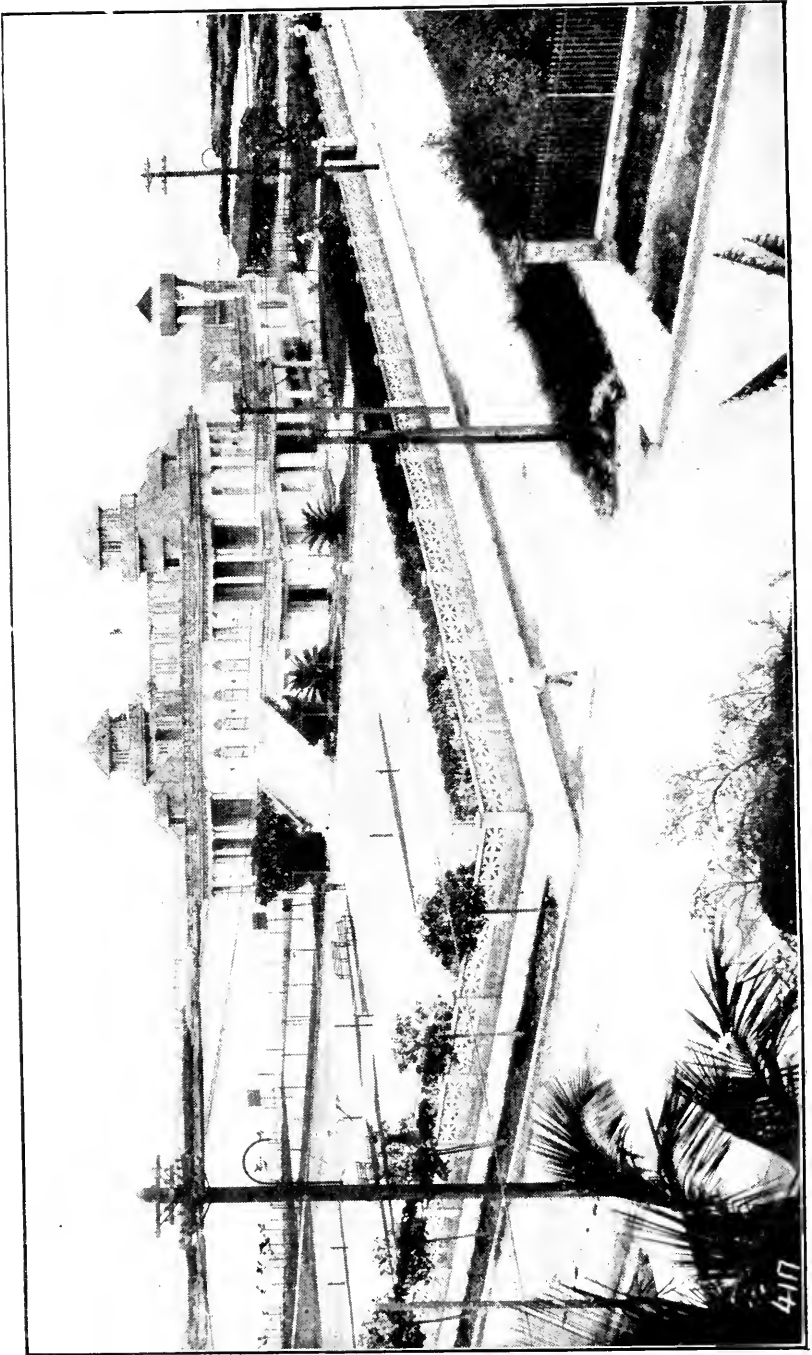

Hubert C. Charles, Denver City Clerk, headed the tournament committee, and under his direction play went off smoothly during the tournament. He also captained the victorious Anglo-American club team which came out victorious in the city league series of matches held during June and July.

Huntingdon Valley (Pa.) Doubles Tournament.—W. J. Clothier and W. A. Larned were unable to repeat their victory of 1914 in the Huntingdon Valley invitation tournament, beginning May 28, and they were defeated in the final round by J. J. Armstrong and W. E. Davis. In the men's consolation singles, A. S. Dabney defeated F. M. B. Fisher in the final round, 6/1, 6/2, 6/2. The summaries: Doubles—First round—T. R. Pell and R. D. Little d. A. D. Thayer and F. E. Dixon, 6/3, 9/11, 11/9; J. J. Armstrong and W. E. Davis d. F. C. Inman and Robert Le Roy, 4/6, 6/4, 6/3. Second round—Pell and Little d. Edmund and J. T. Thayer, 6/3, 6/2; Craig Biddle and Rowland Evans, Jr. d. F. M. B. Fisher and Alfred Dabney, 7/5, 5/7, 6/1; Armstrong and Davis d. J. R. Carpenter, Jr. and Dr. E. B. Dewhurst, 7/5, 6/1; W. J. Clothier and W. A. Larned d. H. M. Tilden and W. T. Tilden, Jr., 6/4, 6/2. Semi-final round—Armstrong and Davis d. Biddle and Evans, 6/3, 6/4; Clothier and Larned d. Pell and Little, 6 3/6, 6/1. Final round—Armstrong and Davis d. Clothier and Larned, 2/6, 6/3, 6/1.

Interstate Tournament.—The Interstate tournament, a revival of the old Tr' tournament held at Sioux City, Iowa, several years ago, was successfully carried under the auspices of the Interstate Tennis Club of Sioux City, early in August. The final match of the singles between John Barton of Sioux Falls and Ray Mitchell, So. Dak., was closely contested, and the upset came when Barton defeated Branson, the victory being the first Barton has secured over a number of years. The score was 6/3, 7/5, 1/6, 0/6, 9/7. Stellan of Minnesota an excellent showing until he reached the semi-finals, when he was defeated. In the final round of doubles, Ray Branson and Paul Young triumphed over Barton and F. N. Enright, 6/4, 6/2, 6/2.

VEDADO TENNIS CLUB, HAVANA, CUBA.

Lawn Tennis in Cuba

Conde de Jaruco won the singles championship of Cuba in the annual tournament held at the Vedado Tennis Club, Havana, in December. He defeated de Zaldo in a four-set match in the final round. Conde de Jaruco also captured the doubles, with Martinez as partner. Senorita M. Ferran carried off the honors in the women's events, winning the singles, the doubles with Senorita Suarez as a partner, and the mixed doubles with Valverde.

The Vedado Tennis Club, from a very modest beginning in 1902, has become a factor of no little importance in the development of sports in Cuba, especially lawn tennis. The club has just come into possession of a new building, erected at a cost of $80,000, and has made application to the government for an extension of grounds adjoining the building, so as to be able to enlarge it and to erect new ones, which it is estimated will cost $100,000. The location of the club is ideal, overlooking the Gulf of Mexico at the extreme end of Vedado, a suburb of Havana. During the latter part of December, 1902, and January 1, 1903, the first official tournament was held. Tournaments have been held annually at about the same time each year, except this year, when it is scheduled for April. Enthusiasm over the game has increased so much that larger grounds have been necessary. The present membership is 500.

At the time of the second American intervention, the late Major Butt, who lost his life on the Titanic, was an active member, and many of the trophies brought with him from the Philippines are treasured at the club. Major Slocum and many other officials of the U. S. Army were members of the organization during the second intervention.

Other athletic sports besides tennis are also encouraged. In 1905, 1907, 1909, 1914 and 1915 the club won the amateur base ball championship. In 1909 it captured the polo championship, and yearly since 1911 has been winning the Varadero regattas for six-oared racing canoes, obtaining thereby the Municipal and President Menocal's prizes. In 1914 the club also won from the other competitors the title of champion in eight-oared shells.

Summaries of the annual tournament held in December are as follows:

Lawn Tennis in the Philippine Islands

BY E. S. GEE, MANILA, P. I.

Lawn tennis and other sports in Manila have been unaffected by the war and everything is about as usual. The interest in tennis is wonderful, and the Filipinos are making rapid strides. In the tournament recently held at Manila by the University of Philippines there were one hundred and five entries.

The Filipinos were defeated in the tournament for the championship of the Orient at Shanghai. Suarez and Fargas were defeated by the Japanese team, Kumagae and Kashio, in the finals of the doubles, 6/4, 6/3, 4/6, 10/8. Fargas defeated Kashio in the semi-finals in singles, but, in turn, was defeated in the final round by Kumagae, 4/6, 6/4, 7/5, 6/3. These Japanese players are playing wonderfully well and have imitated Johnston and Fottrell, playing a slashing offensive net game, while in 1914 they could only play from the base line with any great degree of accuracy. Americans will remember that Kumagae almost defeated Fottrell, when the Californian visited Manila in 1914, getting two out of five sets. I would like to see them play now. I honestly believe Kumagae could make the first ten in America.

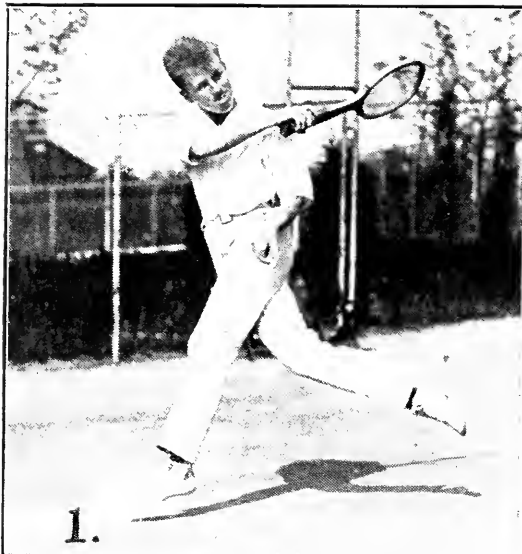

Another tournament, like the successful one held under the auspices of the Manila Tennis Club in 1914, is talked of for 1916. It is to be hoped that this club, always the leader in events of this kind, will take the initiative and make arrangements to bring some of the world's best players again to Manila.

Mr. Mikami of Mitsui Bussan Kaisha has stated that undoubtedly Kumagae and his colleagues will be glad to take the trip; several players from Honolulu have indicated their intention to visit Manila, and if they are of the same standard as the base ball team recently here they will certainly be well worthy of consideration.

Junior Championships

National Indoor Junior Championships

Elliott Binzen of Fordham University won the singles, and James Weber of Chicago, captain of Phillips Andover Academy team, with R. C. Rand of Harvard University took the doubles in the first national junior indoor championship tournament, held in the Seventh Regiment Armory, New York City, from December 27 to 31.

Sixty youngsters started in the competition, and under the able guidance of King Smith, the referee, the playing proceeded without a flaw, and the tennis shown was commendable.

Binzen defeated Weber in the final round of singles by superior all around play and better headwork. He outguessed the Chicago boy frequently and adhered to a plan of campaign which was far too much for Weber. Binzen was unusually steady for a youngster and Weber was just the reverse. The Fordham student did not have the power behind his strokes that Weber did, but he made them count for more by his accuracy. Weber got plenty of speed into both his backhand and forehand drives, but it was this very speed which proved his downfall, for often it made the ball carry out of bounds.

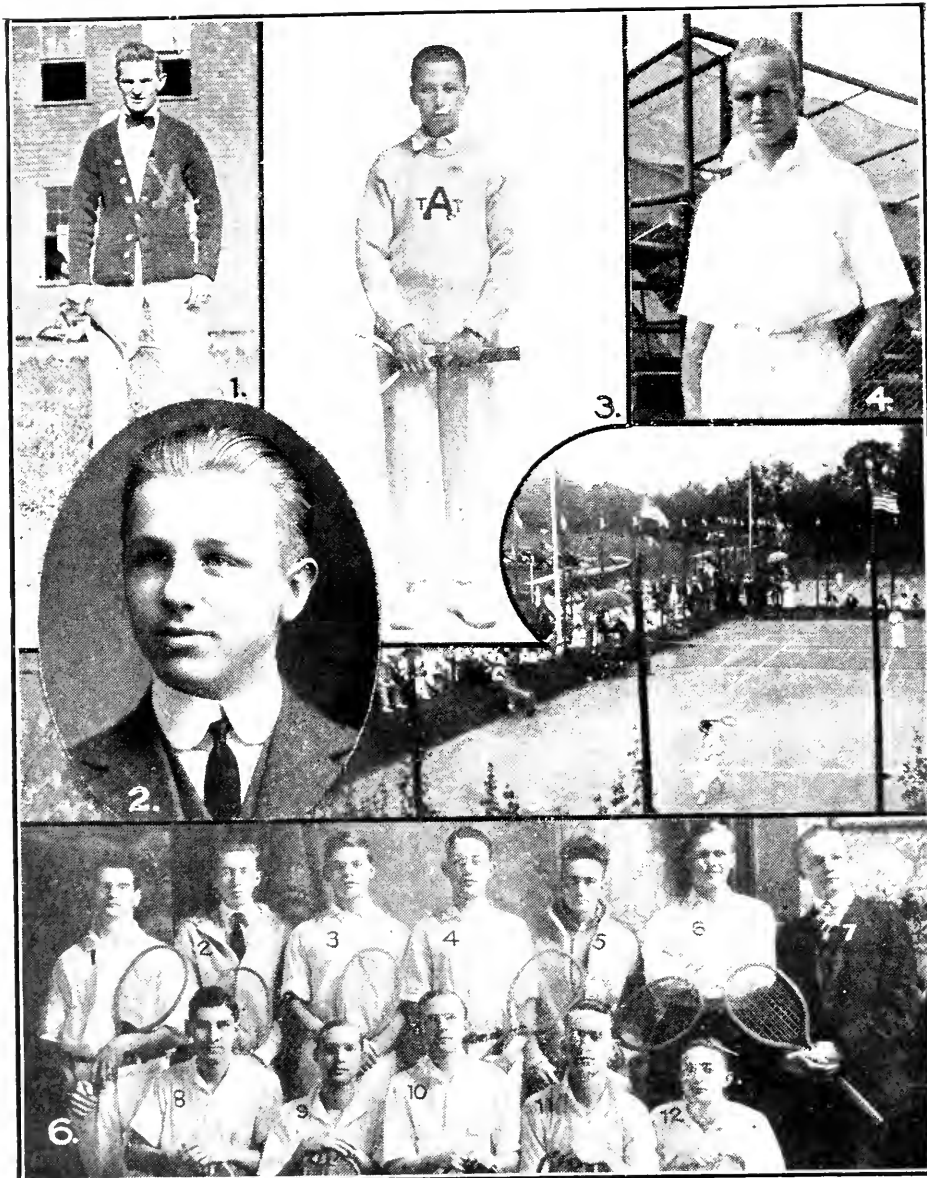

The final round of the doubles was an exhibition of individual prowess, for neither of the combinations showed much team work. Weber and Rand were opposed to Taylor and Binzen, and the victory of the former pair was mainly due to Weber's brilliant play. Taylor was off his game, and Binzen tried to bear the brunt of the battle, but found it too much for him. The summaries:

Metropolitan Junior Championships

BY F. B. ALEXANDER.

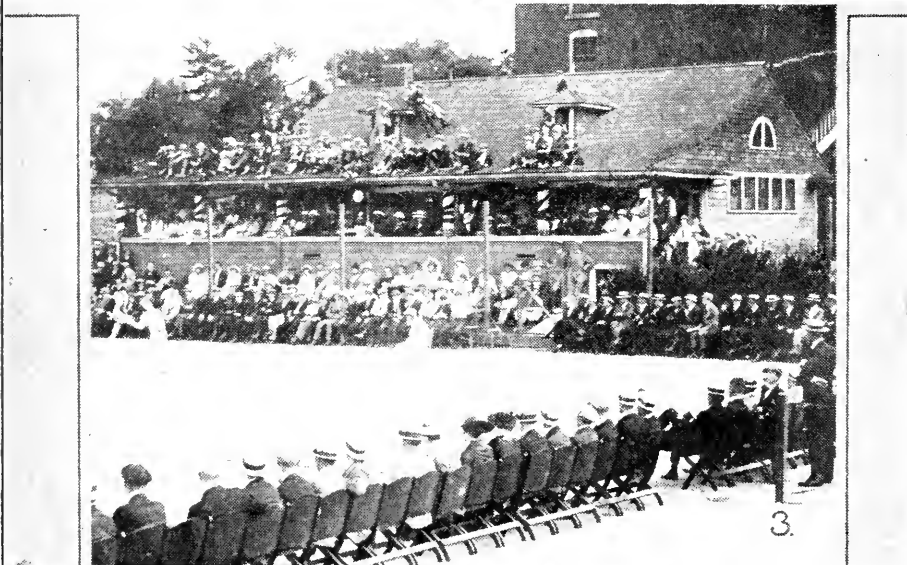

The second annual tournament for the junior metropolitan title of 1915 in singles and doubles, for boys under eighteen years old, was started on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, Long Island, Monday, September 13. A record entry list of 107 in singles and thirty-six pairs in doubles goes far to show the hold tennis has gained among the younger players. An added incentive to the title was the beautiful bowl presented by Goddard Weld Saunders, on which the winner's name is to be engraved each season. The ages of the boys taking part ranged from young Salambier, nine years, to W. Irving Plitt, seventeen. The standard of play was excellent and the development of the strokes of the boys who had taken part the year before marked.

Charles S. Garland, the sixteen-year-old Pittsburgher, fairly demonstrated his superiority over the other contestants, winning all his matches without the loss of a set. L. Maxwell Banks of Brooklyn was his opponent in the final round and put up stiffer opposition than the score would indicate.

The doubles was won by Garland and W. Irving Plitt, the Newtown High School captain, after a hard five-set match in the finals against Herbert W. Forster of Yonkers and George P. Throckmorton, brother of the national inter-scholastic champion. The willingness and desire of the young contestants to aid in every way possible assured the success of the tournament, and the value of this type of tournament is inestimable in the tennis game. Cleveland Junior Tournament

The Lakewood Tennis Club Junior tournament, held under the auspices of the Cleveland News, on the fourteen dry courts of the Lakewood Tennis Club, Cleveland, Ohio, was claimed to be the largest sanctioned tournament in the United States in 1915. One hundred and sixty-four players entered the championship singles and sixty-seven teams in the doubles. The tournament was officially sanctioned by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association.

While classed as a junior event, the majority of the combatants were preparatory school players. The winner of the singles, John Virden, was a member of the University School 'varsity team. In the final round he defeated Charles A. Carran of the Ohio State University, the Western Conference champion. The doubles was won by Charles Carran and Harron Andrews, who represented the Lakewood Tennis Club. The champions and runners-up in each event received silver cups from the News.

This tournament is said to be the largest annual tennis event in Ohio. The 1915 competition not only attracted Cleveland racquet wielders, but drew heavily from nearby towns as well. The matches were witnessed by the largest crowds, so it is claimed, that ever attended Sixth City net contests.

The tennis shown was a surprise to the talent. The boys put up wonderful exhibitions, especially in the late rounds. The champion acquired the right to compete in the national interscholastic tournament at Forest Hills, N. Y., in August. Many of the junior players entered the Cleveland city and Ohio State tournaments, held on the courts of the East End Tennis Club. Virden, junior champion, was a finalist in the State tournament; he also reached the last round in the city tournament.

The junior tournament began June 26 and ended July 14, being run off in remarkably fast time, despite the heavy rain during that period. The summaries:

Arthur Favreau of Wollaston repeated his victory of 1914 by winning the leading honors at the second annual tournament for the junior championship of Massachusetts, played on the Chestnut Hill courts of the Longwood Cricket Club, beginning September 18. One of Favreau's hardest matches was in the semi-finals with Joe Tong of Concord, a young native-born Chinaman, who carried the battle to three sets. The score of the match was 8/6, 4/6, 6/4. In the other semi-final, J. B. Fenno, Jr. defeated Richard Kendall, 6/2, 3/6, 6/1.

In the final round, playing beautiful strokes, Fenno won the first set and forced the second to 7/5. Then Favreau came with a rush, and partly through better physical condition and partly because of superior aggressiveness, took the last set and match, 2/6, 7/5, 6/3.

Staten Island Junior Championships

From a field of fifty-two boys of all sizes entered in the tournament for the junior championship of Staten Island, held by the Clifton Tennis Club of Arrochar, Staten Island, N. Y., early in July, Paul Treanor emerged the winner.

One of the best of the early matches was that between Walter Hanlon of the Curtis High School and Willard Botsford, an English interscholastic champion. Hanlon pulled out the final set at 7/5 after a close struggle. Another interesting match was between Shamus Kelley, who tips the scales at seventy pounds and is about half that number of inches in height, against Fred Vilner, a strapping youth. Shamus was defeated, 6/0, 6/1, but he made a good effort.

George Throckmorton, younger brother to Harold A., won from Herb Foster, but lost to Treanor in the round before the semi-final, in one of the best matches of the tournament. Treanor proved too strong in the third set and won, 6/3, 4/6, 8/6.

In the semi-final round, Treanor defeated Hanlon, whose red hair has earned him the title of the "McLoughlin of Staten Island," 4/6, 7/5, 6/1, and Gildersleeve, from South Orange, won from Zabriskie of New York. This match lasted several hours, the last set going to 15/13. Gildersleeve had disposed of Augustin Vealy of Far Rockaway that same afternoon and played a total of 74 games that day.

In the final round, Treanor was crowned champion of Staten Island by defeating Gildersleeve in four sets, 6/2, 2/6, 6/2, 6/4.

The consolation singles was won by Gerald Donaldson, a son of the president of the Borough Park Tennis Club of Brooklyn.

The first Philadelphia and District indoor junior championships, held in connection with the men's and women's tournament at the First Regiment, N. G. P. Wilson of the Cynwyd Club, who defeated Howard Shiel of the Carrollian Club in the final round, 6/4, 6/4, 6/2. Wilson's victory was quite expected, although it was generally agreed that Shiel would carry him to the full five sets.

In the doubles, Nelson Billington of the Merchantville Field Club and H. R. Dornheim came off victors over Samuel Pennock and Richard Meyers of Penn Charter, in the final round, 6/1, 6/3, 6/4. Philadelphia Junior Clay Court Championship

The tournament for the clay court championship of Philadelphia and district, at the Cynwyd Country Club, early in September, was one of the most successful tennis competitions ever held in the East. The age limit was sixteen years, and the players ranged all the way down to nine years. Some of the boys were not much taller than the net, but many of them displayed natural strokes and good form that augurs well for the future.

The singles event was won by fifteen-year-old Thomas Brown of the Park Hill Tennis Club, New York. He had two hard matches, one in the semi-final with J. Reeve of Haddonfield, and the other in the final against J. Sharfsin of Central High School. Sharfsin and A. M. Harris won the doubles very easily.

The officers and executive committee of the association deserve a great deal of credit for not only inaugurating this event, but for giving generously of their time in attending and refereeing the matches.

Much of the success of the tournament was due to Searing and Vaux Wilson, two Cynwyd youngsters. They financed the affair and secured the entries.

There were thirty entries, and the contest narrowed down to Vischer and R. Beck. The former won the match, 4/6, 6/0, 6/4. The cup is a perpetual trophy donated by Ewing Stille, a veteran Philadelphia player, the winner and runner-up receiving a bat or other desired article as a prize. The matches are the best of three sets, only the last one being vantage. This is to prevent the playing becoming merely an endurance contest. The winners of the cup are as follows: 1904, Stanley W. Pearson; 1905, Harry L. Maxwell; 1906, John L. Stoeber; 1907, E. M. Mann; 1908, Paul B. Kurtz; 1909, William R. Clothier; 1910, F. H. Strawbridge; 1911, W. R. Clothier; 1913, C. F. Clothier; 1914, C. District of Columbia Junior Championships

BY LOUIS I. DOYLE.

One of the pleasing features in and around Washington, D. C., during the tennis season of 1915 was the District of Columbia junior championship, revived after a lapse of twenty years, for players under twenty, of whom fifty participated. This hereafter will be an annual event. The Dumbarton Club, successor of the Bachelors' Club, which has shown special interest in this field, allowed the use of its seven courts on the beautiful club house site overlooking Georgetown and the broad Potomac Valley. The winners were:

Washington Junior State Championship

BY H. C. FORCE, SEATTLE.

The junior singles event in connection with the Washington State championship, held on the courts of the Seattle Athletic Club, was remarkable for more upsets and more long drawn-out matches than any other competition in the tournament. In the first round Marshall Allen defeated Arthur Hurd, 6/0, and was leading, 5/0, in the second set, when Hurd, who had apparently been suffering from stage fright, recovered his nerve and brought the set up to deuce, and later took the lead, but Allen finally won out, 13 to 11. In the third round, in the semi-final and the final, Allen each time lost the first set and then pulled out the match. Taylor, whom he defeated in the semi-final, won the singles in 1914, and was expected to win again, thereby capturing the Hurd cup, but his defeat ended all hopes for the prize, as in 1916 he will be too old to enter as a junior player. The summaries:

Hartford Defeats New Haven.—By winning seven matches out of nine in the semi-annual match at Hartford, Conn., October 8, the Hartford Golf Club defeated the New Haven Lawn Club and secured possession of the second interclub cup, which has been in competition between the two clubs since 1910. New Haven had won four times in succession, beginning in May, 1913, and in October, 1914, led by five wins to four. Hartford evened up matters in May, 1915, and the sixth and final competition for the trophy occurred last October.

Harvard Interscholastic Tournament.—S. Thayer of Phillips Andover Academy won the Harvard interscholastic title, and Phillips Andover Academy the championship shield, in the tournament held at the Harvard University courts, Cambridge, Mass., beginning May 15. There were forty-three entries, representing ten schools, and Phillips Andover's team of seven men had little difficulty in winning the team trophy with fourteen points; Phillips Exeter was second with a team of ten men and eight points, while St. Mark's School, with only one entry, was third with five points. Thayer won the individual championship from R. Rand of St. Mark's School, only after the hardest kind of a struggle. The match went to the full five sets, the last of which went to deuce before Thayer broke through by a splendid rally and finally won set, match and championship. Besides the finalists, C. H. Beasley of Stearns School, especially, deserves mention for having played brilliantly throughout the tournament. Perhaps the most spectacular match came in the first round, when W. Hammersclough of Andover forced Rand to play three sets before being defeated, and winning the second set, 20/18. Honolulu Tournament.—The tournament held in connection with the Mid-Pacific Carnival on the asphalt courts of the Pacific Tennis Club, Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, February 20 to 27, created unusual interest. William M. Johnston and Henry Breck of San Francisco represented the Pacific Coast, while E. P. Larned, who had been spending the winter in Honolulu, helped out the local players, who did fairly well. The final round of the singles brought together Johnston and Larned, the former winning quite easily. There was no regular doubles tournament, but three local teams were selected to meet the Californians. Johnston and Breck defeated Hoogs and Argabrite, 6/4, 6/4, and then disposed of Larned and Lowrey, 6/4, 6/3, 8/6. Interclub Matches in Cleveland.—During the season of 1915 many interclub matches were held in Cleveland, Ohio, which developed interest in the game. W. Botten of the East End Club.

Lawn Tennis Becoming Popular in Syracuse.—That lawn tennis is increasing in popularity in Syracuse, N. Y., is attested by the following facts, given by E. L. Robertson of that city: Tennis is now commencing to take front rank among Syracuse sports. Not alone are the players at the two prominent tennis clubs, Sedgwick Farm and Thornden, more active in play and more keen in competition, but there are a number of public parks in which excellent tennis courts, open to the public, are located and which are very popular. The players from the public parks are beginning to enter the open local tournaments, and, judging from their improvement, they will soon be contenders for championship honors. Aside from club tournaments, the greatest interest in tennis in 1915 was centered in the city championships, held in September at the Sedgwick Farm Club. The number of entries was large and the contests good. Among those prominent in this tournament were Stuart F. Raleigh, who successfully defended his title of city champion; E. L. Robertson, winner of singles and challenger for the title; John Shove, runner-up, and A. R. Acheson and J. C. Richters, doubles champions. There is also a list of players, any one of whom may encompass the downfall of those seemingly ranked above him, namely, Walker, Thomas Raleigh, Worden, Wadsworth and one or two others. A very close and exciting team competition between the Sedgwick Farm and Thornden clubs wound up the season. This was decided by the last match in favor of the Sedgwick Farm Club. The score in singles was 3 to 3, while in the doubles the latter club won two out of the three matches.

In the doubles, Williams was paired with Harry C. Johnson, and the pair repeated their 1914 victory by defeating N. W. Niles and A. S. Dabney in a five-set match. J., duplicated his victory of the previous year by winning the interscholastic championship, held under the auspices of the Princeton University Tennis Association, May 15. In the final round he defeated H. K. Bulkeley of Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., the runner-up in 1914. The summaries: First round—H. A. Throckmorton (Woodbridge H.S.) d. J. B. Rockaway Hunting Club Invitation Tournament.—S. H. Voshell won the singles and H. H. Hackett and T. R. Pell the doubles at the annual invitation tournament of the Rockaway Hunting Club, held on the grass courts of the club at Cedarhurst, L. I., from July 19 to 24. The finals on the last day of the tournament drew a big crowd. The singles match delighted the gallery, but the doubles was a disappointment. Ward and Beekman were generally thought to have a good chance to win, at least they were expected to put up a great fight. Hackett and Pell, however, did exactly what they liked with the ball and allowed them only five games. For the winners, Hackett played a great game, making some wonderful drives and volleys. The summaries: Men's singles—First round—H. A. Throckmorton d. G. A. L. Dionne, 6/3, 6/3; C. C. Pell d. William Rosenbaum, 6/4, 6/1; F. C. Inman d. B. M. Phillips, 6/4, 2/6, 7/5; A. S. Dabney d. H. PARTICIPANTS IN CHICAGO TOURNAMENTS.

Rocky Mountain Conference Tournament.—The Universities of Colorado and Utah, the Colorado School of Mines, and the Colorado Agricultural College took part in the annual Rocky Mountain Conference tennis tournament, held at Denver, Colo., May 22. The Utah entries gave the event an intersectional flavor it had never before enjoyed. The tournament narrowed to a contest between the Colorado and Utah universities. In the doubles, Colorado's team, Richard Scott and Russell Wells, won in one of the closest and most thrilling five-set matches ever seen on a Denver court. Utah took two out of the first three sets and led at 4/3 in the fourth. Fighting for every point, Colorado pulled out the set, 9/7, and took the deciding one, 11/9, after Utah had been twice within two points of victory. Gibbs and Little of Utah won decisively in singles. Both came through to the finals without the loss of a set, playing splendid tennis. They did not play off the final round, but agreed to hold the championship between them. Dennison of the Colorado "Aggies" proved the real surprise of the tournament. He showed an exceptionally brilliant game, and upset the dope by defeating Scott of Colorado in straight sets. Dennison promises to be a hard man to defeat in future Conference meets. The School of Mines team showed the effects of lack of practice, and was defeated in the first round. The courts at the School of Mines had not been in condition for practice previous to the tournament.

Schuylkill Valley Championship.—W. T. Tilden, Jr. of Philadelphia won the championship of the Schuylkill Valley, held on the clay courts of the Plymouth Country Club at Norristown, Pa., beginning July 12. In the final round, Tilden defeated N. W. Swayne, 6/1, 6/4, 3/6, 6/1. Partnered with Roy Coffin, he won the doubles, and against such sterling performers as Wallace Johnson and J. J. Armstrong, the Delaware State champions. Paul W. Gibbons won the men's consolation singles, and, with Brooke Edwards as a partner, also annexed the doubles.

Scranton (Pa.) Championship.—The tournament for the championship of Scranton, Pa., on the grounds of the Scranton Tennis Club, July 3 and 5, had twenty-eight entries in the singles and thirty teams in the doubles. The quality of play was far above that of the previous year, which resulted in the matches attracting a great deal more interest. The final round of the singles between the Rev. J. H. Rendall and Roland von Maur resulted in a victory for the former in a gruelling five-set match, 6/3, 6/2, 2/6, 0/6, 6/1. In the doubles, Roland von Maur and Robert Lowry defeated Robert McClave and Rev. J. H. Rendall in the final round, 2/6, 6/3, 1/6, 6/4, 7/5.

Seattle (Wash.) City Championships.—In a brilliant exhibition of tennis, Sam Russell of the Seattle Tennis Club defeated Ralph Fulton, city champion, in the final round of the Seattle Athletic Club tournament for the championship of Seattle, July 1. 8/6, 6/2, 5/7, 4/6, 7/5. These two players, as partners in the doubles, defeated Palmer and Small, 6/1, 6/2. Miss Sara Livingstone won the women's singles, defeating Mrs. Stafford in the final round, 6/0, 6/0. In the mixed doubles, Miss A. Greene and Fulton triumphed over Mr. and Mrs. Stafford, in the final round, 6/2, 6/1.

Seattle (Wash.) Interscholastic Championships.—P. I. Chamberlain of Broadway School won the interscholastic championship of Seattle in singles, at the fourth annual tournament held by the Seattle Tennis Club, beginning June 1. This victory gives the Broadway School its second leg on the cup, which has also been won once each by Franklin and West Seattle schools. Chamberlain had a hard five-set match with Ralph Miller, the runner-up in 1914, the final score being 3/6, 4/6, 8/6, 8/6, 6/1. The doubles final resulted in a victory for Chamberlain and Allen, who defeated Kitamura and Latham, 3/6, 6/1, 2/6, 6/3, 6/1.

Southern Intercollegiate Championship.—Douglas Watters of Tulane University won the Southern intercollegiate championship at the tournament held on the new clay courts of the Country Club of New Orleans, beginning May 10. Watters had as opponent Gillespie Stacy of the University of Texas in the final round, but the Tulane representative won in straight sets because he was a little steadier of the two and his placing very accurate. The summaries: Singles—First round—Stacy (Tulane) d. McGill (Vanderbilt), 6/3, 6/3; Bruns (Tulane) d. Fellows (Louisiana State), 6/1, 6/1; Young (Vanderbilt) d. Tabor (Louisiana State), 6/3, 6/1; D. Young and McGill (Vanderbilt), 6/1, 6/2, 6/1; Watters and Bruns d. (Georgia Tech.), by default. Final round—Watters and Bruns d. Stacy and Broad, 6/3, 6/4, 8/10, 6/3.

South Jersey Tournament.—The sixteenth annual open South Jersey championship tournament, held on the Ocean City Yacht Club courts, created a great deal of interest and was a success from every viewpoint. It was the first time the tournament was held under the rules of the National Association. There were seventy-five entries in the men's singles, twenty-four pairs in the doubles, eight in women's singles, four in women's doubles and seven in mixed doubles. In the final round of men's singles, Edward T. Catlett defeated E. M. Edwards, 6/3, 6/2, 4/6, 6/4, but in the challenge round, Harvey Y. Lake, the title holder, defeated Catlett, the challenger, 8/6, 7/5, 6/3. In the men's doubles, Dr. B. B. V. Lyon and Thomson defeated Arthur Kerr and Wallace Rhoads in the final round, 7/5, 8/6, 5/7, 6/3. Lyon and Thomson were again victors in the challenge round, defeating Catlett and J. Kerr, title holders, 6/1, 6/4, 3/6, 6/2. Miss Anne E. Wallace won both the final and challenge rounds in women's singles, and Mrs. Weitzel and Mrs. Tuttle won the women's doubles. The honors in the mixed doubles were carried off by Dr. and Mrs. B. B. V. Lyon.

South Orange (N. J.) Tennis Club Tournament.—In a successful invitation tournament, held by the South Orange Lawn Tennis Club of South Orange, N. J., September 22 to 24, Miss Clare Cassel defeated Miss Florence Ballin in the final round of the singles, 7/5, 6/1. Paired with Miss Marie Wagner, Miss Cassel annexed the doubles, winning from Miss Ruth Cheeseman and Miss May Whaley in the final round, 6/3, 6/2.

Staten Island (N. Y.) Championship.—L. W. Fisher of Cornell University had a hard road to travel before emerging the winner of the Staten Island championship, at the tournament held by the Clifton Tennis Club of Arrochar, Staten Island, early in September. In the semi-finals, Fisher defeated J. B. Foreman, 6/4, 0/6, 6/1, and A. J. Cawse won from T. D. Doyle, 6/0, 6/2. In the final, Cawse led Fisher two sets to one and three to one in games, when the latter put on an extra burst of speed and won eleven out of the next fourteen games and the championship, 2/6, 6/2, 1/6, 6/4, 6/2.

Stockbridge Golf and Tennis Club Tournament.—W. S. Cushing of Simsbury, Conn., won his third leg on the challenge bowl, at the annual tournament held at Stockbridge, Mass., during the week of August 23. He defeated A. M. Wilder, the Oberlin (Ohio) College champion, the tournament winner, 6/3, 5/7, 6/3, 6/1. In the final round of the doubles, Cushing and Doty won from Dwight Partridge and D. T. Dana, in the final round, 6/0, 6/2, 6/4. Mrs. Stoddard won the women's singles, and, with Mrs. Gourley, also the doubles, but in the mixed doubles, Mrs. Gourley, with Dwight Partridge as a partner, was defeated by Mrs. Fenno and Doty, 0/6, 7/5, 6/3.

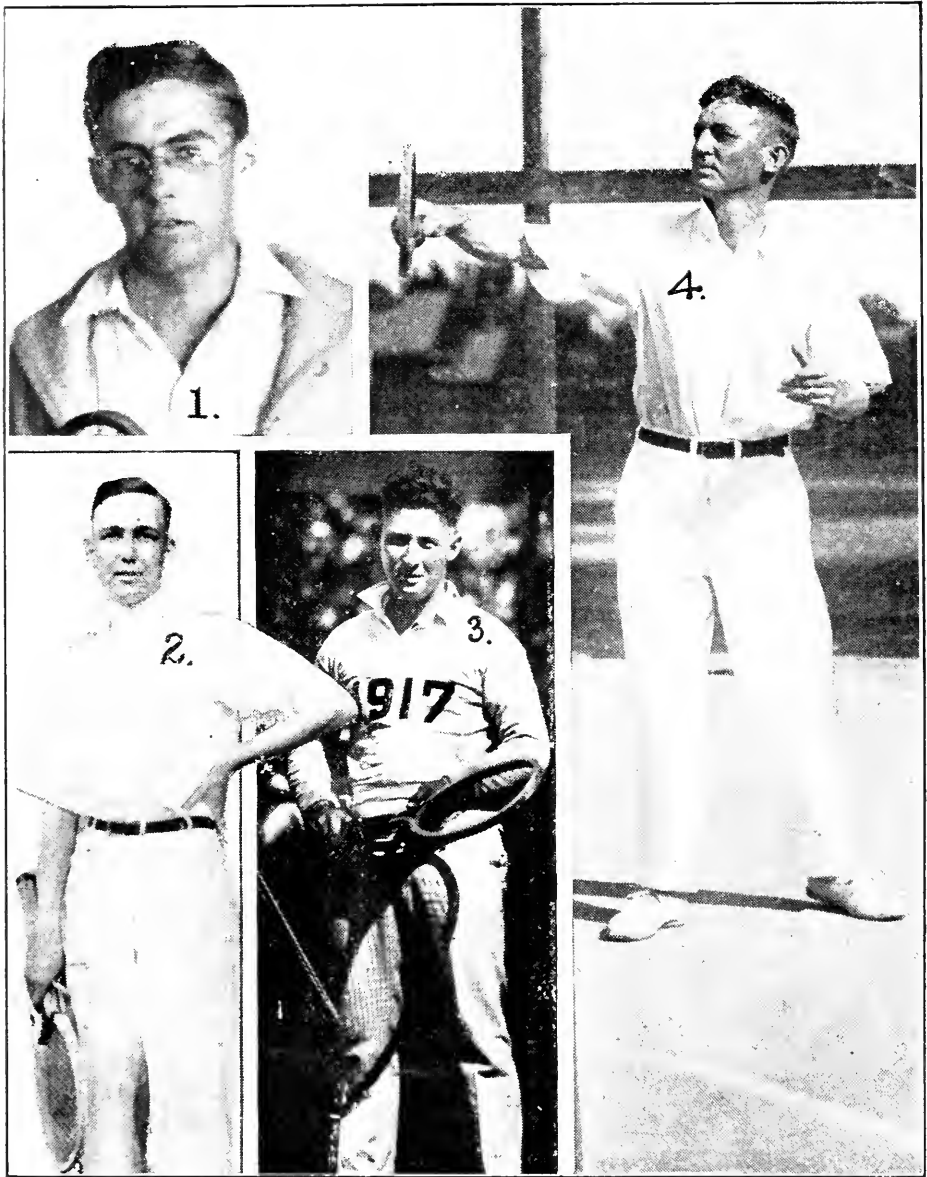

Suburban Tennis League Tournament.—The Greenpoint club, which lost the Suburban Tennis League championship to the University of Pennsylvania Courts by only one point in 1914, carried off the honors in the 1915 tournament with the remarkable record of seventy-five points out of a possible ninety points. T. C. Leonards of the University of Pennsylvania Courts won the singles honors of the competition, and Leonards and Dr. E. L. Eliason took the individual doubles championship with nine victories and one defeat. The standing of the clubs follows:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Greenpoint	75	15	Stenton	21	69
Belfield	72	18	P. and R. A. A.	21	69
U. of Pa. Courts.....	65	25	Wissahickon	16	74

Sunningdale Country Club Tournament.—The Sunningdale Country Club of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., held its first open tournament, beginning September 20, with a good entry list, which produced interesting competitions. Benjamin M. Phillips won the singles honors, defeating H. W. Forster in the final round, 7/5, 6/2, 7/5. The doubles event went to R. L. Baggs and F. T. Hunter, who won a close match in the final from Phillips and Dr. William Rosenbaum, 9/7, 6/4.

Talbot Country Club Tournament.—The third annual open tournament of the Talbot Country Club of Easton, Md., was made doubly attractive by the fact that it was recognized as a peninsula championship, for which a solid silver trophy for the singles and two for the doubles were offered. The singles, which were hotly contested, resulted in a victory for Chauncey Crawford, who defeated Fred Starr in the final round, 6/2, 6/2, 8/6. In the final round of doubles, S. Fleming and F. Schell of Cambridge, Md., won from C. Crawford and J. Iglehart, 3/6, 8/6, 4/6, 6/2, 6/2.

The Md. Sensation of 1915 in the Philippine Islands.—The lawn tennis players of Manila, the center of the game in the Philippine Islands, were treated to a veritable sensation when E. S. Gee, the champion of that city, who is connected with the Department of Public Works of the Islands and who is in no small way responsible for the advancement of the sport in that country, gave a thrilling exhibition of the "come-back" article by defeating two of the United States best players, Clarence J. Griffin, who, with W. M. Johnston, are the national doubles champions, and Ward Dawson, ranked seventh among players of the Pacific Coast, one immediately following the other. The fact is the local veteran, as they term Gee in Manila, had fallen back a bit in his playing previous to the visit of the two American experts, but quite surprisingly, in anticipation of the arrival of the visitors, he was playing the game of his life, just before meeting them on the courts. Although Griffin and Dawson had been off the boat but three days they played hard tennis, showing no evidence of being handicapped by "sealegs." Gee's first match was with Dawson. In the first set both men played carefully, Gee winning, 7/5. In the second set, Dawson played the fastest tennis ever seen in Manila, defeating the local champion, 6/4. In the third, Dawson tired. He still shone with his overhand smashes, but his hard drives either skipped out of the court or smashed into the net. He dropped the set, 6/0. No sooner had Dawson been disposed of, than Gee took on Griffin. He won, 6/1, 7/5, and the time occupied in playing the two matches was two hours and ten minutes. The principal point in Gee's play was its accuracy. His service was better than ever before.

Thousand Islands Tournament.—The tournament of the Thousand Islands Country Club, held on its clay courts on Wellesley Island, Alexandria Bay, N. Y., during the week of July 12, was entirely successful. The sensation of the tournament was the defeat of Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the national champion, by Mrs. Marshall McLean, former holder of the national title. The latter won in straight sets, 6/3, 7/5. The men's singles was taken by Charles M. Bull, Jr., of Brooklyn, who defeated Irving C. Wright of Boston in the final round, 6/4, 2/6, 5/7, 7/5, 8/6. Clarence Hobart and L. H. Vilas defeated Irving C. Wright and A. G. Miles in the men's doubles, 7/5, 5/7, 7/5, 7/5, and in the mixed doubles Miss Bjurstedt and G. E. McLean defeated Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Briggs in the final round, 4/6, 6/0, 7/5.

Tri-County (Pennsylvania) Championship.—W. S. McElroy of Pittsburgh again won the singles honors in the second annual tri-county tennis tournament for the championship of Allegheny, Fayette and Westmoreland (Pennsylvania) counties, held under the auspices of the Trafford Tennis Association during the week of July 31. In the final round McElroy had J. C. Mackrell as an opponent, and the former, playing perfect tennis, had an easy victory, 6/0, 6/0, 6/4. The doubles brought out some of the best tennis ever seen in Pittsburgh. Lloyd and N. W. Swayne, who were picked as almost sure finalists, were put out in a fast match by the Castles of Allegheny College fame. The deciding round was delayed until October 30, when Dr. T. W. Stephens and McElroy repeated their success of the previous year by defeating J. G. and H. Castle, 2/6, 6/2, 5/7, 6/4, 6/1.

Tri-State League Championship.—The championship season of the Tri-State League, composed of clubs of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, was brought to a close October 23, with a match between Overbrook, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., played at Overbrook, the home team winning, 9—0. Belfield had previously won first place by defeating Overbrook, 6—3. The contesting teams in the league race were: Belfield Country Club, Overbrook Golf Club, Plymouth Country Club and Cynwyd Club, Pennsylvania; Moorestown (N. J.) Field Club and Wilmington (Del.) Country Club. The Belfield team made a remarkable record, winning seventy out of a possible ninety points. Percy S. Osborne, captain of the team, went through the season without sustaining a defeat. As was generally anticipated, the Overbrook Golf Club finished in second place. Osborne won the individual singles championship, while trophies, emblematic of the doubles championship, went to Howard Biddle, captain of the Overbrook team, and E. B. Moore of the Belfield Country Club. The final standing of the teams follows:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Belfield Country Club.....	70	20	Moorestown Field Club.....	30	60
Overbrook Golf Club.....	61	29	Cynwyd Club.....	26	61
Plymouth Country Club.....	55	35	Wilmington Country Club.....	25	62

Uniontown (Pa.) Tennis Club Tournament.—The fourth annual open tournament of the Uniontown Tennis Club was held September 8 and following days. The four clay courts were in perfect condition, and with ideal weather during the entire event, some interesting and remarkable matches were seen. Thomas Cummins of Wheeling, W. Va., played an exceptionally fine game, and well earned the singles cup by defeating his teammate from Wheeling, Wright Hugus, in the final round. In the challenge round, Cummins played W. S. McElroy of Pittsburgh, Pa., who already had two legs on the cup. After losing the first set at 1/6, Cummins came back in splendid form, for after allowing McElroy a lead of four games to none, he ran the set out at 10/8. He won the third set, dropped the fourth, and took the fifth set and match. The men's doubles was won by Hugus and Cummins, who defeated Read and Pardee in straight sets. In the mixed doubles, the visiting players were disposed of in the second round, leaving R. K. Neilson and Miss Frances Breckenridge of Uniontown to win the final round from F. W. Newhall and Miss Madeline Bulger, also of Uniontown. The summaries: First round—F. A. Galer d. Merkle, by default; H. B. Mustin d. C. M. Johnson, 6/3, 6/0; R. K. Neilson d. E. University Heights Tennis Club Tournament.—The fifth annual open tournament of the University Heights Tennis Club, New York City, opened July 3 and finished July 11. There was a record entry both as to size and class, which was probably partly due to the fact that the United States National Lawn Tennis Association granted to the club the North Side championship in singles and doubles, and partly to the added attraction of The Tribune Challenge Cup, a handsome solid silver affair, to go to the player winning the singles three times, not necessarily in succession. The draw showed an even one hundred entries for this event. It was an exceptionally well balanced draw, bringing together in the semi-finals Arthur Lovibond, last year's winner, and Jimmie O'Neale, the Columbia base ball pitcher and last year's runner-up, both members of the Hamilton Grange Club, in the upper half, and Abe Bassford, Jr., of Hartsdale, and his erstwhile pupil, F. T. Hunter of New Rochelle and Cornell University, in the lower bracket. Lovibond repeated his success of last year in defeating O'Neale, 6/1, 7/5, but Hunter proved altogether too strong for Bassford, who changed his usual lobbing game and forsook the backline for the net, only to have Hunter repeatedly find the side lines with his severe forehand drive in passing shots. The score was 6/4, 6/1. The final between Hunter and Lovibond was a heartbreaking affair for the veteran, who, with the sets two-all and the games five to two in his favor, found his strength failing in the face of the hard attack of his young opponent. Several times Lovibond seemed about to pull it out, but Hunter finally won, and his will be the first name engraved on the challenge trophy. The score: 6/4, 2/6, 5/7, 6/4, 7/5. The doubles went to Lovibond and Steinkampf, the latter of Bedford Park. Their opponents in the final round were Hunter and Al. Ostendorf, also of Bedford Park. A close match seemed assured, but Lovibond and Steinkampf won in straight sets, mainly due to Ostendorf's wildness; this in spite of the fact that Lovibond and Steinkampf had already played a match that day, the semi-finals, which they were at some trouble to pull out against Charles Chambers of Kings County and J. Mersereau of the home club, who took the first set from the ultimate winners, 8/6. The score of the final was 6/4, 10/8, 6/1.

Western New York Interscholastic Tournament.—A large entry of schoolboys was received by the Western New York interscholastic championship tournament, held by the Park Club of Buffalo, beginning June 7. Cornelius Boocock of the Nichols School of Buffalo won the championship title by defeating Chester Gale of the Lafayette High School, 4/6, 6/3, 6/3, 6/4. The Albert T. Spaulding Cup for the school whose players win the greatest number of actual matches played during the tournament was captured by the Lafayette High School of Buffalo.

Wheeling Tennis Club Tournament.—With ideal weather conditions, and with the largest entry in the history of the event, the fourth annual open tournament of the Wheeling Tennis Club was successfully conducted on the five clay courts of the club at Edgedale, Wheeling, June 21 to 25. The final round of singles brought together Brown Ransom of Beaver Falls, a lad eighteen years old, and Thomas Cummins of Wheeling, former Cornell tennis captain. It was a contest between steadiness and accuracy on one side and brilliancy and speed on the other. However, steadiness played a greater part in the winning, and Ransom came through the victor in four remarkable sets, 6/3, 6/4, 6/8, 6/2. In the challenge round, Ransom disposed of J. E. McLain, holder, 6/2, 6/0, 3/6, 6/2. The doubles possessed all the usual interest, and with twenty-two teams entered, Wright Hugus and Thomas Beattie of Wheeling, duplicating their successes of 1913 and 1914, finally captured the event over Meade and McLain, 4/6, 7/5, 6/3. In the consolation singles, R. J. Agnew defeated S. Lewis in straight sets, 6/2, 6/3.

Woodmere (L. I.) Tournament.—Arthur M. Lovibond of the Seventh Regiment, New York City, won the singles at the fifth annual tournament of the Woodmere Tennis Club of Woodmere, L. I., which began July 12. By the victory Lovibond obtains his first leg on the cup, which contains the names of G. A. L. Dionne, twice; M. Galva and Charles Chambers. Lovibond met Chambers in the final round, defeating him in five interesting sets, 5/7, 2/6, 7/5, 6/2, 6/3. Lovibond kept up his winning streak in the doubles, when he and H. J. Steinkampf defeated Chambers and L. Reimer, 6/3, 1/6, 3/6, 6/4, 6/4.

Women's Interclub Tournament.—The Philadelphia Cricket Club team won the women's interclub tournament, first division, having a remarkable record of twenty wins without a single defeat. There was a triple tie for second honors between the Philadelphia Country Club, Germantown and Merion Cricket Clubs. The Cynwyd Country Club won only three matches out of twenty. Belfield won the championship of the second division. The team made a wonderful showing, winning twenty-two out of twenty-five matches. Jennings in a long and hard fought match in the final round of singles, 6/4, 6/4, 7/9, 1/6, 8/6. In the doubles, R. C. Bray and G. F. Wales had a hard row to hoe on their path to the championship, being forced to the limit in all their matches. In the final round C. H. Collesher and C. F. Porter showed the better team work, but this was offset by the speedier game of Bray and Wales, who won, 6/4, 6/3, 5/7, 5/7, 6/1.

Yale Interscholastic Tournament.—Charles S. Garland of Edgewood High School, Pittsburgh, Pa., won the Yale interscholastic championship, defeating L. H. Wiley of Hartford (Conn.) Annual Meeting of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association

BY F. B. ALEXANDER.

President Robert D. Wrenn called to order the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association shortly before 5 P. M., Friday, February 11, 1916. Many delegates representing clubs were present, but not as many as at the meeting of 1915, as it was not expected any discussion would arise over the awarding of the national championships. The afternoon session was devoted to calling the roll. The reading of the minutes of the 1915 meeting was dispensed with and the usual routine reports of the Secretary and the Treasurer were accepted. Reports of the special committees were then received, the most important of which was the one from the Committee on Ways and Means of Popularizing Lawn Tennis. The resolution as adopted is as follows:

First—The admission to membership in the United States National Lawn Tennis Association of Park Associations, without dues and without vote, and under certain other conditions, as set forth in proposed amendments to the Constitution published in the call for the annual meeting.

Second—The encouragement not only of Interscholastic Tournaments but also Junior and Boys' Tournaments, the winner or other chosen substitute participant of each Interscholastic or Junior Tournament being eligible to take part in a Sectional Junior Tournament, in which Section such Interscholastic or Junior Tournament was held, and the winner, or other chosen substitute participant of each Section Junior Tournament, shall be eligible to play in a National Junior Championship Tournament, to be held at the same time and place as the National Singles Championship.

To carry out the above the following changes are recommended:

(a) Change the title "Regulations for Interscholastic Tournaments" to "Regulations for Interscholastic and Junior Tournaments" and change the Regulations so they shall read as follows:

Colleges, Clubs or Park Associations, members directly or indirectly of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, may, with the consent of the Association, give Interscholastic or Junior Tournaments.

Players in Interscholastic Tournaments shall be limited to boys attending schools preparing for college.

Only players under twenty years of age are eligible to take part.

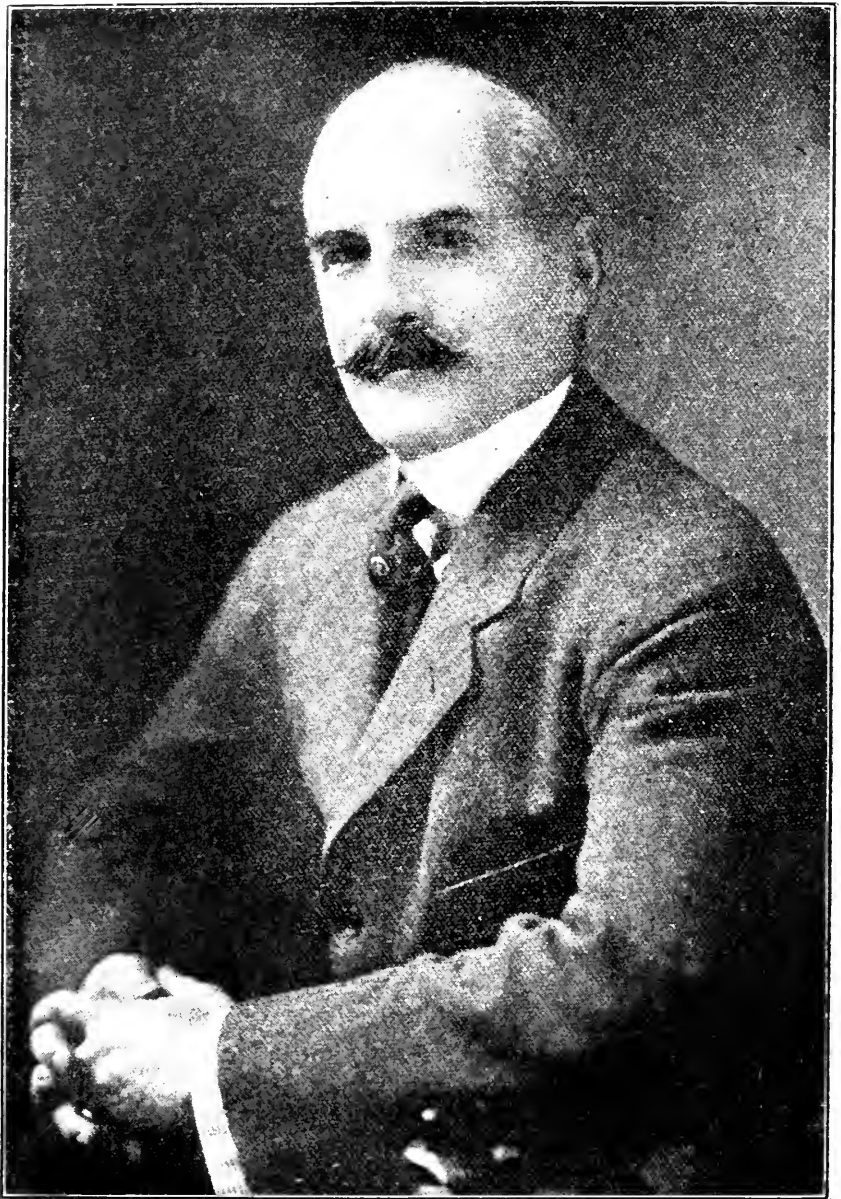

The winner of each Interscholastic or Junior Tournament (or, in the event that he is unable to play, another participant named by the management of the Tournament) is eligible to take part in any one Sectional Junior Tournament, and the winner (or, in the event that he is unable to play, another participant named by the management of the Tournament) is eligible to take part in a National Junior Championship, to be held at the same time and place as the National Singles Championship.

No dues shall be required by the National Association other than the regular dues (if any) of the organization giving the event.

(b) Establish "Regulations for Boys' Tournaments" as follows:

Clubs, Colleges, Schools or Park Associations, members directly or indirectly of the U. S. N. L. T. A., may, with the consent of the Association, give Boys' Tournaments. Only boys under seventeen years of age are eligible to take part.

The winner of each Boys' Tournament (or, in the event that he is unable to play,

EDWIN F. TORREY,
Clinton, New York.

Secretary United States National Lawn Tennis Association.

another participant named by the management of the Tournament) is eligible to take part in any one Sectional Boys' Tournament, and the winner (or, in the event that he is unable to play, another participant named by the management of the Tournament) is eligible to take part in a National Boys' Championship, to be held at the same time and place as the National Singles Championship.

The report of the Ranking Committee was adopted and three paragraphs added to the Rules and Regulations of Tournaments, which will be found on page 318 of this Annual. Election of officers came next. The meeting viewed with regret the retirement of Robert D. Wrenn from the presidency and gave him a vote of thanks for his indefatigable services. George T. Adee of New York and President of the Country Club of Westchester was elected to fill the vacancy. After this a recess was taken and more than one hundred delegates and tennis enthusiasts participated in an informal dinner.

At 9 P. M. President Adee called the meeting to order. Routine business followed. The various national championships were awarded again to the West Side Tennis Club of Forest Hills, this time unanimously. The other important tournaments were awarded as last season, with the exception that the Clay Court Championships were given to the Lakewood Tennis Club of Cleveland, upon which Richard Kroesen, their representative, thanked the delegates present in a distinctly original and flowery speech, which was received with great applause. Three new Sectional Doubles Championships were awarded: The Southwestern Association, the Middle Atlantic and the Missouri Valley. The Davis Cup Committee presented no report on account of the unfortunate conditions existing abroad, therefore there will be no Davis Cup contest for 1916.

The much discussed amateur question was not brought up, all feeling that unduly hasty action would be detrimental to the best interests of the game and that it would be best to defer discussion on this subject until 1917.

Regulations for the International Lawn Tennis Association Davis Cup

Revised and Adopted by the United States, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Austria and Australia, 1906.

1. The competition shall be called "The International Lawn Tennis Championship," and shall be open to any nation which has a recognized Lawn Tennis Association or Corresponding Organization; and, for the purposes of the Regulations, Australia, with New Zealand, the British Isles, British South Africa, Canada, India, Sweden and Norway, and the United States of America shall, amongst others, be regarded as separate Nations.

2. The Nation for the time being holding the International Lawn Tennis Championship shall hereinafter be termed "The Champion Nation."

3. The Competition shall take place in accordance with the following regulations, and, except in so far as may be agreed upon by the competing Nations for their own Tie, with the Laws and Regulations of the game for the time being sanctioned by the Champion Nation.

4. The management of the Competition shall be entrusted to a Committee, hereafter termed "The Committee of Management," which shall be appointed annually by the Lawn Tennis Association or Corresponding Organization of the Champion Nation.

5. The Committee of Management shall make all arrangements for the preliminary Tie or Ties (if any) of the Competition where such preliminary Tie or Ties are to be played in the Country of the Champion Nation, and also for the Challenge Tie, and its decision in respect of all such arrangements shall be final. The Committee of Management shall also have power to depute to others, in any preliminary Tie or Ties, the making of all or any such arrangements as may be deemed necessary.

6. Any Nation wishing to compete shall give notice to the Secretary of the Lawn Tennis Association or Corresponding Organization of the Champion Nation, so that it shall reach him not later than the first Monday in March of the year, in which the Competition is to take place. Should more than one Nation challenge, they shall compete among themselves for the right to play the Champion Nation in the Challenge Tie. The Draw, at which each Challenging Nation may be represented, shall be made by the Committee of Management on the day following the first Monday in March, and particulars shall be notified to the respective Secretaries for the time being of the Lawn Tennis Associations or Corresponding Organizations of the several competing Nations, with an intimation of the latest date by which the Tie or Ties shall be concluded. Failure to conclude a Tie by the date fixed by the Committee of Management shall render both Sides liable to be scratched, unless in the opinion of the Committee of Management, the weather or other unavoidable hindrance, shall have made completion impossible. Competing Nations shall arrange among themselves for the playing of their respective Ties upon a ground or grounds, and upon a date or dates convenient to those concerned; but, in the event of an agreement not being arrived at, the preliminary Tie or Ties shall be played in the country of the Champion Nation upon a ground or grounds, and upon a date or dates, to be fixed upon by the Committee of Management.

7. When gate money shall be taken, one half of the profit shall belong to the visiting Nation; or, in the case of a Tie being played on neutral ground, one third each to the visiting Nations, and the remaining fraction of profit in each case shall go to the Nation in whose Country the Tie shall be played.

8. The Challenge Tie shall be played in the country of the Champion Nation at a date and upon a ground to be agreed upon by common consent. In the event of an agreement not being arrived at, the fixing of the date and ground shall be submitted to Arbitration.

9. A player shall be qualified to represent a Nation, if he shall have been born in that Nation, or shall have resided therein for at least two years immediately preceding a Tie, provided always that he be a bona fide Amateur; but, no one shall be entitled to play for more than one Nation in this Competition during the same year. During the time that a player may be qualifying to play for a Nation under the residential qualifications, he may play for the Nation for which he shall have been last previously qualified.

10. The Lawn Tennis Association or Corresponding Organization of each of the Nations concerned shall appoint a Captain of its Side. In default of such appointment a Side shall choose its own Captain.

11. For each Tie a Referee, from whose decision there shall be no appeal, shall be appointed by common consent of the Captains of the competing Sides. He shall have power to appoint Umpires. He shall decide any point of law which an Umpire may profess himself unable to decide, or which may be referred to him on appeal from the decision of an Umpire by the players. He shall decide, if he be called upon to decide by the Captain of either Side, whether or not a Match or Matches shall be stopped owing to the state of the courts, the state of the weather, darkness, or other unavoidable hindrance.

12. (a) Each competing Nation shall, twenty-one days before the date fixed for the commencement of a Tie, nominate to the Committee of Management not more than four players, without specifying who shall play in Singles and Doubles. Different players, however, may be nominated by a Nation for different Ties.

(b) Each Captain shall, twenty-four hours before the time fixed for the commencement of play in each Contest, give notice of the composition of his Team to the Executive Committee, and his Team shall be selected from the four players previously nominated for the Tie. Such selection by the Captain, however, shall be regarded as solely for the convenience of the Executive Committee, and may be varied by him before the commencement of play.

(c) For the Second Round of the Singles Contest in any Tie, the Referee may sanction the substitution of another of the players nominated by a Nation for that Tie in the place of any player, who, in the opinion of the Referee, is incapacitated by illness, accident or other unavoidable hindrance; provided that such substitute shall not be the player who has already competed in the Singles Contest.

13. The time of cessation of play shall be fixed before the commencement of each day's play by the Captains of the opposing Sides, or by the Referee if they shall disagree. It shall be the duty of the Referee to stop play when this time arrives; provided, nevertheless, that he may extend the time with the consent of the Captains of the opposing Sides. A player shall not be called upon to play more than one Match a day, except with the unanimous consent of the Captains of the opposing Sides and the majority of the Executive Committee.

14. Each Tie shall be decided by the combined results of Singles and Doubles, and the Side which shall win the majority of Matches shall be the winner of a Tie.

15. In the Singles, each Team shall, subject to Regulation 12, Clause c, consist of two players, who shall play each against each of the opposing Team the best of five advantage sets. The order of play and courts shall be decided by lot. In the Doubles, each Team shall consist of two players, who shall play against the opposing Team the best of five advantage sets.

16. Unless otherwise arranged by the unanimous consent of the Captains of the opposing Sides and the majority of the Executive Committee, the Doubles shall take place between the two rounds of the Singles Contest. If, however, a player be chosen for both the Singles and Doubles Contests, and if, by a change in the above arrangements, he be called upon to play his two Singles Matches on consecutive days, then there shall be an interval of one day between the second and the third day's play. Provided, nevertheless, that if there be an interval between the first and second day's play, either from postponement, arrangement, or the interval of a Sunday, there shall not be an interval between the second and third day's play.

17. If any player be absent when called upon to play by the Referee, the opposing Side shall be entitled to three love sets.

18. Any Competing Nation whose Lawn Tennis Association or Corresponding Organization, or whose Representatives shall fail to conform to the above Regulations, may be disqualified by the Committee of Management in respect of the Competition for the year wherein such failure shall occur.

19. Winners of a preliminary Tie shall notify the result without delay to the Committee of Management, by telegram, which shall be confirmed by letter.

20. For purposes of correspondence and the giving of notices required by these Regulations, the Secretary for the time being of the Lawn Tennis Association or Corresponding Organization of the Champion Nation shall be regarded as representing the Committee of Management.

21. The above Regulations shall be binding upon the Nations concerned, and shall not be altered except with the consent of two-thirds of the Associations or Corresponding Organizations whose Nations shall have from time to time competed and who shall record their votes.

NOTE.—In the above Regulations, one Nation playing against another is regarded as a "Tie"; Singles and Doubles are regarded as separate "Contests"; and the best of five advantage sets is regarded as a "Match". The players in Singles and Doubles are regarded as separate "Teams"; and the players in the combined Contests as a "Side".

Constitution

ARTICLE I.

NAME.

This organization shall be known as the "UNITED STATES NATIONAL LAWN TENNIS ASSOCIATION," hereinafter referred to as the National Association.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The membership shall consist of the following classes:

- (1) Clubs.
- (2) Active Associations.
- (3) Allied Associations.

Allied associations shall consist of associations of schools or colleges, but such associations, if they so desire, may become active associations by notifying the Secretary of the National Association and paying the dues for an active association. Active associations shall consist of all associations other than allied associations and in each case the limits of an active association shall necessarily exclude to that extent the limits of every other such association.

SEC. 2. An association, either (2) or (3), shall consist of five or more individual clubs, any one of which may or may not be itself a member directly of the National Association. Each club shall at all meetings be entitled to one vote. Each active association shall be entitled to two votes and to one additional vote for every five clubs or fraction thereof members of it over ten. Allied associations shall not be entitled to any vote. No club being itself a member of the National Association shall be counted as a member of an active association in determining the number of votes which may be cast by such association.

SEC. 3. On or before the first day of January in every year each sub-association shall send to the Secretary of the National Association the names and addresses of its secretary and treasurer and a list of clubs belonging to it on December 1st preceding, and each club directly a member of the National Association shall send to the Secretary of the National Association the names and addresses of its secretary and treasurer, holding office on December 1st preceding. The secretary of each association shall notify the Secretary of the National Association of any changes in its membership immediately upon their occurrence.

Where the applicant is an association, the names and addresses of each of its members shall be given with the application, together with a statement of the limits that it desires to represent.

SEC. 2. The Executive Committee shall have full power to elect candidates for membership, except that no association shall be deemed a member whose limits shall conflict with those of any other association until its election be confirmed by a two-thirds vote at the annual meeting of the National Association, or the associations upon whose limits it encroaches consent to such encroachment. The election to membership of such an association automatically decreases the limits of other associations to such an extent as shall preclude a conflict of limits.

SEC. 3. Dues, etc.—The annual dues to the National Association in the case of clubs shall be ten dollars ($10) and in the case of active associations shall be thirty-five dollars ($35), except that where any such association is composed of more than ten clubs its annual dues shall in addition be fifteen dollars ($15) for every five clubs or fraction thereof above ten. Allied associations shall not be required to pay any annual dues. No club or association shall be allowed the privilege of a member until after its first annual dues have been paid and no club shall be entitled to a vote at the annual meeting of the National Association unless it was a member thereof for the preceding fiscal year. The fiscal year of the National Association shall begin February 1st. All dues for the ensuing year are payable on or before May 1st.

SEC. 4. Limits of Payments, etc.—Any club or association which shall fail to have paid its annual dues on or before June 1st may be debarred from the privileges of a member by the Executive Committee until the same are paid, and, at their discretion, may be dropped from the roll.

ARTICLE IV.

RESIGNATIONS, EXPULSIONS, ETC.

SECTION 1. Resignations, etc.—Any member wishing to resign must do so in writing, addressed to the Secretary; and the resignation cannot be accepted until all dues for the current fiscal year are paid. Resignations must be received before February 1st to relieve the member from payment of dues for the ensuing year.

SEC. 2. The Executive Committee of the National Association, hereinafter provided for, shall have the power to suspend or expel any member which may neglect or refuse a strict and honorable compliance with its Constitution, By-Laws, etc., or which shall, by its conduct, bring reproach or disgrace upon the National Association; or which shall, being itself an association, retain as one of its members any club objected to by notice in writing by the Executive Committee, subject to the right of any member, if expelled, to appeal to the National Association, at its next annual meeting, for reinstatement.

6. After doing or committing any of the foregoing acts has been reinstated as an amateur by the Executive Committee of the U. S. N. L. T. A.

The Executive Committee of the U. S. N. L. T. A. shall be the tribunal to decide whether a player is a professional or an amateur.

Note.—Any infraction of the above rules previous to February 14th, 1913, shall not constitute a player a professional unless such action would also have been an infraction of the laws in force prior to that date.

SEC. 5. No player shall be allowed to enter for any match given by this Association unless he is a member of a club belonging either directly to this Association, or indirectly as specified in Article II, Section 2, of the Constitution, or has played in an interscholastic tournament of the same year. But the Executive Committee is empowered, at its discretion, to permit, for special cause, any foreigners or other players to enter for any match given under the auspices of this Association.

ARTICLE III.

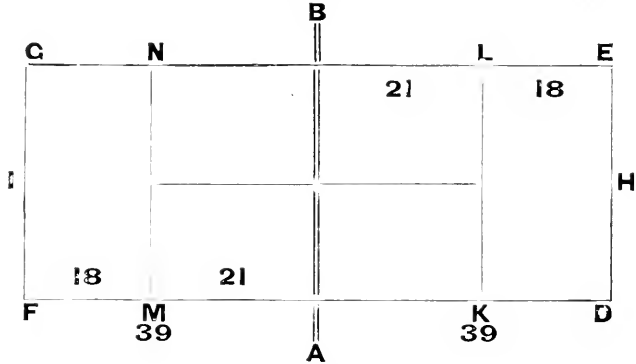

SUSPENSION OF BY-LAWS.

Any article or section of these By-laws may be suspended for any one meeting by a two-thirds vote of all cast.

Laws of Lawn Tennis

THE COURT.

1. The Court is 78 feet long and 27 feet wide. It is divided across the middle by a net, the ends of which are attached to two posts A and B, standing 3 feet outside of the court on either side. The height of the net is 3 feet 6 inches at the posts, and 3 feet in the middle. The binder or topping used as a band at the top of the net shall be not less than 2 inches nor more than $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches in width and shall not have any surplus material projecting below the sewing at the bottom of said band. At each end of the court, parallel with the net, and 39 feet from it, are drawn the base lines D E and F G the ends of which are connected by the side lines D F and E G. Half way between the side lines, and parallel with them, is drawn the half court line I H, dividing the space on each side of the net into two equal parts, the right and left courts. On each side of the net at a distance of 21 feet from it, and parallel with it, are drawn the service lines K L and M N.

THE BALLS.

2. The Balls shall measure not less than $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches, nor more than 2.9-16 inches in diameter; and shall weigh not less than 1.15-16 ounces, nor more than 2 ounces.

THE GAME.

3. The choice of sides, and the right to serve in the first game shall be decided by toss; provided, that, if the winner of the toss choose the right to serve, the other player shall have choice of sides and vice versa, or the winner of the toss may insist upon a choice by his opponent. If one player choose the court, the other may elect not to serve.

4. The players shall stand on opposite sides of the net: the player who first delivers the ball shall be called the server, and the other the striker-out.

5. At the end of the first game the striker-out shall become server, and the server shall become striker-out; and so on alternately in all the subsequent games of the set and following sets.

FOOT FAULT RULE.

6. Before commencing to serve, the server shall stand with both feet at rest behind (i. e., further from the net than) the base line and within the limits of the imaginary continuation of the half court and side lines, and thereafter the server shall not run, walk, hop or jump before the service has been delivered, but the server may raise one foot from (and, if desired, replace it on) the ground, provided that both feet are kept behind the base line until the service has been delivered.

Official Interpretation of Law 6:

If a foot be lifted and replaced, there must be no change of position that can possibly be considered a step.

7. The service shall be delivered from the right and left courts alternately, beginning from the right in every game, even though odds be given or owed, and the ball served shall drop within the service line, half court line and side line of the court which is diagonally opposite to that from which it was served or upon any such line.

8. It is a fault if the server commit any breach of law 7, or if he does not stand as directed in law 6, or if the ball served drop in the net, or beyond the service line, or if it drop out of court or in the wrong court. If the server in attempting to serve miss the ball altogether, it does not count as a fault; but if the ball be touched, no matter how slightly, by the racket, a service is thereby delivered, and the laws governing the service at once apply.

9. A fault cannot be taken.

10. After a fault the server shall serve again from the same court from which he served that fault, unless it was a fault because he served from the wrong court.

11. A fault cannot be claimed after the next service is delivered.

12. The server shall not serve till the striker-out is ready. If the latter attempt to return the service, he shall be deemed ready.

13. A service or fault delivered when the striker-out is not ready counts for nothing.

14. The service shall not be volleyed, that is, taken, before it has touched the ground.

15. A ball is in play on leaving the server's racket, except as provided for in law 8, and remains in play till the stroke is decided.

16. It is a good return, although the ball touch the net; but a service, otherwise good, which touches the net shall count for nothing.

17. The server wins a stroke if the striker-out volley the service, or if he fail to return the service or the ball in play, or if he return the service or the ball in play so that it drops outside of his opponent's court; or if he otherwise lose a stroke, as provided by law 20.

18. The striker-out wins a stroke if the server serve two consecutive faults; or if he fail to return the ball in play; or if he return the ball in play so that it drops outside of his opponent's court; or if he otherwise lose a stroke as provided by law 20.

19. A ball falling on a line is regarded as falling in the court bounded by that line.

20. Either player loses a stroke if the ball touch him, or anything that he wears or carries, except his racket in the act of striking; or if he touch the ball with his racket more than once; or if he touch the net or any of its supports, or the ground within his opponent's court, while the ball is in play; or if he volley the ball before it has passed the net.

21. In case a player is obstructed by any accident, not within his control, the ball shall be considered a "let." But when a permanent fixture of the court is the cause of the accident, the point shall be counted. The benches and chairs placed around the court shall be considered permanent fixtures. If, however, a ball in play strike a permanent fixture of the court (other than the net or posts) before it touches the ground, the point is lost; if after it has touched the ground, the point shall be counted.

22. On either player winning his first stroke, the score is called 15 for that player; on either player winning his second stroke, the score is called 30 for that player; on either player winning his third stroke, the score is called 40 for that player; and the fourth stroke won by either player is scored game for that player, except as follows: If both players have won three strokes, the score is called deuce; and the next stroke won by either player is scored advantage for that player. If the same player win the next stroke, he wins the game; if he lose the next stroke the score returns to deuce, and so on until one player wins the two strokes immediately following the score of deuce, when game is scored for that player.

23. The player who first wins six games wins the set, except as follows: If both players win five games the score is called games all and the next game won by either player is scored advantage game for that player. If the same player win the next game, he wins the set; if he lose the next game, the score returns to games all; and so on until either player wins the two games immediately following the score of games all, when he wins the set. But the committee having charge of any tournament may in their discretion modify this rule by the omission of advantage sets.

24. The players shall change sides at the end of the first, third and every subsequent alternate game of each set and at the end of each set, unless the number of games in such set be even. It shall, however, be open to the players by mutual consent and notification to the umpire before the opening of the second game of the match to change sides, instead at the end of every set until the odd and cocluding set, in which they shall change sides at the end of the first, third and every subsequent alternate game of such set.

*25. In all contests the play shall be continuous from the first service till the match be concluded; provided, however, that at the end of the third set either player is entitled to a rest, which shall not exceed seven minutes; and provided, further, that in case of an unavoidable accident, not within the control of the contestants, a cessation of play which shall not exceed two minutes may be allowed between points; but this proviso shall be strictly construed, and the privilege never granted for the purpose of allowing a player to recover his strength or wind. The referee in his discretion may at any time postpone the match on account of darkness or condition of the ground or weather. In any case of postponement, the previous score shall hold good. Where the play has ceased for more than an hour, the player who at the cessation thereof was in the court first chosen shall have the choice of courts on the recommencement of play. He shall stay in the court he chooses for the remainder of the set. The last two sentences of this rule do not apply when the players change every alternate game as provided by law 24.

26. If a player serve out of his turn, the umpire, as soon as the mistake is discovered, shall direct the player to serve who ought to have served. But all strokes scored before such discovery shall be counted. If a game shall have been completed before such discovery, then the service in the next alternate game shall be delivered by the player who did not serve out of his turn, and so on in regular rotation.

27. The above laws shall apply to the three-handed and four-handed games, except as follows:

THE THREE-HANDED AND FOUR-HANDED GAMES.

28. For the three-handed and four-handed games the court shall be 36 feet in width; $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet inside the side lines, and parallel with them, are drawn the service side lines K M and L N. The service lines are not drawn beyond the point at which they meet the service side lines, as shown in the diagram.

* All matches in which women take part in tournaments held under the auspices of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association shall be the best two in three sets, with a rest not exceeding seven minutes after the second set.

29. In the three-handed game, the single player shall serve in every alternate game.

30. In the four-handed game, the pair who have the right to serve in the first game shall decide which partner shall do so, and the opposing pair shall decide in like manner for the second game. The partner of the player who served in the first game shall serve in the third, and the partner of the player who served in the second game shall serve in the fourth, and the same order shall be maintained in all the subsequent games of the set.

31. At the beginning of the next set, either partner of the pair which struck out in the last game of the last set may serve; and the same privilege is given to their opponents in second game of the new set.

32. The players shall take the service alternately throughout the game; a player cannot receive a service delivered to his partner; and the order of service and striking out once established shall not be altered, nor shall the striker-out change courts to receive the service, till the end of the set.

33. It is a fault if the ball served does not drop between the service line, half-court line, and service side line of the court, diagonally opposite to that from which it was served.

34. It is a fault if the ball served does not drop as provided in law 33, or if it touch the server's partner or anything he wears or carries.

The Sixths System of Handicapping.

In the case of received odds:

(a) One-sixth of fifteen is one stroke given in every six games of a set in the position shown by the annexed table.

(b) Similarly, two-sixths, three-sixths, four-sixths and five-sixths of fifteen are respectively two, three, four and five strokes given in every six games of a set in the position shown by the table.

Cases and Decisions

BY JAMES DWIGHT.

Officially recognized by the U. S. N. L. T. A.

I. A player standing outside the court volleys the ball or catches it in his hand, and claims the stroke because the ball was certainly going out of court.

Decision.—He loses the stroke. It makes no difference where he was standing. The return is presumed good until it strikes the ground outside of the court.

II. A player is struck by the ball served before it has touched the ground, he being outside of the service court. How does it count?

Decision.—The player struck loses the stroke. The service is presumably good until it strikes in the wrong court. A player cannot take the decision upon himself by stopping the ball. If it is going to be a fault, he has only to get out of the way.

III. The service is delivered before the striker-out is ready. He tries to return it and fails. Is he entitled to have it played over again?

Decision.—No. If he attempts to return the service he is deemed ready.

IV. The striker-out calls "not ready," for a second service. The ball strikes beyond the service line, and the striker-out claims that the fact that he was not ready makes no difference, since a fault cannot be returned, and, therefore, that two faults have been served.

Decision.—The second service goes for nothing. A player cannot call "not ready," and then have the service count, or not, as suits his interests.

V. A ball having been played over the net bounds back into the court from which it came. The player reaches over the net and plays it before it falls. Has he a right to do so?

Decision.—Yes, provided he does not touch the net. He has a right to play the ball at any time from the moment it crosses the net into his court until it touches the ground a second time.

VI. A ball is played into the net; the player on the other side, thinking that the ball is coming over, strikes at it and hits the net. Who loses the stroke?

Decision.—It is simply a question of fact for the umpire to decide. If the player touch the net while the ball was still in play he loses the stroke.

VII. Can a player follow a ball over the net with his racket, provided that he hits the ball on his own side of the net?

Decision.—Yes, the only restrictions are that he shall not volley the ball until it has crossed the net, and that he shall not touch the net or any of its supports.

VIII. A player's racket slips out of his hand and flies into the net. Does he lose the stroke for hitting the net?

Decision.—Yes, if the ball be still in play. It does not matter if the racket be in a player's hand or not.

IX. A player's racket leaves his hand, but meets the ball and returns it over the net. Is it a good return?

Decision.—Yes. There is no law requiring a racket to be in a player's hand when the ball is returned. It would unquestionably be a good return if the racket were held against the ground by a player's feet, and the ball bounded back off of it.

X. A single match is played with a double net and inside posts. A player touches the net beyond the inside posts, and claims that he does not lose the stroke because there should be no net more than three feet outside of the court.

Decision.—He loses the stroke. The net where he touches it is part of the supports of the net. He might, perhaps, have objected to the arrangement of the net before the match.

XI. A player returns the ball, and, finding that he cannot stop himself before reaching the net, jumps over it. Is it a good return?

Decision.—Law 4 requires that "the players shall stand on opposite sides of the net," and therefore the player invading his opponent's court loses the stroke.

XII. A ball passes outside the post of the net and strikes in court. Is it a good return?

Decision.—Yes.

XIII. A ball going out of court hits the top of the posts of the net and bounds into the opposite court.

Decision.—It is a good return.

XIV. The service or the ball in play strikes a ball lying in the court. Can it be returned?

Decision.—Yes, if it is clear to the umpire that the right ball is returned.

XV. The server claims that the striker-out must stand in the court. Is this necessary?

Decision.—No. The striker-out can stand wherever he pleases on his own side of the net.

XVI. A bystander gets in the way of a player who fails to return the ball. May he then claim a let?

Decision.—Yes, if, in the umpire's opinion, he was prevented by an accident beyond his control. For instance, if the ropes or the seats are allowed to be so near to the court that a player is interfered with by them, the stroke should not be played again, because the ropes and seats form part of the arrangements of the ground. If, however, a spectator passes in front of those seats, or places a chair nearer than the original line, and so interferes with a player, the stroke should be played again.

XVII. A player is interfered with as above, and the umpire directs the stroke to be played again. The server had previously served a fault. He claims the right to two services.

Decision.—The fault stands. A let does not annul a previous fault.

XVIII. A return hits the umpire, or his chair or stand, the player claims that the ball was going into court.

Decision.—Stroke is lost.

XIX. A player receiving fifteen serves from the left court. His opponent claims a fault.

Decision.—It is a fault. The service starts from the right court under all circumstances.

XX. At fifteen-all the server by mistake serves from the left court, he wins the stroke and serves again (a fault), the mistake is then discovered. Is he entitled to the previous fault? From which court should he serve next?

Decision.—The previous stroke stands. A fault cannot be claimed after the next service, good or not, is delivered. The next service should be from the left court, the score being thirty-fifteen, and the server has served one fault.

XXI. A player serves from the wrong court, he loses the stroke, and then claims that it was a fault.

Decision.—If the stroke was played in his first service it is simply a fault, but if he serves twice into the wrong court he has served two faults, and lost the stroke.

XXII. The score is five games all, and the umpire directs the players to play an advantage set. The advantage game has been won, when it is discovered that no advantage sets are to be played. What is to be done?

Decision.—The set is won at the eleventh game. It is no part of the umpire's duty to decide on the conditions of the matches.

XXIII. A player serves. He hears the umpire call, but cannot hear what he says. He knows that the only two things that the umpire should call are "fault" and "let," and that in neither case can the ball be in play. He, therefore, does not return it, only to find that the umpire has called "play." Has he any redress?

Decision.—No.

XXIV. The umpire calls "fault," and then instantly changes and says "play." The striker-out fails to return the ball, and he claims he was prevented by the umpire, and also that the umpire cannot change his decision.

Decision.—The umpire should call a let and the service be taken again.

XXV. A ball drops near a line, the player appeals, and the umpire calls "play." The player misunderstands the call and lets the ball fall. He then claims to have the stroke played again.

Decision.—The stroke stands.

XXVI. The ball strikes the ground close to a line; the scorer scores the stroke against the striker. On appeal to the linesman, the latter decided that the ball was not out. Which decision stands?

Decision.—The scorer has no right to consider a ball out until the linesman has called to that effect, therefore, the decision of the latter must be accepted. The decision of a linesman affecting his own line is final.

XXVII. A return strikes the cord running along the bottom of the net and bounds over. Is it a good return?

Decision.—Yes.

XXVIII. During play a ball is thrown into court, and the ball in play strikes it or a player steps on it. May a let be claimed?

Decision.—Yes.

XXIX. The server's first service strikes his partner. Does he lose the stroke or is it a fault?

Decision.—A fault.

XXX. A player serves a fault and it is then discovered that it is his partner's service. Does the fault stand?

Decision.—Yes.

XXXI. In a four-handed competition one player does not appear in time to play, and his partner claims to be allowed to play single-handed against the opposing pair. May he do so?

Decision.—No.

UNOFFICIAL DECISIONS ON DOUBTFUL POINTS.

(From Lawn Tennis.)

Both of the opponents of the servers in doubles are strikers-out alternately during a game. It is optional with them which shall serve first, but they must serve alternately throughout each set.

A player does not lose a stroke for striking at a ball that ultimately falls outside his court, provided he does not touch it in doing so.

If one partner of a double team strikes at a ball and does not touch it, his partner still has the right to return it. A player or different member of a team may strike at a ball as often as they please; it is still in play until hit.

A served ball is only a "let" if otherwise good, falling in the proper court; a fault cannot be a "let."

The server must stand behind the base-line, within the limits of the side-lines of the court in which he is playing.

There is no limit to the number of "let" balls that may be made on the service, and the server continues serving in the same court until a good service is delivered or two faults are made.

The server must wait until the striker-out is ready for the second service as well as the first, and if the striker-out claims to be not ready and does not make any effort to return the second service, the server cannot claim the point, even though the service was good.

If a player's racket touches the net after the ball has struck the net, he does not lose the point. The ball is dead and the point has been won and lost as soon as the ball strikes the net, and nothing which happens afterward can affect that point. If the ball knocks the net against the player's racket the same decision holds good; it is simply a question for the referee to decide which touches the net first.

In doubles partners must receive throughout each set on the same sides of the court which they originally select when the set begins. The first server is not required to receive in the right court; he may select either side at the beginning of the set, but must hold this to the end.

A ball served with a sharp cut that bounds back over the net after having struck in the right court is a good service. The point counts in favor of the server if the striker-out fails to return it. The latter may reach over the net to return the ball, but loses the point if he touches the net in doing so.

A return made from one side of the court that passes outside of the net and posts without going over them is still good if the ball falls in the proper court.

The ball is always in play until it has struck the ground outside of the court, or the net, or has touched the ground twice. The player loses a point if the ball touches him or his clothing while still in play, no matter whether he is standing outside of the court when the ball hits him, or not.

An officially recognized decision has been rendered that makes any support of the net—the posts, the guy-ropes, or the centre fork—a part of the net itself, and any ball hitting one of the supports and still striking the right court is considered a good return (except on the service). The posts are required to stand outside of the court, and yet a ball being returned at a sharp angle from outside might well be going in and still touch one of the posts.

A ball is dead the instant it has touched the ground outside of the court, and the point must be scored at once against the other side, no matter what happens after the ball touches the ground.

The services must always come alternately from the right and left courts; if the server delivers the ball from the wrong court it is a fault.

A fault cannot be played, and the striker-out has no option in the matter; it does not make the service good if he returns it.

Regulations for the Management of Tournaments

1. At Tournaments held by clubs belonging to the United States National Lawn Tennis Association or by clubs belonging to Associations which belong to the National Association or by Associations belonging to said National Association, the Laws of Lawn Tennis as adopted for the time being by said National Association and the Regulations hereinafter contained shall be observed.

2. The Officers of the Club holding the Tournament shall have full power over all details concerning said Tournament, but shall be entitled to delegate their power to a Committee. In case no special Committee shall be appointed by the Officers of the Club holding the Tournament, the powers and functions hereinafter delegated to the Committee shall be vested in and performed by the Officers of said Club.

3. A circular shall be issued by the Committee specifying the conditions of the competition, and including names of Tournament Committee and of the Referee.

4. No cheques, orders for money or cash payments in any form shall be given as prizes, and the amount actually paid for each prize shall in no case be below the advertised value of the same, if included in circular. If any challenge cup is offered it shall be deemed to the National Lawn Tennis Association. The winner of a Challenge Cup shall be entitled to the possession of the cup until one month previous to the next competition for the cup, possession being conditional on the giving of a bond by the winner satisfactory to the Club. Should the Club give possession without such bond, it shall be liable to the National Association for the value of the cup.

5. The Committee shall elect a Referee, with power to appoint a substitute to be approved by them. The Referee or his duly appointed substitute must be present at all times when play is in progress.

6. The Referee or such other member or members of the Committee as may be selected for the purpose, shall have power to appoint Umpires and Linesmen, to assign courts and to start matches, and the Referee shall decide any point of law which an Umpire may profess himself unable to decide, or which may be referred to him on appeal from the decision of an Umpire, and such decision shall be final.

7. The Referee shall, during the Tournament, be ex-officio a member of the Committee.

8. The Committee shall help to keep order on the ground, and shall consult and decide upon any question arising out of the competition, if summoned for that purpose by the Referee or by any two of their number; and they shall have power, when so convened, the misconduct of a competitor having been reported to them by a member of the Committee or an Umpire, to disqualify the offender, and further to order him off the ground, should his misconduct appear to them to justify such action, but before such action shall be taken, an opportunity of offering an explanation shall be afforded to the competitor whose misconduct has been reported to them. When the whole of the Committee of a Club or even a quorum thereof may not be available, the members of the Committee that are available shall have power to act in cases left to the Committee of the Club.

9. It is the duty of an Umpire—

(a) To ascertain that the net is at the right height before the commencement of play, and to measure and adjust the net during play, if asked to do so, or if, in his opinion, its height has altered.

(b) To call the faults (subject to Regulation 10) and lets unless he delegates such power.

(c) To call the strokes when won, or when he is asked to call them, and to record them upon the Umpire's scoring sheet. (See example at bottom of following page.)

(d) To call the games and the sets at the end of each, or when asked to call them, and to record them on the Umpire's scoring sheet.

NOTE—At the end of each game the games should be called with the name of the player who is in advance, thus: "2 games to 1, B wins" or, "B leads." If the games are level the score should be called thus, "three games all," or as the case may be. At the end of each set the sets should be called in like manner.

(e) To direct the Competitors to change sides, in accordance with Law 24.

(f) When appealed to during a rally, whether a doubtful ball is "in play" or not, to call "play," and at the conclusion of the rally to give his decision (subject to Regulation 11) or direct the competitors to play the stroke again.

(g) To decide all doubtful or disputed strokes, and all points of law (subject to Regulations 10 and 11), and to be responsible for the proper conduct of the match.

(h) In handicap matches to call the odds at the commencement of each set.

(i) To sign the Umpire's scoring sheets, and to deliver them at the conclusion of the match to such person as the Committee may authorize to receive them.

Provided, that no omission of any of the foregoing duties on the part of an Umpire shall of itself invalidate any stroke, game or match.

10. It is the duty of the Linesman to call faults and to decide strokes relating to the line or lines to which he is assigned and to said line or lines only, and such decision shall be final. Should the Linesman be unable to give a decision, the Umpire shall decide or shall direct the stroke to be played again.

11. The decision of an Umpire shall be final upon every question of fact, and no competitor may appeal from it; but if an Umpire be in doubt as to a point of law, or if a competitor appeal against his decision on such a point, the Umpire shall submit it to the Referee whose decision shall be final.

NOTE—A question of fact relates to events that actually happened. A question of law is the construction and application of the laws of the game to the admitted facts.

Example:

The strokes are scored by means of pencil marks in the spaces beneath the word "STROKES," thus:

Game.	Initials of Players.	STROKES.										Game won by
1	A. B.	1	1		1	1
	C. D.			1	1
	A. B.	1		1			1	1

The Scoring Sheet shows that in the first game the score ran, and would have been called, thus: "15—love, 30—love, 30—15, 40—15, 40—30, game (A.B.)." In the second game: "Love—15, 15 all, 15—30, 30 all, 40—30, deuce, advantage (C.D.), deuce, advantage (A.B.), deuce, advantage (C.D.), game (C.D.)."

The score of the Server should be called first.

12. The Referee shall not bet on a match nor shall an Umpire or Linesman on the match to which he is assigned. An infraction of this rule shall be followed by the immediate removal of the offending Referee, Umpire or Linesman on the complaint of any competitor.

13. No competitor may transfer his entry to another player.

14. Competitors shall have a right, by themselves or their deputies, to be present at the draw.

15. The draw shall be conducted in the following manner: Each competitor's name shall be written on a separate card or paper, and these shall be placed in a bowl or hat, drawn out one by one at random, and copied on a list in the order in which they have been drawn.

Infraction of this rule renders a Club or other organization liable to loss of its tournament for the following year; except that in invitation tournaments, and competitions between nations, states, cities, clubs and similar bodies where the competition is really between such bodies and not between the players as individuals, players may be placed in such manner as agreed upon by the management of the competition, and except that in Intercollegiate and Interscholastic matches the draw shall be arranged to prevent members of the same college or school from meeting each other in the first and second rounds, the draw in other ways being arranged absolutely by chance.

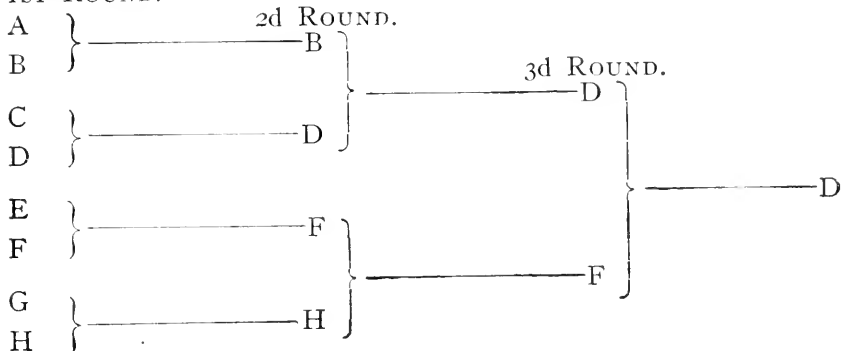

16. When the number of competitors is 4, 8, 16, 32, 64 or any higher power of 2, they shall meet in pairs, in accordance with the system shown by the diagram at top of following page.

In scoring handicap matches, the odds received should be marked by crosses on the right of the first perpendicular thick line before the commencement of each game, thus:

Game.	Initials of Players.	STROKES.						Game won by
	C. D.
2	C. D.	+
	A. B.	+	+
	C. D.
4	C. D.	+
	A. B.	+	+
	C. D.
6	C. D.	+
	A. B.	+	+

Here A. B. is receiving 15 and 3-sixths of 15.

1ST ROUND.

17. When the number of competitors is not a power of 2, there shall be byes in the first round. The number of byes shall be equal to the difference between the number of competitors and the next higher power of 2, and the number of pairs that shall meet in the first round

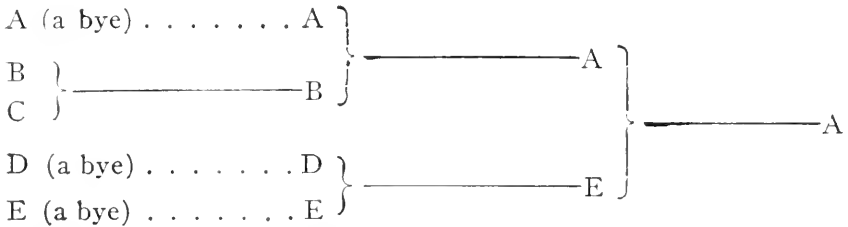

When odds are owed, they should be marked on the left of the first thick perpendicular line before the commencement of each game, thus:

	C. D.
2	C. D.
	A. B.		1
	C. D.
4	C. D.
	A. B.		1
	C. D.
6	C. D.
	A. B.		1

shall be equal to the difference between the number of competitors and the next lower power of 2. The byes, if even in number, shall be divided, as the names are drawn, in equal proportions at the top and bottom of the list, above and below the pairs. If uneven in number, there shall be one more bye at the bottom than at the top. Thus—

SERIES 1—FROM 5 TO 8 COMPETITORS.

FIRST ROUND.

With 6, there will be one bye at the top, and 1 bye at the bottom. With 7, 1 bye at the bottom. With 8, no byes.

and should be crossed off one by one when the player owing wins a stroke, thus:

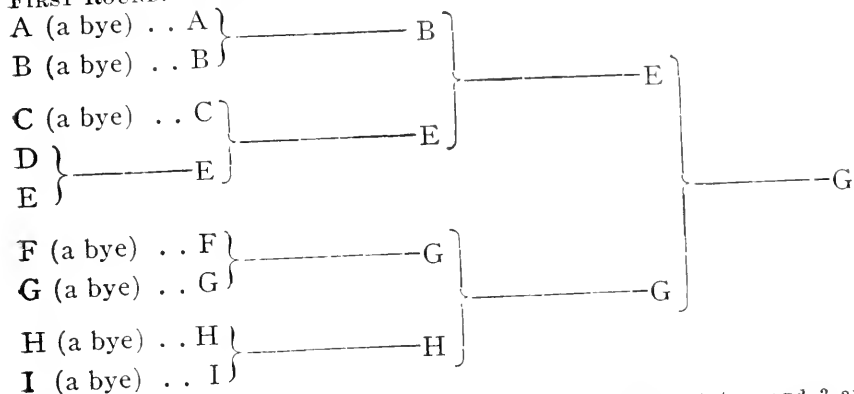

Game.	Initials of Players.	STROKES.						Game won by
	C. D.
2	C. D.
	A. B.		+
	C. D.
4	C. D.
	A. B.		+
	C. D.
6	C. D.
	A. B.		+

Here A. B. owes 15 and 2-sixths of 15.

SERIES 2—FROM 9 TO 16 COMPETITORS.

With 9, 3 byes at top, and 4 at bottom.

FIRST ROUND.

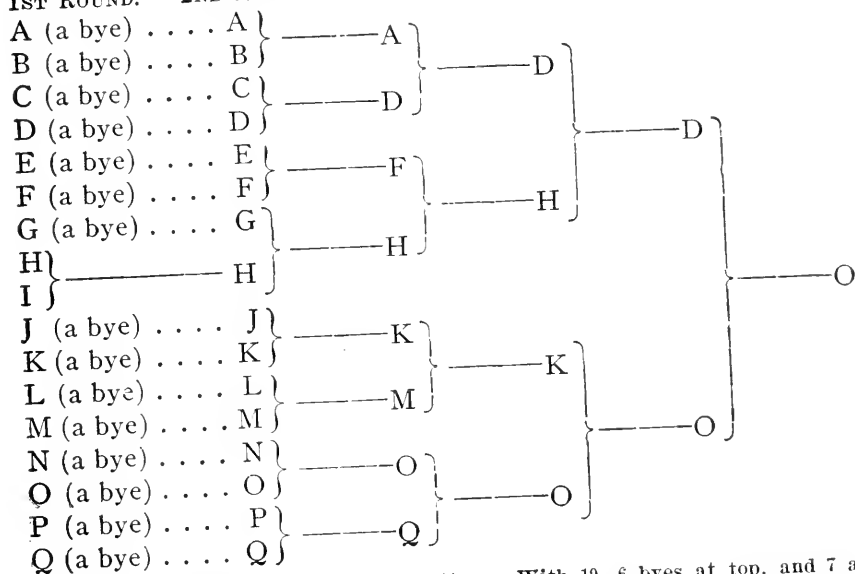

With 10, 3 byes at top, and 3 at bottom. With 11, 2 byes at top, and 3 at bottom. With 12, 2 byes at top, and 2 at bottom. With 13, 1 bye at top, and 2 at bottom. With 14, 1 bye at top, and 1 at bottom. With 15, 1 bye at bottom. With 16, no byes.

SERIES 3—FROM 17 TO 32 COMPETITORS.

With 17, 7 byes at the top, and 8 byes at the bottom.

1ST ROUND. 2ND ROUND. 3RD ROUND. 4TH ROUND. 5TH ROUND.

And so on with larger numbers in the same manner.

18. If a Competitor be absent when called upon to play, or shall refuse to play, or shall have given previous notice to the Referee or to a member of the Committee that he cannot play in the next round, his adversary shall win in that round, unless said Competitor shall have been formally excused for a definite period by the Referee.

19. In handicap matches the competitors shall be handicapped by the Committee, or by a Handicapper appointed by the Committee.

20. The method of handicapping shall be by classes as follows:

GIVEN ODDS.

Class O—(Scratch).

Class	Receives	Class	Receives
1.....	1-sixth of 15	10.....	15 and 4-sixths of 15
2.....	2-sixths of 15	11.....	15 and 5-sixths of 15
3.....	3-sixths of 15	12.....	30
4.....	4-sixths of 15	13.....	30 and 1-sixth of 15
5.....	5-sixths of 15	14.....	30 and 2-sixths of 15
6.....	15	15.....	30 and 3-sixths of 15
7.....	15 and 1-sixth of 15	16.....	30 and 4-sixths of 15
8.....	15 and 2-sixths of 15	17.....	30 and 5-sixths of 15
9.....	15 and 3-sixths of 15	18.....	40

When two players in different classes below scratch meet, the superior player shall start from scratch, and the odds received by the inferior player are as shown by the annexed table No. 1. To use the table, find in the diagonal line of figures the number representing the class of the superior player, then travel along the horizontal column until the vertical column is reached which bears at the top the number of the class of the inferior player. The odds specified at the intersection of the two columns are the odds required.

Example.—If class 3 has to meet class 9, start from the figure 3 in the diagonal line of figures, and look horizontally until the vertical column is reached headed by the figure 9. The odds given at the point of intersection of the two columns (viz. 15 and 1-6 of 15) are the odds required.

When the difference between the best and the worst players entered is great (say more than 30), it is desirable to handicap the best players at owed odds. The players above scratch (i. e., owing odds) should be classified as follows:

OWED ODDS.

Class	Owes	Class	Owes
1.....	1-sixth of 15	10.....	15 and 4-sixths of 15
2.....	2-sixths of 15	11.....	15 and 5-sixths of 15
3.....	3-sixths of 15	12.....	30
4.....	4-sixths of 15	13.....	30 and 1-sixth of 15
5.....	5-sixths of 15	14.....	30 and 2-sixths of 15
6.....	15	15.....	30 and 3-sixths of 15
7.....	15 and 1-sixth of 15	16.....	30 and 4-sixths of 15
8.....	15 and 2-sixths of 15	17.....	30 and 5-sixths of 15
9.....	15 and 3-sixths of 15	18.....	40

HANDICAPS. TABLE No. 1. (Received Odds.)

When two players, both in receipt of odds, meet, the player receiving the smaller odds is put back to scratch. The following table shows the point at which the other should then start. The number at the left of the horizontal columns denotes the player who goes back to scratch, those at the head of the vertical columns the player who still receives odds; and the numbers within the columns show the odds to be received by the player whose number stands at the head of the column.

This table was calculated upon the following data:—

In the case of received odds—

- The average value of 1-6 is .2024
- “ “ “ “ “ “ .3552
- “ “ “ “ “ “ .4811
- “ “ “ “ “ “ .6069
- “ “ “ “ “ “ .7841

15.1 means 15 and one-sixth of 15 and so on.

When the two players in different classes above scratch meet, the inferior player shall start from scratch, and the odds owed by the superior player are as shown by the annexed table, No. 2.

This table is to be used in the same way as the former, the class of the superior player being looked for in the horizontal line of figures at the top, and the class of the inferior player in the diagonal line of figures.

Example.—If class 12 (owe 30) meet class 7 (owe 15 and 1-6 of 15), the former must owe the latter the odds of 4-6 of 15.

21. In Championship matches and handicaps by classes, as above, advantage sets shall be played throughout.

22. The Committee may, whether appealed to by any competitor or not, postpone the meeting or any match or part of a match if, in their opinion, the state of the weather, or of the light, or the condition of the ground, or other circumstances, render it advisable to do so. In cases of postponement, Law 25 must be strictly observed.

23. In all tournaments sanctioned by the Association the use of spikes longer than one-quarter of an inch is prohibited.

24. Every organization holding an event sanctioned by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association must furnish the Ranking Committee, within ten days after the completion of any such event, with a full and complete report of all matches played therein, together with the full name and, when possible, address of each contestant.

25. The Ranking Committee must furnish all Clubs and Associations holding any such sanctioned event with blanks for the purpose of making the returns required by Regulation 24, and immediately after the Committee shall have completed the ranking, such returns must be delivered to the Secretary of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association.

26. If any Club or Association fails to make the returns required, provided for by Regulation 24, sanction for holding by the delinquent of any tournament during the following year may be refused in the discretion of the Executive Committee.

REGULATIONS FOR INTERSCHOLASTIC AND JUNIOR TOURNAMENTS.

Colleges, Clubs or Park Associations, members directly or indirectly of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, may, with the consent of the Association, give Interscholastic or Junior Tournaments.

Players in Interscholastic Tournaments shall be limited to boys attending schools preparing for college.

Only players under twenty years of age are eligible to take part.

The winner of each Interscholastic or Junior Tournament (or, in the event that he is unable to play, another participant named by the management of the Tournament) is eligible to take part in any one Sectional Junior Tournament, and the winner (or, in the event that he is unable to play, another participant named by the management of the Tournament) is eligible to take part in a National Junior Championship, to be held at the same time and place as the National Singles Championship.

No dues shall be required by the National Association other than the regular dues (if any) of the organization giving the event.

REGULATIONS FOR BOYS' TOURNAMENTS.

Clubs, Colleges, School or Park Associations, members directly or indirectly of the U. S. N. L. T. A., may, with the consent of the Association, give Boys' Tournaments. Only boys under seventeen years of age are eligible to take part.

The winner of each Boys' Tournament (or, in the event that he is unable to play, another participant named by the management of the Tournament) is eligible to take part in any one Sectional Boys' Tournament, and the winner (or, in the event that he is unable to play, another participant named by the management of the Tournament) is eligible to take part in a National Boys' Championship, to be held at the same time and place as the National Singles Championship.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR HANDICAPPING.

GIVEN ODDS.

One-sixth of fifteen (1-6) is one stroke given by the better to the poorer player on the second, eighth, fourteenth and every subsequent sixth game in each set.

Two-sixths of fifteen (2-6) is one stroke given on the second, fourth, eighth, tenth and corresponding games in each set.

Three-sixths of fifteen (3-6 or one-half) is one stroke given on the second, fourth, sixth and every other alternate game on each set.

Four-sixths of fifteen (4-6) is one stroke given on the second, fourth, sixth, eighth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth and corresponding games on each set.

Five-sixths of fifteen (5-6) is one stroke given on the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth and corresponding games on each set.

Fifteen (15) is one stroke given on every game of each set.

Fifteen and one-sixth (15.1) is two strokes given on the same games as for one-sixth, and one stroke on each of the others.

Fifteen and two-sixths (15.2) is two strokes given on the same games as for two-sixths, and one stroke on each of the others.

Fifteen and three-sixths (15.3 or half-thirty) is two strokes given on the same games as for three-sixths, and one stroke on each of the others.

Fifteen and four-sixths (15.4) is two strokes given on the same games as for four-sixths, and one stroke on each of the others.

Fifteen and five-sixths (15.5) is two strokes on the same games as for five-sixths and one stroke on each of the others.

Thirty (30) is two strokes on each game.

Thirty and one-sixth (30.1), thirty and two-sixths (30.2), thirty and three-sixths (30.3 or half-forty), thirty and four-sixths (30.4), thirty and five-sixths (30.5) and forty (40), are three strokes and two given on the corresponding games of each set, as in the fifteen series.

OWED ODDS.

Owed (or minus) odds can also be used in exactly the same quantities, the chief difference being that the better player is required to earn the owed strokes before he begins to score, while, in the case of given odds, the poorer player is given his handicap before play starts. These owed odds may be used either in conjunction with the given odds or separately. In order that the handicaps may occur as seldom as possible in the same games, when two players meet, one of whom owes odds and the other receives them, the games on which owed strokes are paid differ from those on which the given strokes are taken. Here is the table for owed odds:

One-sixth (1-6) is one stroke owed on the first, seventh, thirteenth and every subsequent sixth game in each set.

Two-sixths (2-6) is one stroke owed on the first, third, seventh, ninth and corresponding games in each set.

Three-sixths (3-6 or one-half) is one stroke owed on the first, third, fifth and every other alternate game in each set.

Four-sixths (4-6) is one stroke owed on the first, third, fifth, sixth and corresponding games in each set.

Five-sixths (5-6) is one stroke owed on the first, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and corresponding games in each set.

Fifteen (15) is one stroke owed on each game.

Fifteen and one-sixth (15.1), fifteen and two-sixths (15.2), fifteen and three-sixths (15.3 or half-thirty), fifteen and four-sixths (15.4), fifteen and five-sixths (15.5), thirty (30), thirty and one-sixth (30.1), thirty and two-sixths (30.2), thirty and three-sixths (30.3 or half-forty), thirty and four-sixths (30.4), thirty and five-sixths (30.5) and forty (40), correspond to the fractions of fifteen, as do the larger handicaps in the table for given odds correspond to the fractions of fifteen in that table.

The simplest method for handicappers to pursue is to sort out the entries for the event they are to handicap into classes according to the relative skill of the players. Then select the class with the greatest number of players in it and place them on scratch, handicapping all of the other players either behind or in advance of scratch by owed or given odds, so as to make all even at the odds.

In deciding upon each player's handicap, his ability as compared with the scratch men should first be considered, and then as compared with his nearest and furthest rivals in the tables of odds. Each player might meet any of the others, and the object of handicapping is to give him an exactly even chance, no matter whom his opponent may be.

It should be remembered that it is easier to owe 15, or any fraction of it, than it is to give it, and when odds of 30 are given, the poorer player's score has already reached pretty near the end of the game, and the difference between him and the best men must be very great to give the latter an even chance, should they meet.

It is very unwise to give even the poorer players over 30.3 (half-forty), and very seldom is it safe to make the given odds run higher than 30. If the difference between the best and the poorest players is very great, place the latter as far as necessary behind scratch, but do not advance the former to more than 30, or 30.3 in the most extreme cases.

HOW TO CONDUCT A TOURNAMENT.

A tournament committee should first of all be selected, with not less than five men, and as many as possible practical workers who have the time and inclination to closely look after the interests of the club. At its first meeting, the committee should decide upon all details of the meeting. In selecting a date, it is advisable to choose one immediately before or after some established tournament in the neighborhood, for then the entries of those who are to play in the other event can generally be secured.

Application should be made to the national governing body for official sanction for the tournament, stating dates and other particulars. If any championship events are to be on the programme, official recognition must be applied for before these titles can be of any value.

A printed circular should be issued by the tournament committee, which should state plainly—(1) the name of the club and the location of the courts; (2) the date of the meeting and the hours of play; (3) the list of events, and the championship titles (if any) to be competed for, with the prizes offered for each event; (4) the amount of the entrance fees, and place and date for closing the list of entries; (5) the name of referee, handicapper and tournament committee; and (6) the time and place of the draw.

The draw should always be made by the committee in public and due notice of the time and place be given to the competitors, so that they may be present or represented when the draw is made. The draw should always be made by the Bagnall-Wilde system. (See "Tournament Regulations.")

No money or its equivalent in any form should be offered as prizes, for this would disqualify the players from future competition as amateurs. Prizes should be silver, gold, cut glass, objects of art or other souvenirs of this kind that can be marked or engraved as trophies. It is preferable to have them marked before the tournament, although lawn tennis prizes are frequently bought with the privilege of exchange, and therefore not engraved until after the tournament.

The committee should select a referee, either from among their number or outside of it. If handicaps are to be held, the referee may also be the handicapper, or a sub-committee may be appointed for this purpose. Should the referee be also a competitor, a substitute should also be appointed to act for him while he is playing.

It is important to have enough balls, and only the best quality of tournament balls should be used for matches. It is the custom at most tournaments to allow three new balls with each match, but in playing on dirt courts, the same balls can sometimes be made to do service twice. Unless there are back-stops close behind the courts, it is also well to have some small boys handy to act as ball-boys and "shack" the balls for the players.

The lines of a tournament court should be marked out fresh every day and, if easily obliterated, also between matches on the same day. The courts should always be laid north and south so that one player will not get more than his share of the glaring sunlight in his eyes. There should never be a tree within shadow distance of a tournament court either, particularly on the south side of the court.

Facilities must be provided for the players to dress, and it is a good plan to appoint one member of the committee to attend to these accommodations, and to entertain the visiting players and see that their wants are attended to.

The draw should always be posted in a conspicuous place on the grounds, where the spectators as well as the players can inspect it. If possible a programme for each day's play should be made out in advance, and due notice of all the matches of the day be posted up by the draw each day. The courts should be numbered, and a certain court and hour set for each match. One member of the committee ought also to be assigned to getting umpires for the matches and seeing that they are properly started.

It is customary to exhibit the prizes for a tournament at the club grounds during the tournament, and it generally proves an attractive feature to have them displayed on a table on the grounds, all duly labeled so that spectators can see which events they are to be given for. A refreshment tent is also an attractive feature at a tournament and the prizes are then displayed under this tent on the same or a nearby table with the punchbowl, Lemonade, or tea, crackers, cakes and sometimes small sandwiches are generally served to the players and spectators under such refreshment tent.

How to Build and Keep a Court

Nothing is more important for the full enjoyment of lawn tennis than a satisfactory court, and none of the other accessories of the game offers a wider variety. Many important considerations come up even after the kind of court to be built, and the cost, have been decided upon. No matter how much is to be spent on the ground, nor what the surface is to be, the most important things to consider first are space, light and drainage.

The back-stop nettings should never be nearer than fifteen feet to the lines, and if good players are expected to use the court, particularly if tournament matches are to take place on it, the space behind the base-line should be 21 feet at each end. At the sides at least 6 feet, if possible 12 feet should be allowed beyond the side-lines for doubles of each court. A well-appointed court for tournament play should be centered in an unobstructed space of not less than 60 x 120 feet. Wire back-stop netting 10 or 12 feet high should surround it at these distances from the lines. If there are two or more courts together, there should be at least 12 feet between their side lines, and one netting can surround all.

In selecting a site for a court, a spot should be chosen where there is always plenty of sunlight, and where at no time of the day does any shadow cross the ground on which the court is to be laid. Green or black is a preferable background to play against, but any dark and even color will do. A court should never be laid out with any very light background within a short distance at either end, or close at either side. Nor should a site be selected with a badly mixed or moving background. Shade trees are useful near a court, only if their shadow is a solid one, not constantly checkered by flecks of sunlight glittering through moving branches, which constantly confuse the players. Never should they be allowed near enough to cast any shadows on the playing surface.

One more cardinal point should be remembered. The court should invariably be laid out north and south—never east and west. If this warning is disregarded, the player at one end or the other will be hopelessly blinded by the sun.

The question of drainage is one of the most important considerations in selecting a site of this kind. On the natural facilities depends largely the cost of laying out a good court. If the natural soil be sandy and well drained, or if it is on high ground which slopes away near by, artificial drain pipes will not have to be put in, and this saves much of the cost, but if it be thick clay that holds moisture long, or on low ground with neighboring slopes that drain toward it, the court will be useless for many hours after each rainfall unless artificial drain-pipes are put in.

After the site has been selected, it must be decided whether a grass or "dirt" court is to be built. If the natural sod is luxuriant and the soil favorable for its growth, or if the court is not to be used enough to wear off the grass, a turf court will generally be found preferable, but if the ground is to be constantly in use, the sod will wear off and become "bald" unless there is space enough on the lawn to shift the court frequently.

When good turf cannot be had or will not stand the wear, a substitute must be found, and sand or dirt courts are most often used. On well-drained land, one can sometimes cut away the top surface, level the ground and roll it until well hardened and the court is ready for use, but more preparation is necessary to build a permanent court that will not be constantly losing its proper level.

For such a court the earth should be cut away to a depth of one foot if no drains are required. After leveling it carefully with a spirit-level, to be sure that the grade is right, a layer of six inches of broken stone should first be laid and pounded down hard. Ordinary trap-rock used for macadamizing roads is perhaps the best for this purpose, but any broken stone, ranging in sizes from a walnut to an egg, will answer the purpose. This should be covered with a three-inch layer of coarse gravel or fine broken stone, which should be thoroughly pounded and watered for several days before being covered. Before any surface is put on the court, the greatest care should be taken to see that the foundation is perfectly level. Any holes or depressions that appear from rolling and pounding should be filled in before it is covered.

Every well built court should be graded either from end to end or from side to side to an extent of not over two inches, which will suffice to drain off rain water. If artificial drainage is necessary to keep the court dry, drain pipes can be laid in the foundations of the court about three feet outside the side and end lines, care being taken whereby the pipes will tilt, following the grade of the court as far as possible, thus allowing the water to run off. The best drain pipes are six-inch stone sewer pipe, cut in halves, or stone gutters used on tiled roofs, which should be sunk in the ground immediately under the foundation of broken rock and filled with pebbles or fine cracked stone.

The covering for a gravel or sand court should be not less than three nor more than six inches in thickness, and of sandy loam and clay mixed. The proportions depend on the quality of the clay. If it is very binding and sticky, one part of sand to four of clay are preferable, but for the average ingredients they should be mixed about eight parts of clay to one part of sand. When the court is finished, if it is found to be too soft but dry, more clay should be added; while if it drains poorly and stays muddy too long after rain, or its surface is too sticky for the player's feet, more sand should be added on the surface. When a court is finally covered, it should be thoroughly watered and rolled alternately twice every day for two weeks before it is played on at all, and any depressions or uneven spots corrected as fast as they appear from the settling. After the first heavy rain storm it should be gone over and leveled most carefully, for then it is most likely to develop new faults.

The fine seashore sand will seldom be found satisfactory for the surface of a court, for it works loose too quickly under the players' feet, and can only be made to bind when mixed with a larger proportion of clay, which will make the drainage more difficult, as water percolates very slowly through clay. If the soil upon which a court is being built is very rich and worms promise to work through to the surface above and injure the court, it is well to lay a layer of fine cinders, those from a railroad engine preferred, between the foundation and the sandy surface layer. These cinders effectually prevent worms from coming through to the surface. It is also well to use coarse sifted ashes mixed with the stones in the drain-pipes.

The construction of a grass court is less difficult, but varies much more in process. If cost need not be considered, it should be built by an expert, and will be laid on deep-laid foundations; if it is desired to build an economical court on an available lawn which is fairly level, the cost will not be heavy. The sod should first be carefully removed in squares of about eighteen inches, from a space at least 50 by 100 feet, cutting down to a depth of about six inches. The ground should then be turned with a spade to a depth of eighteen inches or two feet, and after all stones have been removed, and the earth carefully raked over and leveled, it should be packed and rolled with a heavy roller. It cannot have too much leveling and rolling, and the rolling should be kept up for several days with plenty of soaking by rain or hose-pipe. Any inequalities which the heavy pressure of the roller produces should be filled in or cut down before the sods are relaid.

After the ground has been rolled sufficiently the sods should be replaced. In doing this it is important to get the edges close together, so that no seams or open cracks can be found. These sods should be relaid in the afternoon and well drenched with water. The next day the ground should be rolled again; and this should be followed by alternate drenching and rolling for several days. Even when the ground finally appears firm and level, the court should not be played upon until new blades of grass appear in considerable numbers. If depressions appear, the sod at that spot should be lifted, fresh earth inserted to the proper grade and the sod replaced, watered and rolled till level and flat again.

Bad spots are often found where the grass is thin or where malignant weeds obstruct its growth, and in this case fresh sods should be bought or cut elsewhere and substituted. Sometimes large patches of ground must be renewed in this way, but it will be found much less expensive if all the turf is bad to sow the new court down with lawn seeds, and seeds will often help out thin spots in the grass if the court is not to be used too soon after the sowing. It is better to make a grass court in the fall whether it is to be sown with seed or sodded. The winter storms will then settle it thoroughly, and after a little releveling in the spring it will be ready for use.

Grass seeds should be sown between the middle of March and the first of May, or better yet, in the autumn, between the middle of August and the first of October. It takes about 20 pecks of good lawn seed to cover a space 60 by 120 feet. The sowing should be gone over twice, the second time at right angles to the first. Clover seeds should be avoided, as this grass does not wear well, and guano should not be used for fertilizing, for it tends to bring up coarse blades in patches.

As soon as the young grass is high enough to be topped, a scythe or sickle should be used, being at first better than the mowing machine. After the new grass is well hardened, however, the latter should be constantly in use, never less than once a week, and in moist warm weather nearly every day. With every precaution weeds are sure to appear, but these can generally be held in check by constant mowing. The more formidable weeds, however, must be cut with a knife one by one about an inch below the surface, and care being taken to remove as much of the root as possible. A pinch of salt dropped on the cut root will generally stop the growth. When the turf becomes worn in spots a small shift in the lines of the court will relieve the pressure and enable the grass to grow again; at the end of the season all of the bare patches should be resown.

Once the court is finally built and ready for use, it must be properly marked out. In every case, unless it be of grass, and the lines are to be constantly shifted to prevent bare spots, net-posts should be permanently sunk in the ground. They should be not less than two feet under the ground nor less than forty feet apart.

A good dirt court should be swept, watered, rolled and freshly marked out after every eight or ten sets of play, and oftener in very dry weather. Instantly a depression is discovered it should be filled in and rolled down before playing is continued, for it is almost as dangerous for the players as the court to continue with it uneven. A court should never be rolled in the condition the players leave it after play. A player's heel raises a little lump; if the roller goes over this before it is swept down even again, a hard ridge results and the ball will bound unevenly from it. It should be swept over first, until all the lumps are leveled down, before the roller is allowed on its surface.

One of the best sweepers is made of a heavy joist of wood with a dozen thicknesses of old jute bagging or coarse cloth frayed out at the bottom edges, fastened to its bottom and trailing on behind it. This should be drawn over the court with a handle or rope several times. If it is pushed, the groundsman's feet will leave tracks after it; if he goes ahead the sweeper will erase them. Before the lines are marked out fresh, the old ones should always be swept off with a broom, but if the broom is constantly used along the lines in a parallel direction, it will gradually wear away little grooves in the court where the lines are and the balls will bound improperly from them. The sweeping should be done lightly across the court, at right angles with the lines.

A grass court cannot have too much care. It is advisable to wet it thoroughly several times a week and roll it as often. It should be watered at night, cut in the morning, and rolled after cutting and before watering. The best way to repair a bare strip of ground is to lay fresh turf, and this should be done in the fall or as early as possible in the spring. Good tough turf, laid in February or early in March, will be fit for use by the first of June. In the early spring grass roots both in new turf and old may be greatly benefited by a good dressing of manure well worked in, but regular manuring should also be done in the fall.

Worm casts are very bad for good tennis turf. Particularly in fertile ground or after a storm, the little mounds will appear on the sod, and if the roller passes over them or they are trodden down little hard lumps are formed which spoil the surface of the court. The turf should always be swept before rolling, and in rich soil every morning. This scatters the mounds effectually. Where it is necessary to get rid of the worms, lime water should be sprinkled on the ground. They will then come to the surface and can be swept away.

When a horse mowing machine is used it is well to have the horse's hoofs covered with soft pads to prevent their cutting into the turf and leaving prints that affect the bound of the ball. The groundsman at work on good lawn tennis courts, particularly when the turf is soft, and always on a sand court, should be required to wear rubber-soled shoes without heels.

Of the various other kinds of courts, namely, asphalt, concrete, cinder, etc., the asphalt is probably the better type.

The asphalt court is very hard and fast, giving the ball a much higher bound than any clay or gravel court. Hence it has placed an additional premium on swift serving, smashing and volleying. Aggressiveness—that quality which is absolutely essential for first string champions—has therefore become part and parcel of the game in California. Asphalt makes the attacking game imperative.

Although the asphalt court lacks many of the attractions of the best turf and clay courts (being so very hard), it has its advantages. If it is properly constructed, the cost of its upkeep is practically nil compared to others. Aside from freshening up the lines with paint once a year and sweeping it free from dust and litter occasionally, there is no expense of cash or effort necessary. Then, too, it can be dried with brooms and mops within an hour or less after the hardest rain. In Eastern climates snow could readily be shoveled and swept off, and the spring thaw would never feaze it. Furthermore, the asphaltum surface is perfectly true. No bad bounds, except on ancient and poorly built courts.

The Fay Improvement Company of San Francisco, the leading court builders on the Coast, have kindly supplied the following specifications for the benefit of those who wish to install asphalt courts:

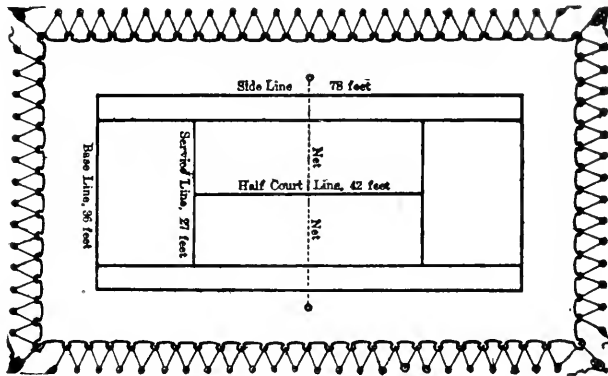

"The area of the court should be 60 x 120 feet. The ground should be graded so as to have a pitch of at least 9 inches in 120 feet without any crown whatsoever. The subgrade should be either rolled with a small steam roller weighing two and one-half tons, or with heavy hand rollers. Upon your subgrade place four inches of concrete, or if you can obtain good bedrock macadam, six inches of that will serve instead. Upon this, spread one inch of asphalt wearing surface, which should be made of the following proportions: Asphalt having a penetration of 70 to 90 degrees, 120 pounds; powdered limestone or cement, 150 pounds; fine sand, possessing not over three per cent loam or mica, 745 pounds. The foregoing quantities constitute nine cubic feet of finishing material, covering an area of one hundred feet square and one inch thick. Particular pains should be taken in ironing and hand rolling of the asphalt so that there will be no roughness after the final rolling. There should be two hand rollers used when the asphalt is spread, one weighing about 600 pounds, followed by a lighter one weighing close to 400 pounds. The rakers should work to a three-quarter inch surface board in spreading the material. Should the subgrade be all loam or material that opens up and cracks, it would be good to spread about two inches of sand before the concrete base or macadam is laid."

Concrete courts should be laid in blocks, and have a possible advantage over asphalt in a very hot climate, as they will not get soft and spongy. The building of a concrete court should in most cases be left to a first-class contractor.

Cinder courts are cheap and easy to construct, but have the disadvantage of being very dirty.

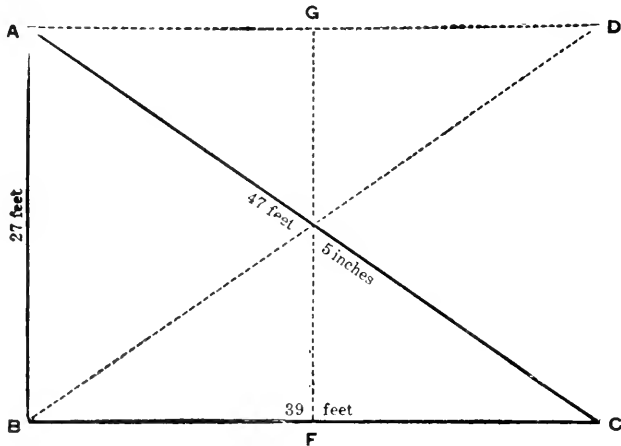

In regard to wood courts, which are becoming quite popular, the best plan to follow would be to consult an expert builder. Hemlock and Louisiana cypress are usually the two best kinds of wood to use. The life of a wood court is usually from five to ten years.

BOARD COURTS.

In regard to board courts, it is in the first place essential that they should be firm and yet springy and made as near the ground, if out of doors (which seems to be the popular method at the present time), as possible. The foundation of a wooden court should be of heavy beams, sufficiently so to prevent all bending or giving. The boards laid on same should be not less than $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch in thickness in order to obtain the best results, and if a wooden playing surface is desired, the boards should be laid $\frac{1}{8}$ inch apart, which will permit rapid drainage, and after having been laid, same should be painted green with white marking lines. The best playing surface is secured by having a flap of heavy canvas made by a sailmaker, which will be of sufficient size to not only cover the court, but also extend at least 10 feet outside the boundaries of same. This canvas should be stretched by method of rope passing through eyelets, with pulleys at each corner of the court, by means of which the rope can be constantly kept tight. After the canvas has been laid and properly stretched, it should be painted a grass green, upon which white marking lines $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch in width can be made. A canvas covering such as this is of some considerable expense, but with proper care, that is, painting same sufficiently often during the winter season and storing same carefully during the hot months, it should last for some years. Wooden courts for inside play, that is, covered courts, should be laid whenever possible on wooden beams, so as to get some slight spring, and not on iron or concrete, which will render them so dead as to make it exceedingly hard for the players' feet.

How to Lay Out a Tennis Court

As a double court practically includes every line to be found in a single court, it is best to take first the measure for the latter. Having determined the position of your net, plant in the ground, in the line chosen, two pegs, 27 feet apart (at the points A and B in the diagram). Then take two measures and attach their respective ends to the pegs A and B. On the first, which will measure the diagonal of the court, take a length of 47 feet 5 inches; on the other 39 feet; pull both taut in such directions that at these distances they meet in a point C. This will give one corner of the court. At that point F, 21 feet from B, put in a peg to mark the end of the service-line. The other corner, D, and the other end of the service-line G, may be found by interchanging the measures and repeating the process. The same measurements on the other side of the net will complete the exterior boundaries of the court. By prolonging the base-line 4 feet 6 inches in each direction, and joining the four new points thus obtained, we can make the side-lines of a double court. It only remains to mark the central line. This is done by joining the middle points of the service-lines. If a double court alone be required, the interior side-lines need not be prolonged to meet the base-lines. Remember that in all cases the net-posts must stand at a distance of three feet from the side-lines.

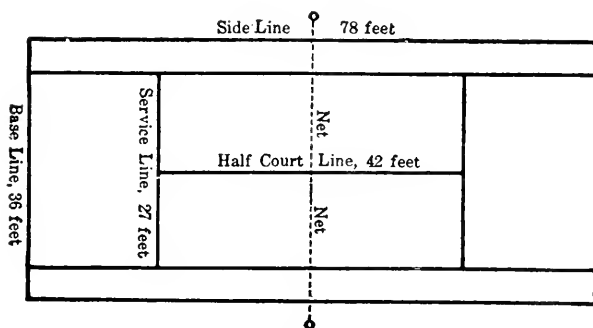

Diagram of Single and Double Court.

For a court where a single or double game can be played, the size is 78 feet in length by 36 in width, $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet inside the side lines, and parallel with them are drawn the service lines. See diagram above.

FOOT FAULT RULE.

Every effort to bring about the careful observance of this rule during the coming playing season will be used by the Executive Committee, who will welcome the co-operation of all club officers in connection with tournaments held under the sanction of the National body. If every club holding an authorized tournament will make a special effort to secure for their tournament a "Foot Fault Committee," and will have such committee carefully study and post themselves as to just what constitutes a foot fault and then rigidly enforce such rule, material good will be accomplished in connection with the legitimate interests of the game.

The Executive Committee especially requests that all clubs giving tournaments with the sanction of the U. S. N. L. T. A. include in their printed notices direct information that "THE FOOT FAULT RULE MUST BE OBSERVED," and copy such rule verbatim as a part of their tournament announcement.

What is New in Tennis

To the uninitiated this heading might be considered an anomaly owing to the fact that with the improvements of last season the Spalding line of tennis rackets and accessories for the court provided everything that the enthusiast could ask for and the broad choice and grade of prices placed the outfit within the reach of every purse. But, again this year, gathering our knowledge of the various desires of our lawn tennis customers from all parts of the United States, through our branch stores, we have filled in their wants, and, not only that, but have increased the efficiency, workmanship and durability of our standard line.

Confidence in oneself is the first essential of success, and in this era of "preparedness," the confidence of the player in his implement is an element that forms no unimportant part in his individual victory or vanquishment.

Although introduced last year after the full line of rackets for the season had been placed upon the market, the instantaneous recognition of its merits made the "Autograph"—the first of its kind—a real sensation. Players who had heretofore thought the limit had been reached in expert implements were loud in their praises of the new "Autograph." In every way it seemed to fulfill all requirements that could be possibly expected.

This year, however, we have gone further into the refinements of manufacture, and the "Original Autograph" racket will vary slightly from its predecessor, these variations being made to supply the demands from players whose methods of play necessitate such changes. Although, as before noted, the three types of the "Original Autograph" are only a slight digression from each other, the general style is identical, excepting that the frames of two of the models will be beveled, while the third will be entirely unbeveled.

Model AA will be the full heavy frame (unbeveled) for hard hitters. The player who desires a racket which will stand up and permit him to vent all his surplus energy in hitting the ball and not be afraid of a "débacle," as the French say, in justice to himself should own one.

The beveled frames, No. AB (with slight bevel) and No. AC (special shaped bevel), are equally as good as the No. AA, but "springier," if such an expression may be permitted. To the player who "follows through" his stroke with the "golfer's swing," the added jump given to the ball is plainly noticeable.

Three sizes of handles are made in the "Original Autograph" racket—5, 5¼ and 5⅝ inches. The stringing is of the highest grade of lamb's gut, and the work is done by the most expert stringers in the Spalding factory. The reinforcement of rawhide, both inside the "bow" and outside the "shoulders," running down into the all-cedar handle, just about doubles in strength the weakest point in the frame of a racket. The handsome finish and polish, aside from the mechanical part of the racket itself, will easily explain our enthusiasm for the "Original Autograph," which in beauty, workmanship and strength cannot be surpassed. The price on any of these models is the same, $10.00 each.

It is worth while to state here, while on the subject of rackets, that a racket requires just as much attention as any other article of which use is expected and accuracy required. While athletic implements in general are subjected to "cruel and unusual punishment," and manufacturers try to anticipate and allow for such usage, nevertheless an implement, the most important part of which is composed of delicate strands extremely susceptible to atmospheric conditions, should have at least reasonable treatment. A racket that is thrown on the grass, left out all night, played with during wet weather or at the seashore, without proper gut treatment, does not come within the guarantee, as any fair-minded person will realize. At the conclusion of play a racket should be rubbed dry and when not in use should be covered with a waterproof cover and placed in a press. The gut stringing should be occasionally gone over with Spalding Tennis Gut Preservative, and especially at the seashore this compound should be used on a racket.

While a recital of the fine points of the "Original Autograph" racket has probably led us farther in space than contemplated, still the old reliable "Gold Medal" line, which was the ne plus ultra of racket making for so long a period, cannot be forgotten. Among the models embraced in this $8.00 series, even the most exacting and critical player should be able to find a type that is satisfactory. And in the general improvement of manufacturing, these rackets have not been overlooked. Though the actual shapes have not been changed, they have been improved with rawhide strengthening and supports. Model B has been bound at the shoulders with light gut; Models GMII, GMI and GMS are reinforced with rawhide. Model F ("All Comers") and the old reliable OGM ("Hackett and Alexander") have been left unchanged, with the exception of the binding of the shoulders with light gut, in the case of the latter.

An innovation this season is the addition of two $6.00 models, the "Domino" and the "Eclat," which will be second only to the "Gold Medal" models.

Excellent rackets, ones that were championship class only a few years ago, are Models GX, DH and EII, which sell at $5.00, while the "Tournament," at $4.00; the "Slocum," at $3.50; the "Nassau" and the "Lakeside," at $3.00 each; "Oval," $2.50; "Greenwood," $2.00; "Geneva," $1.50, and "Favorite," $1.25, are all representative of Spalding quality at their respective prices.

Again the Spalding Championship Hard Court ball has been unanimously adopted by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association for the Clay Court Championships of 1916. Ever since the inauguration of this tournament, in 1910, the Spalding ball has been the one adopted. The majority of State championships also adopted it. With a fully equipped laboratory in the Spalding plant, in which each lot of materials that go to make the Spalding tennis ball is tested, in addition to constant experimentation, it is no wonder that the consistent quality of the ball has made it a special favorite in tournaments where uniformity of play is essential.

While the methods of manufacture and the selection of materials are the fundamentals of a perfect ball, nevertheless its resiliency and serviceableness are greatly enhanced when the shortest possible time elapses between manufacture and use. The thorough organization, working in unison, of the Spalding factory and selling outlets, presents a combination that makes for continual freshness in tennis balls, thus assuring the purchaser that he is not receiving balls that have been lying in stock for several months.

While the player devotes his efforts to attaining perfection of style, assisted by perfection of racket and ball, tournament committees are just as much concerned with the further details that are rightfully the duties of the club holding a tournament. The net, the court and the minor accessories, which, while not apparently of great consequence, go far toward removing confusion and making that smoothness of running which characterizes successful management.

Of all the "props" or accessories the net necessarily is the most important. For tennis clubs a new net, known as No. 10-O, has been added to the Spalding line for 1916. It is hand made, tarred, 48-thread, and has a galvanized wire cable. This net is made particularly heavy, so as to stand up under the wear and tear of continuous play. It costs $15.00. The standard "Championship" net, as used in the National Championships last season, namely, No. 9-0, is also hand made, tarred, 30-thread, and is highly recommended for club and private courts. It costs $12.00. Nets, grading down in price all the way to $1.25, are examples in their line of the standard of Spalding workmanship.

Practically "useless one without the other" is the case of tennis net and post, at least as far as tournament play is considered. The Spalding "Championship" Posts, No. A, as used in the National Championships last year, are examples of thorough construction, as befits their title. Uprights are of heavy 2-inch japanned steel tubing, are inserted two feet into the ground and are equipped with a wheel at top. The ratchet for tightening net has a particularly strong leverage. Triple-claw clutches, made of heavy wrought iron, hold posts firm, with no shifting or shaking, and the tighter the net is drawn the more rigid the posts become. The price is $20.00 a pair. The same style is also in use on the best concrete courts, especially in California. For this style of court the triple-claw device is omitted and the price is $15.00.

As in nets, the price of posts gradually descends until a pair can be bought for $1.50.

The other essentials and accessories for a well conducted tournament—umpire's chair, scoring tree, markers, tapes, etc., are all listed in the Spalding Spring and Summer catalogue, which will be sent free from any Spalding store (see list on inside front cover).

Backstops are a necessary adjunct of any court, but, strange to say, the place where they are most needed, in public parks catering to tennis players, will be often found sadly deficient in this most needful accessory. Players are often obliged to chase balls, which should be unnecessary, with consequent distraction to players on adjoining courts, and frequently loss of the ball through unscrupulous spectators.

Indoor tennis is now played in every available building, especially armories, in the large cities, where the floors must be kept in perfect condition. The No. 1D posts are made especially for indoor use and consist of posts set into heavy bases which are sufficiently weighty to hold them secure without fastening to floor. They cost $10.00 a pair.

In response to numerous inquiries for prices on tennis outfits for private and club courts, the following combinations selected from the Spalding catalogue will give an idea at a glance of what can be obtained:

WEARING APPAREL FOR THE TENNIS PLAYER.

For the tournament or club player white, as usual, is the correct color. Our No. 150 tennis shirt has become so well known among tennis players that it might be almost considered the standard. It costs $1.50. White flannel trousers, $5.00, and imported white socks, at $1.00 the pair, are in the same class. Higher grades of shirts and trousers, in flannel and duck, may be obtained in the men's specialty department of Spalding's Fifth Avenue store, New York, this department being a distinct shop devoted exclusively to men's sport wear.

The "Broncho" belt is particularly adapted to the tennis player. One pull, and it can be tightened or loosened at will, and yet it cannot slip. Prices from $1.50 to $3.50 each, according to quality of leather used.

Probably next to the racket a player's shoes are the most important part of his equipment, and necessarily so, for an ill-fitting pair is a handicap right from the start. A style that has found favor with many prominent players is the Spalding No. BBH, which is ideal for tournament play on turf courts, and fitted with officially approved blunt spikes in soles and heels. It is high cut, with finest quality kangaroo uppers, white oak heels and spring heels, and sells for $6.00 per pair.

For clay court use, No. AB is the most desirable style. It laces all the way down to the toe, being just high enough to give support to the ankle and yet not bind too tightly. High cut, drab calf, Blucher style, with heavy red rubber suction soles. No. AB costs $5.00 per pair.

A canvas shoe much favored by players who desire something stronger than the ordinary type of "sneaker" for clay courts is the Spalding No. HH, which is really a high "sneaker" with an extra heavy sole of best quality rubber. No. HH costs $2.25 per pair, and low cut, of same quality—when it is known as No. H—costs $2.00 per pair.

In this connection it is well to call attention to the fact that we also resole rubber soled shoes of our own make, the work being done in the Spalding shoe factory where the shoes are made. This is a convenience that is obvious, and one that other dealers are unable to offer.

Tennis players who contemplate being present—either as contestants or spectators—at the clay court championships on the Lakewood courts (Cleveland) in June, or the National Championships, to be held this year on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club, at Forest Hills, Long Island, in August, are invited to make use of the Spalding stores in both Cleveland and New York as their headquarters. A corps of specially selected stringers will be on hand and no effort will be spared to make Spalding service coequal with Spalding quality.

WOMEN'S TENNIS WEAR.

The prominence of women players in tennis and golf and in outdoor life in general has led to distinctive styles in sport apparel for women. Sport suits, sport hats and sport wear have become a most important part of the wardrobe of the present day woman. In our Fifth Avenue store we have a fully equipped department for women, in which may be obtained imported and domestic novelties that combine style and appropriateness for the purpose intended. Sport suits can be had ready-to-wear or made to measure by men tailors on the premises. separate skirts, shoes, hats, sweaters of many hues and textures, or great coats from Britain, most suitable for motoring on the chill raw days that sometimes punctuate the summer months. Those living out of New York will find very satisfactory service can be obtained by correspondence. Address A. G. Spalding & Bros., Women's Specialty Department, 520 Fifth Avenue, New York.

FOLLOWING IS IMPORTANT TO THE PURCHASER

It is not our purpose to restrict our very broad guarantee in an arbitrary or unfair manner, but as manufacturers we are compelled to draw the line against claims that are made where stringing has broken or frames have gone out of shape through abuse or careless handling. A racket that is thrown on the grass, left out all night, played with during wet weather or at the seashore, without proper gut treatment, does not come within any guarantee, as any fairminded person will realize. At the conclusion of play a racket should be rubbed dry, and when not in use it should be covered with a waterproof cover and placed in a press. The gut stringing of a racket should occasionally be gone over with Spalding Tennis Gut Preservative. Always use gut preservative on a racket you are playing with at the seashore.

No. 7 No. 4

- No. 7. The Oval. Oval shape with extra stringing in central portion; good quality gut. (Patented Jan. 3, 1905.) Each, $2.50
- No. 4. The Greenwood. Frame of white ash with combed Spanish cedar handle. Stringing of good quality gut. (Patented Jan. 3, 1905.) Each, $2.00

- No. 2. The Favorite. An excellent racket for the money. Frame of ash with combed cedar handle. Good quality gut. Each, $1.25

SPALDING · FIFTH AVENUE

BETWEEN FORTY-THIRD AND FORTY-FOURTH STREETS, NEW YORK

Standard Policy

A Standard Quality must be inseparably linked to a Standard Policy.

Without a definite and Standard Mercantile Policy, it is impossible for a Manufacturer to long maintain a Standard Quality.

To market his goods through the jobber, a manufacturer must provide a profit for the jobber as well as for the retail dealer. To meet these conditions of Dual Profits, the manufacturer is obliged to set a proportionately high list price on his goods to the consumer.

To enable the glib salesman, when booking his orders, to figure out attractive profits to both the jobber and retailer, these high list prices are absolutely essential; but their real purpose will have been served when the manufacturer has secured his order from the jobber, and the jobber has secured his order from the retailer.

However, these deceptive high list prices are not fair to the consumer, who does not, and, in reality, is not ever expected to pay these fancy list prices.

When the season opens for the sale of such goods, with their misleading but alluring high list prices, the retailer begins to realize his responsibilities, and grapples with the situation as best he can, by offering "special discounts," which vary with local trade conditions.

Under this system of merchandising, the profits to both the manufacturer and the jobber are assured; but as there is no stability maintained in the prices to the consumer, the keen competition amongst the local dealers invariably leads to a demoralized cutting of prices by which the profits of the retailer are practically eliminated.

This demoralization always reacts on the manufacturer. The jobber insists on lower, and still lower, prices. The manufacturer, in his turn, meets this demand for the lowering of prices by the only way open to him, viz.: the cheapening and degrading of the quality of his product.

The foregoing conditions became so intolerable that 17 years ago, in 1899, A. G. Spalding & Bros. determined to rectify this demoralization in the Athletic Goods Trade, and inaugurated what has since become known as "The Spalding Policy."

"The Spalding Policy" eliminates the jobber entirely, so far as Spalding Goods are concerned, and the retail dealer secures the supply of Spalding Athletic Goods direct from the manufacturer by which the retail dealer is assured a fair and legitimate profit on all Spalding Athletic Goods, and the consumer is assured a Standard Quality and is protected from imposition.

"The Spalding Policy" is decidedly for the interest and protection of the users of Athletic Goods, and acts in two ways:

First.—The user is assured of genuine Official Standard Athletic Goods.

Second.—As manufacturers, we can proceed with confidence in purchasing at the proper time, the very best raw materials required in the manufacture of our various goods, well ahead of their respective seasons, and this enables us to provide the necessary quantity and absolutely maintain the Spalding Standard of Quality.

All retail dealers handling Spalding Athletic Goods are requested to supply consumers at our regular printed catalogue prices—neither more nor less—the same prices that similar goods are sold for in our New York, Chicago and other stores.

All Spalding dealers, as well as users of Spalding Athletic Goods, are treated exactly alike, and no special rebates or discriminations are allowed to anyone.

This briefly, is "The Spalding Policy," which has already been in successful operation for the past 17 years, and will be indefinitely continued.

In other words, "The Spalding Policy" is a "square deal" for everybody.
